The rate of interest will be 5½ per cent. per annum for each loan, payable half-yearly on the 1st of January and the 1st of July.

(3) The debentures will be in the form prescribed by the Corporation with the sanction of the Local Government, under section 131 of Act IV of 1914

(4) Debentures will be issued only for multiples of Rs 100.

(5) Separate tenders for the whole or any part of the above two loans will be received by the Secretary to the Corporation, up to 12 noon (local time) on Saturday, the 13th September 1919.

(6) Each tender must be made out in the form relating to the particular loan annexed to this notification and enclosed in a sealed cover addressed to the Secretary to the Corporation, and superscribed—"Tender for Municipal Loans of 1919-20."

NOTIFICATION.

No. 1339L., dated Calcutta, the 8th September, 1919.—The following report of a Select Committee, which was presented to the Bengal Legislative Council on the 3rd September, 1919 (with the Bill as introduced in Council), is hereby published for information :—

THE CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN POLICE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1919.

Report of the Select Committee on the Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1919.

CALCUTTA ;
The 6th August, 1919.

* This member signed subject to his note of dissent appended.

Before signing the Report, the members of the Select Committee were furnished with copies of the letter from the Secretary, Indian Association, dated the 28th July, 1919, containing an opinion on the provisions of the Bill.

Note of dissent by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

I think that the Metropolitan Police Act and the County and Borough Police Act may be followed, but I do not find any provision in these Acts quite similar to the provisions proposed in the Bill. In India, the Police Act of 1861 contains the second provision suggested—see section 8, the third paragraph, and the Bombay City Police Act, 1902 contains both the provisions—see sections 8(3) and 12 of that Act.

As regards the first amendment, I do not wish to raise any objection, but desire only to suggest that any order which affects the public and not the force only should receive the sanction of Government.

As regards the second provision, I think it should be clearly provided that nothing should be done or ordered so as to restrict the free movement of the suspended officer to obtain redress from outside, or to place him at a disadvantage.

REPORT ON FAMINE IN THE DISTRICT OF BANKURA FOR THE WEEK ENDING 30TH AUGUST 1919.

THE rainfall during the week was general and sufficient. Transplantation has been completed. The prospects of the autumn and winter paddy crops are favourable. Distress is decreasing. Seventy-one relief works were open during the week. The number of persons relieved on works was 8,998. The number of persons in receipt of gratuitous relief was 15,752, viz., 10,604 on cash doles in 125 unions, 3,683 on paddy-husking advances, 885 weavers and 580 better class poor. The grand total of persons relieved was 24,750. The increase in the number of persons on relief works was due to the completion of field operations, and the decrease in the numbers in receipt of cash doles was due to better agricultural prospects. The number of persons relieved on private works was 655. The charitable societies also relieved 627 persons on weekly rice doles and 900 on daily rice doles and by cooked food. During the week three grain-looting cases were reported. Public health is generally good. The outbreak of malaria in certain localities is reported. Cloth is being distributed to destitutes. The relief measures are adequate. The price of common rice varies from 5 to 5¼ seers in the rupee. Burma rice is being sold.

The Report on Police Administration in the Bengal Presidency for the year 1917 and the Resolution of Government thereon.

MR. C. W. C. PLOWDEN, C.I.E., held the post of Inspector-General of Police throughout the year, except for a period of three weeks, when he was on privilege leave, and Mr. T. C. Simpson acted for him in addition to his own duties as Assistant Inspector-General.

2. The Military Police Battalion under Major Macpherson fully maintained its reputation for discipline and efficiency, in spite of many demands on its services for unaccustomed duties which interfered with its regular training. During the year sanction was received to the addition of a company to the battalion, and recruitment is now going on. Since the close of the year, the General Officer Commanding the Presidency Brigade has inspected the battalion, and remarked that the standard of drill and training is very satisfactory, considering that the battalion has, since the outbreak of the war, been without its full complement of military officers. It is hoped that this defect will soon be removed.

3. The superior cadre of the service was increased during the year by the addition of an appointment of Additional Superintendent for the Faridpur district. Four temporary appointments of deputy superintendents were also made permanent.

The strength of the subordinate police force was increased by about 200 men, mainly in connection with the establishment of new investigating centres. The special armed force was increased in Chittagong, Dacca and Jalpaiguri, and since the close of the year sanction has been given to an increase in the emergency force in Noakhali.

Service in the armed branch continues to be unpopular. The Inspector-General of Police thinks that before long the question of increasing the pay of the branch will have to be considered, as the extra rupee allowed to the armed police does not compensate the men for the loss of the easier conditions and cheaper living in the mufassal enjoyed by the unarmed branch.

4. The number of recruits enlisted during the year was 2,911, of whom 1,847 or 63 per cent. were Bengalis, a larger proportion than in any previous year. The improvement in local recruiting is very satisfactory, and would be more rapid but for the difficulty that a large proportion of the candidates for enlistment fail to come up to the required standard of height and chest measurement, though the latter has been reduced, in the case of Bengalis, to 30 inches. Steps are being taken to recruit men of the Bengali Regiment who desire to join the police. The difficulty of securing upcountry recruits is however increasing. The men who formerly enlisted now prefer employment in the mills and collieries, and though a special recruiting party was deputed to the United Provinces only 445 recruits were obtained. At the close of the year, there were over 500 vacancies among constables, 134 of which were in the district of the 24-Parganas, where, as also in Howrah and Hooghly, it is difficult to induce local men to enlist. The probationary sub-inspectors appointed during the year included 40 graduates, and a few direct appointments were made in the rank of head constables, mostly from among candidates who had failed to secure sub-inpectorships. Sanction was given to a scheme for the direct appointment of graduates in law to the post of court inspector up to a limit of 10 per cent. of the annual vacancies.

5. The figures under the various heads of casualties rose from 1,999 to 2,598. The number of resignations rose from 666 in 1917 to 1,215 in the year under review. The Inspector-General attributes this large increase to various causes, not the least important of which is the refusal of leave on account of the inadequacy of the leave reserve. An increase in the scale of the ordinary reserve of head constables and constables recently sanctioned by the Secretary of State will improve the position in this respect.

The year was particularly unhealthy on account of the wide outbreak of influenza all over the country. An increase in mortality was therefore inevitable, while admissions into hospital rose by 1,440. Improvement in the housing of the police in the mufassal is urgently called for, but progress in this respect has been much hampered during the war owing to lack of funds.

6. There was a further increase in the number of officers and men who were rewarded either in money or with good service marks, and the amount of money disbursed in this way exceeded that spent last year by more than Rs. 13,000. The proportion of officers and men judicially punished for all offences remained stationary at 1·3 per cent. of the force. Of the 450 criminal cases against the police which were disposed of during the year, only 57 ended in conviction. Five police officers were accused of torture, but it is satisfactory that none of these charges were proved, while, with the exception of two sub-inspectors convicted of extortion and one constable convicted of bribery, the majority of the cases in which convictions were obtained were petty offences committed by constables. Of 30 civil suits instituted against the police, 17 were dismissed and 13 were pending at the close of the year.

7. During the year, the river police fleet was strengthened by the addition of five steam launches, two floating thanas, one pansway boat, four ghasi and forty-one dinghi boats. Twelve more launches are still required to complete the number sanctioned. The river police patrols have been able to effect a marked decrease in river crime in several districts. A notorious river dacoit, who was arrested during the year, admitted that, owing to the effective patrolling of the larger rivers, he and his fellow criminals had shifted the scene of their operations to the khals and smaller rivers. As usual, a feature of the work of the river police was the rescue of boats and crews in stormy weather. Altogether the officers and men of the river police rescued 78 persons from drowning, in many cases at great personal risk.

8. A revised curriculum of training for probationary sub-inspectors was introduced at the Sardah Training College at the beginning of the year, the main object being to give more time for practical work. The institution has grown considerably since it was first established, and a proposal for the appointment of an Assistant Principal is now under the consideration of Government.

9. The reports on the working of the village police are on the whole satisfactory, and the Inspector-General has furnished interesting details of several plucky acts of chaukidars in arresting criminals. The dafadari system, inaugurated in the Mádaripur subdivision of the Faridpur district in 1914 as an experiment, has achieved a considerable measure of success. In Dacca, the panchayats continued to co-operate with the police in successful preventive work, but elsewhere, though on the whole the presidents of panchayats and the circle officers are willing to give the police every assistance, there is room for more regular and systematic co-operation between these three authorities. The instructions issued by the District Magistrate of Dacca have brought about a great improvement in this respect in the Dacca district, and similar action might well be taken elsewhere. In spite of the remarks made on this subject in previous years, there are still indications that, in some districts, insufficient liberality is shown in rewarding chaukidars for good work. The Inspector-General of Police suggests that this may be due to the fact that Superintendents of Police are not kept fully informed of the state of the reward fund and of the amount available for distribution, but this difficulty can easily be removed by arrangement between the District Magistrate and the Superintendent, and cannot be accepted as an excuse for unsatisfactory chaukidari administration.

10. The amount spent on the police during the year 1918-19 was Rs. 1,05,83,092, as against Rs. 99,22,652 in the previous year, the increase being due mainly to additions to the force. A sum of Rs. 18 lakhs was spent on police buildings. The whole of the special grant given by the Government of India for non-recurring expenditure in connection with the reorganization of the police in the area which now forms the Presidency of Bengal has been spent, and any further expenditure on police buildings will have to be met from provincial revenues. No final estimate of the total cost of putting the police buildings of the province on a satisfactory footing has been drawn up, but the estimated cost of the works, administratively approved for execution when funds are available amounts to over Rs. 80 lakhs.

11. There was a small decrease in the total volume of cognizable crime, and under most of the important heads, except robbery and dacoity. Including 12 unreported cases of the previous year and 82 hât-looting cases, the figure under dacoity rose from 437 in 1917 to 638, though burglaries decreased by 1,052 cases. The year was one of considerable economic stress, and this factor, together with the general unrest caused by the war, is largely responsible for the increase. While the restoration of peace, the conviction of some gangs and the vigorous preventive measures which have been taken will, it is hoped, effect an improvement, the restoration of normal conditions cannot be expected until the economic situation improves.

12. The results of the cases tried by the Courts compare favourably with those of other provinces in India and afford a satisfactory indication of the care with which cases are investigated. During the year 1,570 cases were found maliciously false by Magistrates, and prosecutions were undertaken in 448 cases, convictions being obtained in 163 cases. The results show an improvement over those of previous year and in some districts were particularly satisfactory. Elsewhere the matter requires closer attention at the hands both of trying Magistrates and of inspecting officers.

It is satisfactory to find that Magistrates are exercising greater discretion in sending petty cases to the police for enquiry, but in some districts there is still room for improvement in this respect. His Excellency in Council regrets to find further deterioration in the prompt disposal of cases by Magistrates. Attention was called to this matter last year, but little improvement can be expected until Magistrates realise that it is their duty to show greater firmness in refusing unnecessary adjournments.

13. There was a further decrease in revolutionary crime during the year, the number of dacoities being only three as compared with nine in 1917 and twenty-four in 1916. For the first time since 1907, no member of the public lost his life at the hands of the revolutionary party. The Governor in Council has, however, to deplore the loss of three brave police officers who were killed while attempting to arrest anarchists. A number of prominent revolutionaries were arrested and some significant seizures of arms and other implements of revolutionary crime were made. The party which seeks to attain its ends by violent crime is still alive, but the record of the year is a hopeful augury of the final success of the officers of the Intelligence Branch in their struggle with revolutionary conspiracy.

14. The Criminal Investigation Department was again largely occupied with measures for the repression of dacoity, and after protracted enquiry succeeded in bringing to justice many organised gangs in Bakarganj, Khulna, Midnapore, Hooghly, Howrah and other districts of the Presidency. Great credit is due to the officers of the Criminal Investigation Department for their successful prosecution of the Darjeeling gang case, which was instituted against a number of persons who, with the assistance of certain members of the Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway staff, had for some time been systematically stealing goods in transit. The department also secured the conviction of eight persons for instituting fraudulent civil suits. The training school which was opened at Howrah in 1917 for the purpose of training officers in modern methods of detection has continued to do useful work, and good reports are being received of the officers who have completed the course. Some changes are being made in the curriculum as a consequence of the experience gained. the main object being to make the course of study more practical.

Ten gangs were declared under the Criminal Tribes Act during the year. The total number of gangs of habitual criminals which have been brought under control by the application of the provisions of the Act is now 58, and the total number of persons registered under the Act is 4,116.

15. The record of the year's work may be regarded as satisfactory. The force continued to be hampered by the absence of many officers of the Imperial service on military duty, and though the causes of unrest persisted. the situation has always been well in hand. The discipline of the force has been good and there have been few charges of serious misconduct against officers above the rank of constable. His Excellency in Council has read with pleasure the list of officers of all ranks who have been commended by the Inspector-General. The special acknowledgments of Government are due to Mr. Plowden, who has recently retired after 35 years' service in the Bengal Police. During this period he has seen the introduction of many important improvements and reforms for which he himself has been in no small measure responsible, and the Department has lost in him an officer of wide experience and much ability.

ORDER.—Ordered that copies of the Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Police. the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, and all Commissioners of Divisions, for information.

Ordered also that the Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Governor in Council,

J. H. KERR,

Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE LICENCED WAREHOUSE AND FIRE BRIGADE ACT FOR THE YEAR ENDING 31st MARCH 1919.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 3412M.—The 2nd September 1919.—The following is published for general information under section 41 of the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act, 1893 (Bengal Act I of 1893).

S. W. GOODE,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. $\frac{\text{F. B. 49-19}}{1080}$, dated Calcutta, the 15th August 1919,

From—R. CLARKE, ESQ., C.I.E., Commissioner of Police, Calcutta,
To—The Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Municipal Dept.

IN accordance with section 41, sub-section (2) of the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act (I of 1893), I have the honour to submit herewith the report of the Chief Officer on the working of the Fire Brigade and Ambulance Department for the year ending the 31st March 1919.

No. $\frac{\text{F. B. 49-19}}{888}$, dated Calcutta, the 15th July 1919.

From—B. A. WESTBROOK, ESQ., Chief Officer. Fire Brigade, Calcutta,
To—The Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Municipal Department.
(Through R. Clarke, Esq., C.I.E., Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.)

I HAVE the honour to submit the following report on the working of the Calcutta Fire Brigade for the financial year ending 31st March 1919.

On my return from military service on the 2nd day of May 1918, I resumed charge of the Fire Brigade. During my absence station officer Jarrett efficiently carried out these duties.

2. Financial Statement.—The statement of the receipts and expenditure and payments made by the municipalities within the jurisdiction of the Fire Brigade Act, I of 1893, is given in Appendix I.

3. Fires, etc.—The total number of fires, or supposed fires, dealt with by the Fire Brigade during the year under review is 540, being an increase of 113 as compared with the previous year, and resulting in—

Fires	421 (331 in 1917-18).
False alarms	113 (88 in 1917-18).
Calls for special service	12 (8 in 1917-18).

It is unsatisfactory to note that no less than 83 of the above false alarms were assumed to have been given wilfully. In seven instances the offenders were arrested by the police, but I regret to say that the light sentences imposed have not had a deterrent effect. However, the Fire Alarm system has proved to be of benefit, and undoubtedly many serious fires have been averted owing to the rapid means by which the Brigade can now be communicated with.

3. Twenty-four fires occurred in premises licensed under the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act, I of 1893, as compared with 15 in the previous year. The nature of the trades requiring licences under this Act are enumerated in Appendix XVII—

On one	day	9	fires or supposed fires occurred	...	9
On one	day	8	ditto	ditto	... 8
On two	days	7	ditto	ditto	... 14
On one	day	6	ditto	ditto	... 6
On six	days	5	ditto	ditto	... 30
On twenty	days	4	ditto	ditto	... 80
On thirty-five	days	3	ditto	ditto	... 105
On eighty-four	days	2	ditto	ditto	... 168
On one hundred and twenty	days	1	ditto	ditto	... 120
				Total	... 540

Summaries are given in the Appendix showing—

The district in which fires or supposed fires occurred (Appendix III).
The number of fires on every day and month throughout the year (Appendix IV),
Daily and hourly summary of fires or supposed fires (Appendix V).

The actual number of calls received during the year is 825 (588 in 1917-18), which figure included several instances where more than one call was received for the same fire. The means by which these calls were transmitted to the Brigade are given in Appendix II.

4. Fire Loss.—The damage caused by fire and water during the year is Rs. 15,50,274 (Rs. 7,82,835 in 1917-18), being an increase of Rs. 5,76,605 over the average for the past eight years. The increase of fire loss is mainly due to several serious fires in the jute presses in the Chitpur area during the latter part of the year, but I am glad to be able to report that the average damage per fire during the current year is Rs. 2,771 as compared with Rs. 4,727 for the past eight years. In practically every instance of serious fires there was delay in calling the Fire Brigade.

Summaries are given in Appendix showing—

Damage caused by fire, etc., in various districts (Appendix VI).
Classification of fires and calls (Appendix VII).
Means by which fires were extinguished (Appendix VIII).
Causes of fires and buildings affected (Appendix XV).
Comparative statement for the past ten years (Appendix XVIII).

5. Fire Reports.—Short reports of fires (Rs. 1,000 damage and over), are given in Appendix IX.

6. Appliances.—Appendix X shows the present distribution of the principal appliances in use by the Brigade, and Appendix XI gives the number of times each appliance has been turned out in response to fire calls, with monthly figures.

It is estimated that motor appliances travelled 5,343½ miles and horse-drawn appliances 302 miles during the year in responding to and returning from calls.

Two more motor fire engines are now on order, but delivery has not been effected owing to war. It is, however, anticipated that these machines will be delivered shortly.

Throughout the year the appliances have been maintained in good working order by the Fire Brigade staff, notwithstanding the difficulties experienced in obtaining spare parts and shortage of material.

7. Fire Stations.—Appendix XII gives the number of times each station has been turned out in response to fire calls, together with monthly figures.

I regret to say that the headquarters of the Fire Brigade are still situated in the premises temporarily hired from the Samavaya Corporation, Limited. These premises are not satisfactory and involve a large rental. Various sites have been selected for the permanent Fire Brigade headquarters, but unfortunately these sites have been required for other purposes. However, a sum of Rs. 30,000 has been allocated to the cost of building for new headquarters, and it is hoped that suitable site will soon be found. At present it is anticipated that the site now occupied by the Corporation Gowkhana, District No. III (Lower Circular Road), will be utilised for this purpose.

In 1917 the District Fire Brigade station in Halliday Street for the protection of the Barabazar area had to be vacated owing to the Calcutta Improvement Trust requiring the land for road widening. Premises were temporarily hired at Entally for the men and machinery formerly at this Fire station. Unfortunately this temporary station is at a considerable distance from the area which it protects, but I am glad to say that a suitable site has been found in Halliday Street, and plans are now being prepared for the re-erection of a District Fire station adequate for the work which it will be called upon to do. In the forthcoming budget application has been made for a sum to cover the cost of the building, and I anticipate that building this District Fire station will be commenced at a very early date. The Barabazar area comprises exceptional fire risks, and owing to the very congested state of the streets with slow moving traffic, considerable time is lost in arriving at a fire in this area from the present stations.

Plans are prepared for accommodation of additional appliances and men at the District Fire station, Chitpur. It is hoped that this work will shortly be taken in hand as this District Fire station protects the industrial area of Chitpur and Cossipur, comprising numerous jute presses, etc. Undoubtedly when this station is more adequately equipped considerable saving can be effected in the serious fires which constantly occur in this area. From Appendix VI it will be seen that the majority of the fire loss has occurred in the Chitpur area.

The District Fire station at Howrah remains the same, and I regret to say that it is situated in an exceptionally unhealthy position. I trust that arrangements will be made for it to be re-built on a more central and healthy site.

Negotiations are now in progress with the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta to erect a District station at the Kidderpore Docks. This station will primarily protect the docks, but will also respond to the calls in the Kidderpore, Watgunge and Garden Reach areas, also to other districts when required. It is suggested that this station shall be equipped by men of the Calcutta Fire Brigade, which will obviate the necessity for the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta maintaining a fire staff of their own.

When this station is erected it is proposed to vacate the existing Fire Stations at Garden Reach and Watgunge.

For the protection of the districts of Sova Bazar, Darmahata, etc., it is hoped that arrangements will be made to provide a Fire station in this area which comprises very severe fire risks.

A Fire station in this area as proposed will be of great value as it will work in conjunction with the District Fire station at Chitpur and undoubtedly will considerably improve the efficiency of the work of the Fire Brigade, especially in the northern end of the town.

8. Staff.—The total strength of the Fire Brigade is 221, and notwithstanding the large increase of work the Fire Brigade is called upon to do, the number of the fire-fighting staff remains practically as it was seven years ago.

The general conduct and discipline has been good. A large number of changes have necessarily taken place owing to men proceeding on active service.

During the past few years the Brigade has been very short-handed, and the strain on the men at times has been considerable. It is now hoped that, on demobilisation, a suitable class of men will again be enlisted in the Fire Brigade.

Further it is hoped that as new Fire stations are erected the strength of the Fire Brigade will be adequately increased. The existing establishment is insufficient for the work, and makes little provision for leave and sickness.

A revised scale of pay is now before Government. Unfortunately the pay has not increased in ratio to the cost of living, and an enhancement of salaries will be much appreciated by all ranks. The present scale compares unfavourably with that offered by private concerns and accounts for a large number of changes of personnel in the Brigade

The following is the present scale of pay up to the rank of station officer :—

		Rs.
Station officers	... ...	250—15—325	per month.
Ditto	... ...	200—10—250	ditto.
Engineers	... ...	150—10—200	ditto.

(One engineer receiving a personal allowance of Rs. 50 per month for being in charge of workshops.)

					Rs.
Firemen	...	...	...		125—5—150	per month.
Tindals	...	...	...	(4)	35	per month.
Do	...	...	...	(5)	30	ditto.
Do	...	...	...	(6)	25	ditto.
Khalasies	...	...	...	(25)	20	ditto.
Do.	...	..	...	(100)	18	ditto.
Do.	...	...	...	(20)	16	ditto.

Under Government order No. 638 T.M., dated 27th August 1918, a storekeeper has been sanctioned and has been entertained from the 1st November 1918. The pay of the syces has been increased to Rs. 12 under Government order No. 2385 M., dated 23rd September 1918.

9. Fatalities and Accidents.—Short details of fires and calls involving loss of life and accidents are given in Appendix XIV.

I am glad to be able to report that the members of the Calcutta Fire Brigade have been remarkably free from serious accidents, especially when considering the dangerous nature of the work involved at fires in jute presses, warehouses, etc., where, owing to expansion of jute when wet and buildings of inferior construction, walls so rapidly collapse, often with very little warning.

The most serious accident to a member of the Fire Brigade occurred on March 9th at the Canal Jute Press, Chitpur, when engineer Tucker had the misfortune to fall through a hole in the roof. Engineer Tucker had been engaged in demolishing dangerous walls, and in stepping backwards on to the roof he fell down about 22 feet. He was fortunate in receiving injuries to his right arm only. The position of Engineer Tucker was for a time extremely dangerous as the walls surrounding him were almost on the point of falling. Engineer Tucker was quickly conveyed to a safe position and a very few minutes after this the walls collapsed.

The total number of fatalities during the year are 10 as compared with 7 in the previous year. Of these 6 are cases of suicide by burning.

First aid has been rendered in numerous cases by the Fire Brigade with the materials carried on the fire appliances.

10. Horses.—No change has been made in the horses. Sixteen are in commission, but on arrival of additional motor fire appliances it is hoped to cut down this number. But for the difficulty in obtaining motor fire appliances due to the war the motorisation of the Brigade would probably have been effected before this.

11. Water-supply.—For the purpose of reporting on the water-supply the area protected by the Fire Brigade must be divided into four districts, viz., the city of Calcutta, Chitpur, Howrah and Garden Reach and Maniktala.

The water for fire-extinguishing is supplied throughout the city of Calcutta by means of mains and hydrants on the unfiltered water system. In cases of necessity arrangements are made to give connection to a small number of the filtered water mains.

In several instances the water-supply in Calcutta has been found inadequate and hydrants have been found out of order. However, the Water department is making endeavours to improve the supply, but much remains to be done. Unfortunately in Calcutta the waste of unfiltered water is excessive, principally through hydrants being opened by unauthorised persons and taps left running. If stricter supervision could be exercised over these points improvement may be effected. In cases where it has been found that the mains are too small estimates have been put up to the Corporation for increasing the size of the mains, but owing to the shortage of pipes little progress has been possible in this direction.

Another difficulty in connection with the unfiltered water-supply is the large amount of shells, stones, etc., which have accumulated in the mains. When there is any extra flow, such as occurs at a fire, these foreign substances very frequently choke the hydrants in use, and consequently during the progress of a fire sometimes it is necessary to remove a fire engine to a fresh hydrant, which of course entails much delay.

So far as Chitpur is concerned a really dangerous state of affairs exists and the time is rapidly approaching when the Fire Brigade will be powerless to deal with fires in this district, as no mains are provided for fire extinguishing, and the ponds, which have up to the present been relied upon for providing water for fire extinguishing, are rapidly being filled up on sanitary grounds.

The Chitpur district comprises an exceedingly important industrial area, and it is hoped that early arrangements will be made to provide an adequate water-supply.

Now that hostilities have ceased and it is possible to provide a new pumping plant for the Mullick Ghat pumping station (Calcutta), the suggestion is made that the existing pumping machinery at Mulllick Ghat should be reinstated at the north end of Calcutta and mains laid throughout Chitpur area so that the benefit of this machinery can be extended to the industrial area in the Cossipur-Chitpur municipality. The supply of water will also be available for sanitation and road-watering.

The same remarks apply to Howrah. Undoubtedly serious fires in either of the above districts must result as a consequence of the utterly inadequate water-supply.

Owing to the lack of water in certain parts of Howrah the Fire Brigade is unable to cope with fires such as may occur and extreme difficulty will be experienced in preventing such fires from unduly spreading, especially as the existing fire-float belonging to the Port Commissioners cannot approach near to the shore owing to its deep draught. I understand, however, that a scheme for installing an unfiltered water-supply throughout Howrah is now under consideration.

Garden Reach and Maniktala, although not so congested as the above districts, have no system of water-supply and again in these areas tanks are continuously being filled up.

At present the floating fire-engine belonging to the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta is utilised at practically every fire within reasonable reach of the river and where mains are not provided.

In many cases in order to converge the necessary number of streams of water at fires as many as one to two hundred lengths of hose, each of 75 feet, have had to be used. It will be realised that tackling of fire under this condition takes an excessive amount of time and a large percentage of the efficiency of the streams of water is lost owing to friction of hose.

Owing to the districts which are so inadequately provided with water the pumping plant and hose of the Fire Brigade will have to be materially increased in the near future. In many instances it will be necessary to utilise fire-engines in relays to obtain the requisite water pressure at a fire, and as has been before pointed out, the conditions are becoming considerably worse as ponds are filled up.

The provision of fire mains, especially in industrial areas, requires urgent consideration.

The fire-float still remains under the control of the Port Commissioners, but it is used by the Fire Brigade on all occasions when required for extinguishing fires on, or near the banks of, the river. The question of transfer of the control of the fire-float to the Fire Brigade is now before Government, and it is hoped that this question will be settled shortly, as efficient co-operation in working is not obtained owing to dual authority and training and insufficient crew to man the fire appliances of the fire-float.

It is hoped that arrangements will be made to expedite the delivery of the fire-float now on order by the Port Commissioners as increasing reliance has to be placed on floating pumps to supply water for land fire-engines at fires in the vicinity of the river; in fact in many cases now it is practically the only means of water-supply.

For several years past it has been pointed out that the existing fire-float is inadequate. It is very old, slow steaming, deep draught, insufficient pumping capacity, and frequently out of repair.

I have to thank the officers of the Water Works department of the Calcutta Corporation for their endeavours to improve the water-supply and for their attention to the various complaints which have been made.

12. Street Fire Alarms, Telephones and Electrical communications.—Appendix II shows the means by which fire calls have been transmitted to the Fire Brigade.

Whilst it is satisfactory to note that many serious fires have been averted owing to the facilities installed for calling the Fire Brigade quickly, there have also been several cases where fire alarms have not been operated as quickly as they ought to have been, notably at the fire which occurred at the Theatre Royal, and various fires at Chitpur. However, the public no doubt are increasingly appreciating the Fire Alarm system, and the following figures show that considerable benefit has been derived therefrom.

In 224 cases calls were received by one or more fire alarms only, and in 57 cases calls were received first by fire alarms and followed by other means of calling the Fire Brigade.

In 182 cases calls were received by one or more public telephones only, and in 31 cases calls were received first by public telephone, and followed by other means of calling the Fire Brigade.

In 22 cases calls were received from firemen on "look-out" duty only, and in five cases calls were received first from firemen on "look-out" duty and followed by other means of calling the Fire Brigade.

In 17 cases calls were received by messengers only, and in two cases calls were received first by messengers and followed by other means of calling the Fire Brigade.

Street fire alarms were actually used to call the Fire Brigade on 315 occasions, either as the primary or subsequent means as above. This is about 59 per cent. of the total number of calls.

Arrangements are being made for all places of public amusement, etc., to be in direct telephonic communication with the Fire Brigade, and by this means it is hoped that in all cases of theatre-fires very early information will be received by the Fire Brigade.

My thanks are due to the Bengal Telephone Company for their efficiency in keeping the Fire Alarm system and telephones in good working order, and for their continuous interest in all matters appertaining to the Fire Brigade work.

Appendix XVI gives the position of street fire alarms in commission. There are now 125 in use.

13. Inspection Department, Theatres and places of public amusements.—Much work has been done in endeavouring to safeguard the public in places of public amusement, but I regret to state that owing to the inadequate penalty clause contained in the bye-laws, satisfactory progress has not resulted. However, this question is now before Government, and it is hoped to get the matter on a satisfactory basis before long.

In connection with the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act (I of 1893), during the year under review 3,935 inspections have been made (exclusive of theatres and places of public amusement).

Three hundred and sixty-four applications for licenses and complaints have been received and disposed of.

One hundred and twenty-seven prosecutions were instituted under section 14 of Act 1 of 1893, which resulted in 115 persons being fined, two persons being warned, four cases being withdrawn or filed, and six cases pending, the accused persons being absent.

Two licenses were refused as the sites were not considered suitable and in conformity with the requirements from the Fire Brigade point of view.

14. General.—The year under review has been an exceedingly busy one, and owing to the shortage of men a very large amount of additional work has fallen upon the senior members of the Brigade. Great credit is due to these officers as by carrying out such extra work the Fire Brigade has been enabled to spare a large percentage of men for service on the various fronts.

Now that hostilities have ceased it is hoped that the full complement of European officers and firemen will soon be obtained.

On the occasion of the riots which commenced on the 9th September 1918 the Fire Brigade was continuously on duty for a very large number of hours —no less than 17 calls being received and dealt with during the above period.

As will be seen from Appendix IX, giving short reports of the most serious fires, the month of March was notable for a large number of serious jute and other fires. It is very unsatisfactory to note that in many of these cases there was great delay in calling the Fire Brigade, often the first information of a fire being obtained by a fireman on "look-out" duty who saw volumes of smoke rising into the air. In the case of jute fires it is impossible to do efficient work unless the Fire Brigade is called immediately as fires of such material spread with exceptional rapidity. It is satisfactory, however, to note that in every case of jute fires the fires have been confined to the godowns in which they originated.

15. Jurisdiction.—The Calcutta Fire Brigade protects the municipalities of Calcutta, Cossipur-Chitpur, Howrah, Maniktala and Garden Reach, and may attend fires outside the boundaries of these municipalities (but not exceeding a radius of six miles from the Central Fire Station), provided that appliances can be spared and on payment of a prescribed fee. Appendix XIX gives the Government order relating to this and the form which should be signed prior to the Fire Brigade leaving the jurisdiction of the above municipalities.

The actual area protected by the Calcutta Fire Brigade is just over 113 square miles, and the population included in the same is about 1½ millions.

16 Map.—For economical purposes the map usually inserted in this report, showing the situation of fire stations, fire alarms, etc., and where fires have occurred is omitted. but it is hoped to resume this next year.

17. Ambulance Service.—The motor ambulance service continues to do an immense amount of valuable work, no less than 8,792 calls having been received during the year under review as compared with 3,643 calls in the previous year. The number of miles travelled by motor ambulances during the year is 43,039 as compared with 18,849½ during the previous year.

Since the inauguration of the ambulance service 14,804 calls have been received and the machines have travelled 75,489 miles.

On 5th September 1918 a Hupmobile motor ambulance was purchased and two drivers and four attendants employed. This machine deals exclusively with infectious cases and has already responded to 675 calls and travelled 4,247 miles. These figures are not included in the figures in the preceding paragraph, which refer only to accidents and cases of illness.

On the occasion of the riots on the 9th September 1918 the ambulance service was extremely busy and received no less than 176 calls during the period referred to. A considerable amount of work was also carried out on the occasion of the outbreak of cholera which took place on the occasion of the return of the pilgrims from the Saugor Mela.

Unfortunately the use of the motor is considerably abused. It was originally intended that motor ambulances should be available for all cases of accidents and serious illnesses necessitating urgent removal to hospital, but, owing to the fact that the ambulance is now so frequently called for petty cases of illness, not really necessitating the use of ambulance, it is anticipated that an order will have to be issued prohibiting ambulances responding to calls for cases of illness unless they are requisitioned by a medical man, nurse or responsible person.

Owing to somany unnecessary calls it has been found that frequently all the motor ambulances have been engaged on such work and have therefore not been available for urgent cases. such as accidents. etc. If it is required to continue, to respond to all calls for cases of illness as at present, the only alternative is to considerably increase the number of appliances and staff, the present machines being totally inadequate to cope with the work. There are now four motor ambulances in commission, one of which is now used for infectious cases only. and the staff comprises six drivers and 12 attendants.

The infectious ambulance has been much in demand and will shortly have to be augmented by another machine and crew, as, owing to the large number of calls for this machine, considerable delay often occurs in moving infectious cases of illness to hospital.

Appendix XXII gives the scale of charges for the use of the motor ambulances, and Appendix XXI gives the number of calls received every day and month throughout the year.

The Ambulance department is financially maintained by Government and the Corporation of Calcutta, the former paying one-third and the latter two-thirds of the cost of up-keep. Appendix XX gives a statement of receipts and expenditure incurred by the motor ambulance service.

N.B.—Some of the appendices referred to in the above report are not reprinted in the Gazette.

APPENDIX I.

Statement showing receipts and expenditure of the Fire Brigade for 1918-19.

The year opened with a balance of Rs. 96,516-8-1 and the receipts amounted to Rs. 2,59,620-12-6 and the total expenditure to Rs. 2,68,837-10-5, leaving a balance of Rs. 87,299-10-2 at the close of the year.

RECEIPTS.

The receipts show an increase of Rs. 2,813-12-6 over the estimate. The credits on account of hire of engines, etc., in connection with calls outside the Brigade jurisdiction amounted to Rs. 2,648-12. The fees under the Petroleum Act and Fireworks show an increase of Rs. 825 and Rs. 30, respectively, over the estimate.

EXPENDITURE.

Under head "Establishment" there was a decrease of Rs. 3,382-7-4 due to the non-debits of the Chief Officer's pay for nearly two months owing to his being on deputation to Mesopotamia and to the leaves and vacancies in the grades of the European firemen and khalasis.

The total expenditure under head "Contingencies" amounted to Rs. 1,54,127-13-6 against a budget grant of Rs. 2,25,987, showing a decrease of Rs. 71,859-2-6. The savings include Rs. 41,738 provided in the budget for the purchase of (i) a combined appliance including fire escape, first-aid cylinders and pumps, (ii) a motor fire-engine with Rees' Rotarbo pump and Rs. 30,000 for the construction of the headquarters station which remained unexpended at the close of the year.

Under head "Other charges" there was an increase of Rs. 272-4-3 due to the increased expenditure on water pressure.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS.

For the week ending on the 4th September 1919.

Summary.— During the week light to moderate rain was general throughout the province. More rain is urgently wanted, especially in some of the northern and eastern districts, for transplanting of winter paddy and steeping and washing of jute. The harvesting of jute is progressing slowly for want of sufficient water for steeping, but that of autumn paddy is going on as usual. The weeding of winter paddy continues. The condition and prospects of standing crops are generally satisfactory. Damage to jute by insects continues to be reported from 24-Parganas and Nadia. The average price of common rice for the province has risen by about 1·24 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week. The daily average number of persons engaged in test works in the Brahmanbaria subdivision, during the week was 32.

COMMUNIQUÉ.

The 9th September 1919.

THE question of revising the Indian Electricity Act, 1910, is at present under the consideration of the Government of India, and the several modifications which have been suggested are detailed in the statement following. Opinions in regard to these modifications and suggestions for any further additions or alterations to the Act that may be considered necessary or advisable, are invited. Opinions and suggestions should be forwarded to the Electrical Adviser and Electric Inspector to the Government of Bengal, 1, Haris Mukherji's Road, Bhowanipur, so as to reach him by the 1st October 1919.

[Amendments to the Indian Electricity Act, 1910 (IX of 1910), proposed by the Government of India.]

Number of section in the Indian Electricity Act, 1910, which it is proposed to modify	Proposed modifications	Objects and reasons for modifications.
Section 2 (l) ...	To insert the word "single" before the word "consumer."	There is often uncertainty as to what exactly constitutes a "service line." If a given electric supply line serves more than one consumer, whether in one block of buildings or more than one, it is questionable, under the definition as it stands at present, whether such a line is a service line or a distributing main. Clause VII of the Schedule, however, lays down that a line erected at the request of two or more persons is a distributing main, and it is considered advisable to bring the definition into line with the Schedule and to make it clear that a service line connotes a line which serves one consumer only.
Section 3, sub-section (3), clause (a), sub-clause (ii).	To substitute the words "Director-General of Military Works" for the words "General Officer Commanding the Division"	This alteration has been incorporated at the request of the military authorities.
Section 3, sub-section (5).	To delete this sub-section	This omission is suggested with the object of delegating to local Governments full powers to grant licences without the intervention of the Government of India, and is in accordance with the spirit of the recommendations contained in paragraph 212 of the Report on Indian Constitutional Reforms.
Section 10 ...	To omit the words "with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council".	Ditto ditto.
Section 17, sub-section (1).	To omit the words "service lines immediately attached or intended to be immediately attached to a distributing main or."	It is considered undesirable to exclude service lines from the operation of this sub-section, as such lines are liable to affect telegraph lines to the same extent as any other electric supply lines
Section 17, sub-section (2).	To delete this sub-section	This omission is consequential on the omission proposed in section 17, sub-section (1).

Number of section in the Indian Electricity Act, 1910, which it is proposed to modify.	Proposed modifications.	Objects and reasons for modifications
Section 18, sub-section (3).	To insert after the word "energy" the words "or interferes with any structure in connection therewith or with proper access to such structure."	These additions are intended to allow of the clearance of trees which interfere or are likely to interfere with any structure in connection with an "aerial line" or with proper access to such a structure, and to give the Magistrate or the Commissioner of Police the benefit of professional advice as to whether the removal of the trees is essential.
	After the word "licensee" to insert the words "supported by a certificate in writing of the Electric Inspector that the tree falls within the meaning of this section."
		The Government of India will consider the advisability of defining further the term "tree" on receipt of the opinions of local Governments.
Section 20 ...	To add the following sub-section :—"(3) Where a consumer refuses to allow the licensee or any person authorised as aforesaid to enter his premises in accordance with, and to perform the acts specified by, sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), or fails to give facilities for such entry or performance, the licensee may forthwith cut off the supply to the consumer for so long as such refusal or failure continues, but no longer."	At present it is possible for a consumer to evade payment for supply of current by refusing entry to his premises to the licensee, or to persons duly authorised by the licensee, thus preventing his meter from being read It is considered desirable that the licensee should have power to cut off the supply of current to the consumer in such a case.
Section 21 ...	To add the following as sub-section (2) :— "Subject to the provisions of sub-section (1) a licensee may, with the previous sanction of the local Government, make conditions not inconsistent with this Act, or with his licence or any rules made under this Act, to regulate his relations with persons who are for the time being or who intend to become consumers ; and with the like sanction the licensee may add to, alter or amend any such conditions : and any conditions made by a licensee without such sanction shall be null and void :	The object of this addition is to prohibit the enforcement of unauthorised conditions of supply for which there is no legal sanction, while permitting licensees to issue by-laws with the previous approval of the local Government.
	Provided that any such conditions made before the day of 19 , shall, if sanctioned by the local Government on application made by the licensee before such date as the local Government may by general or special order fix in this behalf, be deemed to have been made in accordance with the provisions of this sub-section."	The date to be entered in the proviso will be approximately the date on which licensees may be deemed to have had notice of the amendment here proposed.
	To re-number existing sub-section "(2)" as sub section "(3)."
Section 23 ...	To introduce as sub-section (3) to this section, sub-clauses (a), (b) and (c) of clause X of the Schedule to the Act as below :—	Under section 3 (3) (f) a local Government is authorised to add to vary or except the provisions contained in the Schedule to the Act in applying them to particular licensees, and consequently a licensee may be refused power to charge consumers on the systems indicated in clause X, sub-clauses (a), (b) and (c) of the Schedule. The Government of India consider that licensees should have legal authority to adopt any of the systems indicated in the Schedule and that they should be authorised further to take into account "load factor" when determining their systems of charges. The term "load factor" is well understood in its technical sense and is universally used, but the Government of India will consider the advisability of defining it on receipt of the opinions of local Governments.
	(3) In the absence of an agreement to the contrary, a licensee may charge for energy supplied by him to any consumer—
	(a) by the actual amount of energy so supplied ; or,
	(b) by the electrical quantity contained in the supply ; or,
	(c) by such other method as may be approved by the local Government.
	Also to add a new sub-section "(4" as below :—
	(4) Notwithstanding anything in sub-section (3) the charges made by a licensee may be based upon, and vary in accordance with, the consumer's load factor or his total consumption of energy, or the hours at which the supply of energy is required."

Number of section in the Indian Electricity Act, 1910, which it is proposed to modify.	Proposed modifications.	Objects and reasons for modifications.
Section 24 ...	To omit the words "in respect of the supply of energy to him." In the proviso, to add after the words "given by the licensee" the words "and where the consumer has deposited with the Electric Inspector the amount of the licensee's charges or other sums in dispute and continues so to deposit the amount of the licensee's subsequent charges for energy"	With regard to the proposed omission it was recently held in a law suit that the words in section 24 "or any other sum due from him to a licensee in respect of the supply of energy to him" were merely a paraphrase of the words "any charge for energy" preceding the above quoted words, and that they were therefore redundant. There are various charges connected with the supply of current which are due from a consumer to the licensee other than those for the actual current consumed It is considered that the proposed omission will make the original intention of section 24 of the Act clear. The addition is proposed, as at present consumers of a certain class will go to any length to avoid paying their dues, and by appealing to the Electric Inspector they obtain an extra period of grace, by the end of which their liabilities may be considerable. Commercial opinion considers that the sum in dispute and any further amounts as they accrue should be deposited as a guarantee of good faith. The Government of India agree with this view and consequently propose the addition to the proviso.
Section 26, sub-section (6).	To omit the words "on the basis of the previous supply" and to add the following proviso at the end of this sub-section :— "Provided that, before either the licensee or the consumer applies to the Electric Inspector under this sub-section, he shall inform the other party of his intention so to do."	The omission is proposed as cases arise (as for example, where premises are occupied or fitted for electricity for the first time) in which there has been no previous supply, and it is considered that in such cases the Electric Inspector should be left free to settle the matter on the basis of the best data available. The addition is necessary since it has been held that a consumer may, without informing the licensee, refer the question of the accuracy of a meter to the Electric Inspector for decision. Licensees object to this procedure as they are not given an opportunity of rectifying the defect, and the proposed addition hence appears reasonable.
Section 28 ...	To delete the first proviso and the word "also" in the second proviso.	It is proposed to omit the first proviso under this section, as neither the expense nor the delay involved in obtaining a licence would ever, in actual fact, justify action under it and it is considered undesirable to fetter the discretion of local Governments in the matter.
Section 30, sub-section (1).	To add the following after sub-clause (iii)— "(iv) which the local Government declares, by general or special order, to come under the provisions of this section."	This addition is proposed with the object of bringing within the scope of this section certain industrial concerns such as tea, coffee and indigo estates that are not "factories" within the meaning of the Indian Factories Act, 1881, but in which electrical installations are in operation.
Section 32, sub-section (2).	To substitute "local Government" for "Governor General in Council" and "it" for "he."	This change is proposed in accordance with the spirit of the recommendations contained in paragraph 212 of the Report on Indian Constitutional Reforms.

Number of section in the Indian Electricity Act, 1910, which it is proposed to modify.	Proposed modifications.	Objects and reasons for modifications.
Section 33, sub-section (1).	To substitute the words "give notice to such authorities in such form and within such time as the local Government may by general or special order direct" for the words "within twenty-four hours of the occurrence, send to the Electric Inspector, and also to the District Magistrate, or in a Presidency town or Rangoon, to the Commissioner of Police, notice in writing."	Under this sub-section accidents involving loss of life or personal injury have to be reported both to the Electric Inspector and to the District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police. In the case of Mines where electrical energy is used, accidents have, under the Mines Rules, to be reported to the Chief Inspector of Mines and to the District Magistrate. The Chief Inspector of Mines being also an Electric Inspector may thus be served with two sets of notices, under the two Acts, the provisions of which are not identical: and likewise a Magistrate in a mining district where the Chief Inspector of Mines has jurisdiction may be served with two sets of notices of the same accident. This duplication is unnecessary and may sometimes result in confusion. In the case of accidents in mines where electricity is used the question also arises whether the Chief Inspector of Mines or the Electric Inspector under the local Government is the authority to whom the report should be made. It is, therefore, considered that the authority to whom accidents should be reported and the manner in which such reports should be made, should be regulated by general or special directions of the local Government.
Section 34, sub-section (1).	To substitute the words "local Government" for the words "Governor General in Council."	This change is proposed in accordance with the spirit of the recommendations contained in paragraph 212 of the Report on Indian Constitutional Reforms.
Section 35, sub-section (3).	To delete this sub-section	This omission is consequential on the addition it is proposed to make to existing sub-section (4), clause (a).
Section 35, sub-section (4).	To renumber this sub-section as sub-section "(3)."	Consequent on the omission indicated above.
Section 35, sub-section (4) renumbered as sub-section (3), clause (a).	Before the word "define" to insert the words "determine the number of members of any such Board and the manner in which they shall be appointed, and"	This addition is proposed with the object of enabling commercial and other interests to be more strongly represented on the Board when necessary, the local Government being given full discretion as to its constitution.
Section 36, sub-section (3).	To add at the end of this sub-section the words "or, if the Governor-General in Council or the local Government shall so direct, to an Advisory Board."	This addition is proposed as it has been held that an appeal to the local Government against the decision of its Electric Inspector is, in practice, ineffective, as the Electric Inspector is, as a rule the adviser of the local Government in the matter. It is considered that, in important cases, local Governments will be well advised to refer the matters in dispute to an Advisory Board.
Section 37 ...	After clause (k) of sub-section (2) to add the following clause— "(l) provide for any matter which by this Act is to be prescribed."	This is consequential on other amendments proposed.

Number of section of the Indian Electricity Act, 1910, which it is proposed to modify.	Proposed modifications.	Objects and reasons for modifications.
Section 39 ...	For the words "and the existence of artificial means for such abstraction shall be primâ facie evidence of such dishonest abstraction" to substitute the words "and the owner of any premises for the benefit of which the existence of artificial means of abstraction is proved shall be presumed, until the contrary is proved, to be guilty of dishonest abstraction"	These changes aim at throwing all responsibility for theft of energy and cognate offences on to the "consumer" as defined in section 2(c). At present it is necessary, but generally impossible, to prove the actual culprit who made the illegal connection : he is usually only the agent of the offending consumer, who alone benefits by getting his bills fraudulently reduced.
Section 44, sub-section (d)	(1) After the word "punishable" to insert the words "with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months or." (2) To substitute the words "one thousand" for the words "three hundred." (3) To insert the words "or with both" after the word "rupees" where it occurs for the first time. (4) To substitute the words "one hundred" for the word "thirty." (5) For the words "be primâ facie evidence" to substitute the words "raise a presumption."	These modifications are proposed, as the present penalties are considered inadequate. The Government of India understand that a fine of Rs. 300, the maximum that can be imposed by this section, is insufficient, as thefts of energy to a much larger monetary value occur Whereas it would frequently pay consumers to be mulcted to the full extent of Rs. 300, imprisonment and the heavy fines proposed would, it is thought, act as real deterrents.
Section 51 ...	To substitute the words "local Government" for the words "Governor General in Council" in two places.	See objects and reasons against section 32 (2).
Section 53, sub-section (1), clause (a).	For the words "the Public Works Department" substitute the words "any such department as may be prescribed by the Governor General in Council or the local Government."	This alteration is proposed as it is anticipated that the administration of the Indian Electricity Act, 1910, will, in course of time, be transferred from the control of the Public Works Department.
Section 55 ..	After the figure "18" to add the words "or Section 34, sub-section (2)."	This proposal is to enable local Governments to delegate to Electric Inspectors their powers under section 34(2) in regard to the issue of orders calling on users of electricity to remedy dangerous arrangements or defective lines. These being purely technical matters, local Governments will probably be ready to leave the decision in the hands of their technical advisers.
	THE SCHEDULE.
Clause VI, sub-clause (1).	To substitute the words "the area of supply" for the words "one hundred yards from any distributing main."	This alteration is suggested as it is considered that a consumer should be able to obtain a supply of current even, though his property may be situated beyond the limit of 100 yards prescribed by this sub-clause, but within the area of supply of the licensee, provided the consumer is willing to pay for such portion of the service line as lies beyond 100 feet from the licensee's distributing main and for that portion which lies within the consumer's property. vide sub-clause (b) of the 1st proviso of this sub-clause.
Clause VI, sub-clause (2).	In line 3 after the words "paid for by" to add the words "and have consequently become the property of"	In sub clause (2) it is not laid down that the consumer has any right in the service line for which he has paid, and when he leaves his premises he cannot always obtain a refund of the depreciated value from the incoming consumer or the licensee. The proposed addition recognises the right of a consumer who has paid for his service line.

Number of section the Indian Electricity Act, 1910, which it is proposed to modify.	Proposed modifications.	Objects and reasons for modifications.
Clause VII, sub-clause (1).	(1) To amend the marginal note by adding the word "further" before "Provision" substituting "service lines" for "electric supply lines" and deleting the last three words. (2) To delete the first sentence down to and including the words "receive such supply."	This clause at present regulates procedure for cases not falling within clause VI, but by the amendment of clause VI (1) all applications within the "area of supply" will be dealt with under that clause. In consequence of that amendment, the only part of clause VII, sub-clause (1), which will be effective is that beginning with he words "the licensee."
	(3) For the words "in any such street any electric supply line" to substitute the words "any service line in any street in which distributing mains have not already been laid down or placed." (4) To substitute "service line" for "electric supply line" wherever the latter occurs in this clause.	Consequential on the proposed amendment of section 2 (1).
Clause VII, sub-clause (2).	To delete this sub-clause	Consequential on modifications proposed in sub-clause (1) of clause VII.
Clause VIII, sub-clause (1).	To substitute the words "area of supply" for "distance of one hundred yards from any distributing main."	This amendment is proposed for the objects and reasons noted against the proposed amendment of clause VI (1).
Clause X ...	(1) To transfer to section 23 of the Act the first portion of this clause ending with "Local Government." (2) To make the first proviso into sub-clause (1) omitting the words "provided, first that" and the word "so"; and after the words "local Government" where they occur in the first proviso to add the words "in accordance with section 23, sub-section (3) of the Indian Electricity Act, 1919." (3) To make the second and third provisos sub-clauses (2) and (3) omitting the words "provided, secondly, that" and "provided, thirdly that."	These modifications are consequential on the proposed amendment of section 23 of the Act.
Clause XI ...	(1) To add the words "and minimum" between the words "Maximum" and "charges" in the marginal note. (2) To re-number clause XI as sub-clause (1) of clause XI, and in the first proviso to substitute the words "if an Advisory Board, after enquiring into all he circumstances of the case, so recommends" for the words "after such inquiry (if any) as it thinks fit."	Objection has been taken to the existing clause in that local Governments have powers under section 7 of the Act to purchase an undertaking, and it has been strongly represented by the Electrical Industry that the power conferred by the first proviso of this clause and that conferred by section 7 should not be exercised by the same authority. It is considered that a compulsory reference to an Advisory Board will meet this objection.
	(3) To introduce a new sub-clause (2) as below :— "A licensee may charge a consumer a minimum charge for energy of such amount and determined in such manner as may be fixed by his licence; and such minimum charge shall be payable notwithstanding that no energy has been used by the consumer during the period for which such minimum charge is made.	This sub-clause is introduced to remove doubt as to whether a minimum charge is leviable in cases where no energy has been used. The law at present provides for maximum charges only. Most licences also contain provision for minimum charges. In some provinces it is held that a minimum charge is leviable only where some energy, however little, has been used within the period covered. Generally, however, the established custom is followed, that if no energy is used the minimum charge can nevertheless be made.
Clause XVI, sub-clauses (2) and (3).	(1) In sub-clause (2) to substitute the words "approved by the local Government" for the words "which shall not be smaller than sixteen inches to the mile." (2) In sub-clause (3) to delete the words "which shall not be smaller than sixteen inches to the mile" and for the words "which shall not be smaller than one inch to eight feet" to substitute the words "approved by the local Government."	The scales laid down in sub-clauses (2) and (3) are impossible for any but small undertakings and are seldom used in practice. It is suggested that it should be left to the local Government to fix the scale.

TRADE WITH GERMANY AND GERMAN-AUSTRIA.

In view of the raising of the blockade, the Board of Trade have issued General Licence under the Trading with the Enemy legislation authorising, with certain reservations, the resumption of trade with Germany and German-Austria.

The Licences do not remove the existing restrictions upon the payment of debts and the return of property due or deliverable to persons in Germany and German-Austria in respect of pre-war transactions. Moreover, any permission which may be necessary in respect of any transactions under Defence of the Realm Regulation 41D must be obtained from the Treasury.

The Licences do not permit the importation from Germany or German-Austria of any goods included in the prohibition of Import Proclamations and not covered by a General Licence issued under those Proclamations. Information with regard to imports into the United Kingdom can be obtained from the Import Restrictions Department, 22, Carlisle Place, S.W. 1. Further, Export Licences must be obtained from the Export Licence Department, 1, Queen Anne's Gate, Westminster, S.W. 1, before goods included in Lists A and B of prohibited exports are shipped to those countries, but no licences are required in respect of goods included in List C.

The text of these General Licences, under date July 12th, is as follows:—

The Board of Trade, on behalf of His Majesty, and in pursuance of the powers reserved in the Trading with the Enemy Proclamations and all other powers thereunto them enabling, do hereby give and grant licence to all persons and bodies of persons resident, carrying on business, or being in the United Kingdom, to trade and have commercial and financial transactions with persons or bodies of persons resident or carrying on business in { German-Austria / German } :

Provided always that any licence which may be necessary in respect of any transaction under any prohibition of export or prohibition of import for the time being in force in the United Kingdom or in respect of any remittance of money out of the United Kingdom covered by Regulation 41D of the Defence of the Realm Regulations is first obtained ;

Provided also that this licence shall not permit any person or body of persons to pay to or for the benefit of any person or body of persons resident or carrying on business in { German-Austria / Germany } any sum of money which by the terms of the Trading with the Enemy Amendment Acts, 1914 and 1915, or either of them, is required to be paid to the Custodian appointed under the Trading with the Enemy Amendment Act, 1914, but such sums of money must be paid to the said Custodian ;

Provided further that this licence shall not permit any person or body of persons to pay or deliver any sum of money or property which is, or but for the war, would have been due or deliverable to any person or body of persons resident or carrying on business in { German-Austria / Germany } in respect of a transaction entered into before the outbreak of war.

URGENT ORDERS.

The Board of Trade, Export License Department, announces that, in collaboration with the Department of Overseas Trade, an arrangement has been made whereby firms receiving orders which require immediate acceptance may telegraph details of any such order to the Department of Overseas Trade in order to ascertain whether a licence will be granted for the export of the goods if the order is accepted.

In the event of an applicant being promised a licence he will be enabled to deal with the order straightway with the knowledge that upon application being made in the proper form to the Export Licence Department the licence will be granted.

The telegram should be addressed to "Orders, c/o Advantage, Stock, London." They should give in each case in addition to the name and postal or telegraphic address of the applicant the quantity and description of the goods comprised in the order and the name and address of the ultimate consignee if the goods are destined for a neutral country. In the case of orders from Allied or British Territory or from Territory in the occupation of troops of the Associated Governments, the consignee need not be stated; and it will be sufficient merely to give the country of destination. A reply of 24 words (1/3) must be prepaid.

Applicants are requested in their own interests to confine their enquiries to orders needing a very urgent decision, since the fewer the enquiries the more promptly can answers be given.

Any subsequent correspondence that is necessary in connection with the telegraphic enquiries should be addressed to the Comptroller General, Department of Overseas Trade (Export Facilities Section), 4, Queen Anne's Gate Buildings, Westminster, S.W. 1.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

ESTABLISHMENTS.

Press Communique.

The press communiqué, dated the 11th June 1919, explained the scope of the Indian Civil Service (Temporary Provisions) Act, 1915, and the general position as regards recruitment for the Indian Civil Service of candidates, whether Europeans or Indians, who have served in His Majesty's Navy, Army or Air Forces. The Government of India have now obtained the approval of the Secretary of State to the nomination to the service during 1919 of 32 candidates who are natives of India and Burma. In the case of these candidates service in His Majesty's Forces is not an indispensable qualification. The rules governing their appointment are reproduced below :—

Rules for the appointment during 1919 to the Indian Civil Service otherwise than by Open Competitive Examination of natives of India and Burma.

The Secretary of State for India in Council, in pursuance of the powers conferred upon him by section 1 of the Indian Civil Service (Temporary Provisions) Act, 1915 (5 and 6 Geo. V, c. 87), hereby makes with the advice and assistance of the Civil Service Commissioners the following provisional rules for the appointment during the year 1919 to the Indian Civil Service, otherwise than by the annual Open Competition (which will still continue to be held), of natives of India and Burma. It will rest with the Government of India to determine whether candidates are qualified in respect of nationality, age, character and education as defined in the following Regulations :—

(i) (a) Every candidate must be either a British subject or a ruler or subject of any State in India in respect of whom the Governor-General in Council has made a declaration under section 96 (a) of the Government of India Act, 1915, as amended by section 3 of the Government of India (Amendment) Act, 1916.

(b) If the candidate (being a British subject) or his father or his mother was not born within His Majesty's Dominion and allegiance, the father must at the time of the candidate's birth have been a British subject or the subject of a State in India and still be (or have continued to be until his death) a British subject or a subject of such State.

(ii) Every candidate must have been born on or after the 2nd August 1894 and on or before the 1st August 1898.

(iii) Every candidate must be of good moral character and sound physique.

(iv) Every candidate must produce satisfactory evidence that he possesses a degree in Arts or Science of an Indian or British University.

(v) Any person who possesses the qualifications prescribed in the foregoing rules is eligible to apply for nomination, whether he be already in Government service or not.

(vi) Every candidate, being a British subject, must submit to the local Government of the Province in which he resides an application in the form annexed to these rules, together with the fee prescribed in that form.

(vii) Every candidate, being a ruler or subject of a State in India who is qualified under rule 1, must submit his application through the Durbar of the State to the local Government of the Province in which he wishes to serve.

(viii) Candidates will be nominated by the Government of India on the recommendation of the local Government.

(ix) Candidates nominated by the Government of India will be accepted by the Secretary of State for India in Council as Selected Candidates for the Indian Civil Service, subject to any further enquiries that he may find it necessary to institute, and will be required to undergo a period of probation for two years at a College or University in the United Kingdom approved by the Secretary of State. Selected candidates will be entitled to free passages to and from the United Kingdom and will be paid an allowance of £200 sterling during the period of probation, subject to good conduct. At the end of this period of probation they will be tested by the Civil Service Commissioners, or by an authority in India specially empowered in this behalf, in Indian Law and Languages, and in any other subjects which may be prescribed, and in riding. They will not be appointed to the Indian Civil Service until they have been certified to have fulfilled these tests.

(x) Any attempt on the part of a candidate to enlist support for his application through persons of influence will disqualify him for appointment. Spontaneous recommendations from persons who are not themselves acquainted with the candidate's work at school or at the university or otherwise will be disregarded.

(xi) In pursuance of section 2 of the Rules Publication Act, 1893 (56 and 57 Vict., c. 66), the Secretary of State for India in Council certifies that on account of urgency the foregoing rules are made as provisional rules to come into operation forthwith.

INDIA OFFICE,

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Indian Legislative Council on the 11th September 1919:—

No. 23 OF 1919.

A Bill further to amend the Cantonments Act, 1910.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Cantonments Act, 1910; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Cantonments (Amendment) Act, 191 .

Amendment of section 24 of Act XV of 1910.

2. In section 24 of the Cantonments Act, 1910,—

(1) for clause (20) the following clause shall be substituted, namely:—

"(20) the prohibition of the practice of any profession or of the carrying on of any trade, calling, or occupation in any part of the cantonment otherwise than in accordance with the conditions of a licence; the fees payable for the grant and renewal of such licences and the authorities by which and the conditions subject to which such licences may be granted, refused, suspended and revoked."

(2) in clause (23) the words "loitering or importuning for the purpose of" shall be omitted, and after the word "cantonment" where it first occurs the words "of prostitutes and procurers," shall be inserted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Doubts have arisen as to whether the powers conferred on the Governor General in Council by section 24 (20) of the Cantonments Act, 1910 (XV of 1910), are sufficient to enable rules consistent with the Act to be made providing for the imposition of fees for the grant of licences to persons carrying on certain trades, callings and occupations in cantonments It is, therefore, proposed to take power to make rules which will admit of the imposition of fees for the grant of such licences.

Again, Section 24 (23) of the Cantonments Act, 1910, empowers the Governor General in Council to make rules, among other objects, for the suppression of "loitering and importuning for the purpose of prostitution" and for "the removal and exclusion from a cantonment of disorderly persons." These powers do not authorise the making of rules for the suppression of brothels, or for the effective prevention of prostitution in cantonments. It is a common fact that prostitution is also carried on in cantonment areas, without loitering or importuning for the purpose, and that prostitutes and procurers are not necessarily disorderly persons, within the meaning of the section.

Under rule 12 (c) of the Defence of India (Consolidation) Rules, 1915, the competent military authority has power, where any house or building in any place where troops are assembled, or in the vicinity thereof, is used as a brothel or for the purpose of habitual prostitution, to discontinue the use of the house or building for those purposes. Power to act under this provision is however temporary, and in any case it has been found ineffectual, since the persons dealt with under the rule merely scatter in a cantonment area and ply their trade in other houses or buildings. The law has also been evaded by the prostitutes marrying their pimps.

It is, therefore, proposed in the interests of the health of the troops, to take power to make rules which will admit of the suppression of the evils in question.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Indian Legislative Council on the 11th September 1919 :—

No. 24 OF 1919.

A Bill to amend the Cinematograph Act, 1918.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Cinematograph Act, 1918 ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

1. This Act may be called the Cinematograph (Amendment) Act, 191 .

Short title.

2. For sub-section (3) of section 1 of the Cinematograph Act, 1918, (hereinafter referred to as the said Act), the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely :—

Amendment of section 1 of Act II of 1918.

"(3) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct that the whole or any of its provisions shall come into force in any Province or part of a Province on such date as may be specified in the notification."

3. In sub-section (2) of section 5 of the said Act, for the words "the prescribed authority" the words and figure "an authority constituted under section 7" shall be substituted.

Amendment of section 5 of Act II of 1918.

4. For section 7 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely :—

Substitution of a new section for section 7 of Act II of 1918

"7. (1) Any Local Government authorised in this behalf by the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the local official gazette, constitute as many authorities as it may think fit for the purposes of examining and certifying films as suitable for public exhibition, and declare the area (hereinafter referred to as the "local area") within which each such authority shall exercise the powers conferred on it by this Act. Where an authority so constituted consists of a Board of two or more persons, not more than one-half of the members thereof shall be persons in the service of Government.

Certification of films.

(2) If any such authority after examination considers that a film is suitable for public exhibition, it shall grant a certificate to that effect to the person applying for the same, and shall cause the film to be marked in the prescribed manner. The certificate of any such authority shall, save as hereinafter provided, be valid throughout the territories in which this Act is in force.

(3) (a) If the authority is of opinion that a film is not suitable for public exhibition in the local area, it shall inform the person applying for the certificate of its decision, and such person may, within thirty days from the date of such decision, appeal for a reconsideration of the matter by the Local Government by which the authority was constituted.

(b) If the Local Government rejects the appeal it shall, by notification in the local official gazette, direct that the film shall be deemed to be an uncertified film in that local area, and such direction shall have effect notwithstanding the subsequent grant of a certificate in respect of the film by any other such authority.

(4) Any such authority may demand the exhibition before itself of any certified film which it has reason to believe is about to be publicly exhibited in its local area, and may by order suspend the certificate of any such film pending the orders of the Local Government, and during such suspension the film shall be deemed to be an uncertified film in that area.

(5) The District Magistrate, or, in a Presidency town or in the town of Rangoon, the Commissioner of Police, may by order suspend the certificate of any film pending the orders of the Local Government, and during such suspension the film shall be deemed to be an uncertified film in that district or town.

(6) A copy of any order of suspension made under sub-section (4) or (5), together with a statement of reasons therefor, shall forthwith be forwarded by the authority or the officer making the same to the Local Government by which the authority was constituted or to which the officer is subordinate, as the case may be, and such Local Government may, in its discretion, either discharge the order or, by notification in the local official gazette, direct that the film shall be deemed to be an uncertified film in the whole or any part of the Province.

(7) A Local Government may, of its own motion, by notification in the local official gazette, direct that a certified film shall be deemed to be an uncertified film in the whole or any part of the Province.

(8) The exhibition of a film to which any order or direction under clause (b) of sub-section (3) or sub-section (4), (5), (6) or (7) is for the time being applicable shall, in the area to which such order or direction relates, be deemed to be a contravention of the condition mentioned in sub-section (2) of section 5."

Amendment of section 8 of Act II of 1918

5. In section 8 of the said Act—

(1) at the end of clause (b) of sub-section (2) the word "and" shall be omitted, and after the same clause the following clause shall be inserted :—

"(bb) the appointment of officers subordinate to authorities constituted under section 7 and the regulation of the powers and duties of such officers; and"; and

(2) for sub-section (3) the following sub-section shall be substituted, namely :—

"(3) The Governor General in Council may delegate to a Local Government, subject to such conditions and restrictions as he may impose, the power to make rules regarding all or any of the matters mentioned in sub-section (2) so far as regards the territories subject to that Government."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Cinematograph Act, 1918 (II of 1918), has not yet been brought into force, as it appears that the local conditions and circumstances vary so considerably in different provinces that the Act cannot be successfully administered without some measure of delegation and simplification of procedure.

2. It is proposed, therefore, to introduce some modification of the Act in this direction. Thus it is proposed (a) to delegate to Local Governments the authority to constitute Certifying Boards, it being provided that not more than one-half of the members shall be officials; (b) to provide that certificates shall be valid in the ordinary course throughout India: but that a certifying authority shall have power to require the production before it of a film already certified by any other authority; (c) to make provision for the appointment of officers subordinate to certifying authorities; and (d) to delegate to Local Governments the power to make rules under section 8 (2) of the Act, subject to any general conditions or restrictions which the Governor General in Council may impose.

3. Finally, provision is made for introducing the Act piecemeal, in order to allow a preliminary period during which owners of films now in use may submit them to optional certification before the Act comes into force.

LIBERALITY OF BABU MUKHRAM KANURIA OF CALCUTTA.

No. 2761 Marine, dated Calcutta, the 1st September 1919.

From—THE HON'BLE MR. F. A. A. COWLEY, Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Marine Department,

To—BABU MUKHRAM KANURIA, of the firm of Messrs. Luchminarain Bunsidhar.

I AM directed to convey to you the thanks of the Governor in Council for your liberality and public spirit in having made a gift of Rs. 1 lakh, for the construction of a Dharamsala building near Chandpal Ghât, for the accommodation of third class passengers by the Burma steamers.

REPORT ON FAMINE IN THE DISTRICT OF BANKURA FOR THE WEEK ENDING 6TH SEPTEMBER 1919.

DURING the week the rainfall was general and sufficient. The agricultural prospects are favourable. Seventy-two relief works were open, the number of persons employed on them having been 8,923. The total number of persons on gratuitous relief was 14,724, viz., 9,576 persons on cash doles in 125 unions, 3,683 on paddy-husking advances, 885 weavers and 580 better class poor. The grand total of persons relieved was 23,647. The decrease in the number of persons relieved on cash doles was due to the improvement in the situation. The number of persons relieved on private works was 750. The charitable societies also relieved 634 persons by weekly doles and 900 persons by daily rice doles and cooked food. Two cases of theft of rice and one of grain-looting were reported during the week. Public health is generally good. Outbreak of malaria is reported from certain localities. Cloth is being distributed to destitutes. The relief measures are adequate. The price of common rice varies from 4½ to 5¼ seers in the rupee. The rise in the price of rice is reported to be due to heavy rain and difficulty of transport by road. Burma rice is being supplied for sale.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE CHITTAGONG HILL TRACTS.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

Political Branch.

DARJEELING, THE 12TH SEPTEMBER 1919.

RESOLUTION—No. 2476P.D.

READ—

The Report on the Administration of the Chittagong Hill Tracts.

During the last two years, the question of the administration of the Chittagong Hill Tracts has engaged the attention of the Government of Bengal. The substitution of territorial for tribal administration, the extension of settled cultivation among the hillmen and the general advance of civilisation have raised new problems and have rendered necessary some development of the administrative system.

2. A full report on the whole question has been submitted by Mr. F. D. Ascoli, I.C.S., who has deputed to the Hill Tracts in 1918 to make a thorough examination of the existing revenue arrangements and the system of land settlements, and to submit proposals for a reformed system making adequate provision for securing the rights of the cultivators, the headmen and the village community. It is neither possible nor desirable to pass orders immediately on Mr. Ascoli's detailed proposals. They must await further investigation by the new revenue agency which it is clearly necessary to set up. His Excellency the Governor has, however, recently visited Rangamati and has discussed the whole problem with the local officers and the Chiefs, and it is desirable to set forth the general lines of the policy which Government have decided to adopt.

3. The first and most important question is the regulation of plough cultivation which has extended greatly during the past fifty years. In 1868, there was only one small plough lease in existence. At present, according to the returns, which are admittedly imperfect, there are 16,463 plough holdings, covering an area of 42,667 acres and paying a revenue of over Rs. 75,000. These figures show conclusively that the hillman is capable of settled cultivation and that provision must be made for such cultivation as a permanent feature of the administration. It is, however, unsatisfactory to find that one-eighth of the area under plough cultivation is held by the Chiefs and that subletting has been sanctioned in more than one-tenth of the area, while the area actually sublet is very much greater. The policy of Government to settle lands direct with hillmen cultivators has therefore been to a large extent frustrated. Under existing arrangements, the sub-lessees have no rights of any kind in the land; such rights as exist are getting into the hands of the wrong people, and it is necessary to take steps for the protection of the actual cultivators. Unless a proper tenancy system is introduced, the district will find itself saddled with the worst of all agricultural systems, where the land is held by middlemen tenants cultivating through raiyats who are little better than labourers.

4. The provisions regarding transfers and subletting in the existing rules are as follows :—

"All lands held for plough cultivation on lease from Government under whatever rules they have been or may be granted, are subject to the condition that they cannot be sublet or transferred, except on hereditary succession or with the consent of the Commissioner. No partitions can be made without the consent of the Commissioner. For a tenant temporarily to make over his holding to another person in the case of illness, incapacity, minority, absence on a journey or in the like exigency, is not to sublet: but in no such case can the tenant recover from his substitute or trustee a higher rent than he has himself to pay."

This rule, if properly worked, ought to suffice to prevent undesirable subletting and transfers; but in the absence of any clearly defined policy, and in part owing to the multiplicity of authorities empowered to grant leases, it has not been properly worked. It would, in fact, appear that in order to encourage the spread of plough cultivation, leases have been granted under which the lessees have been deliberately allowed to take up more land than they could cultivate themselves, with the intention that they should establish tenants upon it. The Governor in Council is convinced that this policy is mistaken. Plough cultivation is probably extending as rapidly as desirable, and in any case it is better that its extension should be temporarily checked rather than that it should be stimulated by the adoption of unsound methods. It has accordingly been decided that the settlement of lands shall be regulated in future by the following principles :—

(1) Leases will be sanctioned by the Deputy Commissioner and by no other authority. No lessee shall be permitted to hold more than 25 acres in all, and leases will be granted only to hillmen, provided that non-hillmen of the cultivating classes actually resident in a village at present may be given a lease in that village up to the maximum of 25 acres.

(2) No subletting shall be allowed, except with the sanction of the Deputy Commissioner which shall only be given to meet cases of temporary incapacity, such as minority, illness or temporary absence.

(3) The rent of sub-tenants duly authorised by the Deputy Commissioner shall not exceed by more than 50 per cent. the rent paid by their landlords to Government for the area sublet.

(4) So-called labourers who are remunerated by a share of the produce will be treated as sub-tenants, and, if they are recognised by the Deputy Commissioner, their rents will be regulated by rule (3) above.

(5) Transfers will be absolutely prohibited, except that the Deputy Commissioner will be authorised to sanction usufructuary mortgages for a period not exceeding seven years, and providing for the extinction of the whole debt, including principal and interest, within that period, subject to the condition that the mortgage will not in any event be extended beyond that period. Unauthorised transfers will in no circumstances be recognised unless the transferee has obtained a prescriptive right by twelve years' possession, the burden of proving which will lie on him.

(6) In all cases of unauthorised sub-leases or transfers, the Deputy Commissioner will be empowered to resume the land and to resettle it with the transferor or lessor, or with the transferee or sublessee, or with another hillman raiyat of the village, according to circumstances.

5. The question of the application of these rules to pre-existing leases will require further examination. In a few of the older leases, subletting seems to have been recognised or at any rate not definitely forbidden, and the indiscriminate resumption of lands might lead to hardship. At the same time, leases of lands in the Hill Tracts have always been given for the purpose of bringing land under cultivation, and no rents are paid on lands under the present system until they are brought under cultivation. An essential preliminary to the effective introduction of the new rules will be a detailed survey and record-of-rights, which will bring to light the lands held under existing leases, and the question of their treatment can be considered further when the facts are known in fuller detail. If it is decided to allow subletting in such cases, it will be necessary to secure to the sub-tenants full rights of occupancy and protection against rackrenting.

6. It has further been represented that a holding of 25 acres is insufficient for the maintenance of a headman, and that in their case the area should be increased to 50 acres, with permission to sublet at least a portion of the holding. The Governor in Council will be willing to consider this matter further in connection with the revision of the lists of headmen, a matter which is discussed below. If subletting by headmen is allowed, full provision will have to be made for the protection of their sub-tenants.

7. As already stated, a survey and the preparation of a detailed record-of-rights form an essential preliminary to the introduction of the policy of settling land direct with the actual cultivators, who are to be given rights of occupancy, but no right to transfer or sublet without special sanction and for special reasons. Arrangements for carrying out these operations will be made in due course. It is proposed to entrust them to the ordinary district staff, but an agency for the inspection and co-ordination of the work in different areas will be provided, if necessary. Eventually the terms and conditions under which the land is held will be embodied in the record-of-rights, and it will be possible to dispense with lease forms. Meanwhile leases will continue to be issued in simple amalnama forms, providing for an initial rent-free period with subsequent decennial settlements of rent. The question whether there should be an intermediate period before full occupancy rights are granted, in order to ensure land being brought under cultivation, will be examined later. A further matter for investigation during the preparation of the record-of-rights will be the accumulation of arrears of rent and the measures to be taken to put the annual revenue demand on a proper footing.

8. The completion of the record-of-rights will render possible the introduction of certain reforms in the system of assessment and collection of land revenue, but it is unnecessary to discuss these in detail at present. Special measures will be necessary to train the headmen in the new system, and this will be one of the most important duties of the new staff. It has been suggested that the revenue demand might be paid direct to the Deputy Commissioner instead of through the Chiefs as at present, and no legal objections could be raised to such a course which would have certain practical advantages. It has always been held that the property in the land in the Hill Tracts belongs to Government, and that Government recognises in the Chiefs only a delegated power to collect the revenue on its behalf. That delegation could be withdrawn at any time, if developments of the revenue system rendered such a course advisable. In view, however, of the functions which the Chiefs have hitherto carried out in this respect, the Governor in Council is unwilling to deprive them of all connection with the revenue administration in the future. They have given an assurance of loyal co-operation in any reforms which it may be necessary to introduce, and so long as they fulfil their functions to the satisfaction of Government they will be allowed to continue to act as the agents of Government in the collection of the plough rents.

9. In the matter of the jum tax, it is not proposed to make any important alterations in the present system. The tax was settled in 1915 for a period of ten years, and it is said that the assessment is on the whole equitable. Mr. Ascoli's proposals for a revision of the incidence of the tax and of the list of exempted persons may therefore stand over till the next settlement. The reforms which he suggests in regard to the accounts and receipt forms and the adoption of kist days should, however, be given effect to at once.

10. Along with the jum tax are levied certain unauthorised abwab and nazars, some by the headmen and some by the Chiefs. It has been proposed that these should be definitely declared illegal and forbidden, but further enquiry is necessary before final orders can be passed. The Commissioner has been asked to submit a report on the subject.

11. No important changes are contemplated in the administration, apart from the revenue system. The Chiefs have asked for enhanced criminal powers, but it is impossible to grant these in the present state of their courts, and until inspection has shown a marked improvement in efficiency. It has, however, been decided to raise the limit of their jurisdiction in the matter of offences against property to cases where the value of the property does not exceed Rs. 50. The present irregular investigation of police cases by the Chiefs must cease and cognisable crime must be reserved for the regular police force.

12. One question of fundamental importance in connection with the administration of the Hill Tracts is the appointment of village headmen. Under the existing rules, the headmen are appointed by the Superintendent after consultation with the Chiefs and the villagers, and a headman may be dismissed by the Superintendent for misconduct or incompetence. The appointment is not hereditary, but a son when competent may be appointed to succeed his father. This system should, in theory, give the Superintendent ample power to secure the appointment of competent headmen; but, in practice, the results are far from satisfactory. The office of headman in many villages is held by minors and absentees, while in some villages the Chiefs themselves exercise the powers of headman through paid subordinates. These arrangements cannot be allowed to continue. The appointment of competent resident headmen is essential for the working of any system of administration in an area like the Hill Tracts, and the reformed revenue system which it is proposed to introduce will be unworkable without it. Steps must, therefore, be taken to appoint competent resident headmen in all villages where the existing headmen are minors or absentees, or otherwise incapable of performing their duties. The Chiefs will no longer act as headmen, except in the villages in which they themselves reside. They have represented that they should receive compensation for the loss of their income as headmen in other villages, and their claim will be considered on receipt of further particulars, which they have been called upon to furnish. In the case of those minor headmen whose appointment has been recognised by the Superintendent, temporary arrangements may be made for carrying on the duties of headmen, until the minors become capable of taking up their posts. Subject to this exception, the list of headmen must be thoroughly revised on local enquiry, and the District Officer must satisfy himself that only men who are thoroughly competent to perform their duties and enjoy the confidence of the people are allowed to retain their posts. Consultation with the villagers regarding the selection of headmen is essential and should not be allowed to degenerate into a mere formality.

13. In regard to the official administration of the district, it is proposed to substitute a member of the Indian Civil Service as Deputy Commissioner for the existing Superintendent, and to divide the district into three subdivisions corresponding with the Chiefs' circles, each in charge of a Subdivisional Officer, who will be directly responsible to the Deputy Commissioner for the administration of his subdivision. These changes will be introduced about the beginning of the next financial year. The new Deputy Commissioner will in the first place proceed to make himself acquainted with the district and its inhabitants and will arrange to start an experimental survey and record-of-rights in selected typical areas during the cold weather of 1920-21. In the course of these operations, which will be supervised by the Director of Land Records, it should be possible to devise a suitable procedure and rules, and to draw up a programme for the extension of the operations throughout the district.

14. Meanwhile the Commissioner should examine the rules and orders at present in force and report what changes are necessary in order to enable the first steps in administrative reform to be taken by the introduction of the new revenue agency. The Chiefs strongly deprecate the issue of an entirely new set of rules immediately, and urge with some reason that the people will find it easier to grasp the new system if amendments are made and new rules inserted gradually as necessity arises. The Governor in Council fully sympathises with this point of view. It has always been a tradition with the officers responsible for the administration of the Hill Tracts that they should carry the Chiefs and people with them as far as possible, and this tradition must be maintained. Many of the unsatisfactory features which have been discovered in the administration are due rather to failure to apply existing rules than to defects in the rules themselves, and a violent breach with the past is both unnecessary and undesirable. In enforcing the policy now formulated by Government the object of the local officers should be quietly and tactfully to repair existing defects and to secure the co-operation of the Chiefs and the people in all the measures undertaken for this purpose.

The main objects of that policy are accepted by all. They may be described briefly as the settlement of land direct with hillmen cultivators, and the preparation of a record-of-rights for their protection; and in the administrative sphere, the gradual and tactful enforcement of the principle that in every mauza there shall be a resident headman capable of performing the duties imposed upon him, and that the Chiefs should be given every opportunity of co-operating loyally in the reformed revenue administration. In course of time, extensive changes in the rules will no doubt be found necessary, but it is not desirable to frame hard-and-fast rules until the Deputy Commissioner has had opportunities of studying the problem in detail and of making experiments in regard to the measures required to give effect to the policy of Government. For the present, therefore, no alterations should be made in the existing rules beyond those which are necessary in order to enable the new revenue administration to be set up.

15. Not the least valuable portion of Mr. Ascoli's report is that which deals with the economic condition of the district, and it is from no want of appreciation of the importance of this question that the Governor in Council has refrained from discussing it in this Resolution. The transition from nomadic to settled cultivation is bound to create troubles and difficulties, calling for constant care and watchfulness, and it will be an important part of the duties of the new administrative agency to do all that can be done to assist the people at this juncture. Further investigation of the problem is necessary before any definite action can be taken, but the Governor in Council, as a preliminary measure, has arranged for the establishment of an agricultural farm at Rangamati and the appointment of a district agricultural officer whose duty it will be to make a thorough study of the agricultural conditions of the district, with special reference to the improvement of existing methods of cultivation, whether by jum or by plough.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette and that it be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Chittagong Division, for information and necessary action.

Ordered also that copies of the Resolution be forwarded to the Revenue and Appointment Departments, for information and necessary action.

By order of the Governor in Council,

J. H. KERR,

Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Preliminary Forecast of the Bhadoi crops of Bengal, 1919-20.

[Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1917-18 the area under autumn rice in Bengal has represented some 6·5 per cent. of the total area under rice in British India.]

Character of the season.—The weather at sowing time and subsequently was generally favourable in West Bengal but in North and East Bengal a prolonged drought in the early part of the season retarded sowings to some extent, and in one or two cases damaged the crops after germination. The latter part of the season has been generally good and the season, as a whole, may be regarded as having been fairly favourable and better than last year. Some damage by flood and insect has been reported from the Presidency Division, Pabna, Malda, Faridpur and Bakarganj.

Acreage.—The total area sown this year with the different bhadoi crops is reported to be 5,991,900 acres against 5,937,200 acres and 5,933,300 acres, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year. Of this, the area under autumn rice is estimated at 5,123,300 acres against 5,046,300 acres and 5,066,600 acres in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—According to the District Officers' estimates, the outturn of the different bhadoi crops for the Province works out to 84 per cent. of the normal against 81 and 77 per cent. reported, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year. Autumn rice, the most important of the bhadoi crops, shows an outturn of 86 per cent. for the Province against 81 and 77 per cent. reported, respectively, in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

† Revised.

MONTHLY WEATHER AND CROP REPORT OF BENGAL FOR AUGUST 1919.

I. Character of the Season.—During the month the rainfall was above the average in 14 districts and elsewhere below normal. The fall was in marked defect in the districts of Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, Rangpur, Mymensingh and in the Cooch Behar State. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of the Agricultural Operations.— The rainfall in the last week facilitated the transplanting of winter paddy and steeping of jute in North and East Bengal where the operations were being hampered partly owing to want of sufficient rainfall and partly to lowness of river flood. A good deal of transplanting, however, remains to be done in Mymensingh where with low river and short rainfall the cultivators found it difficult to reap the jute in time to transplant rice. Transplanting was almost completed in West Bengal where prospects have been reported to be hopeful. Weeding of winter rice commenced. Autumn paddy was being reaped and a satisfactory outturn was reported.

III. State of Standing Crops.—The condition of winter rice, sugarcane and other standing crops was satisfactory on the whole, but more rain was needed in Mymensingh to facilitate transplanting of winter rice.

IV. Prospects and Probable Outturn.—Autumn paddy yielded a satisfactory outturn. The present outlook of winter paddy is reported to be generally promising in West Bengal, but lack of rainfall is affecting some districts in East and North Bengal.

V. Damage to Standing Crops.—Some damage to jute by insect pests continued to be reported from places in West Bengal.

VI. Condition of Agricultural Stock.—The condition of live-stock was reported as fair. Cattle-disease was reported from places in the districts of Murshidabad, Burdwan, Midnapore, Rangpur and Cooch Behar State.

VII. Failure of Pasturage and Fodder.—The supply of fodder was sufficient throughout the province except in the low-lying tracts of Faridpur, Bogra and Pabna.

VIII. Price of Food-grains.—During the second fortnight of the month under review the price of common rice for the province rose in 18 districts and fell in 6, and remained stationary in the rest. It varied from 3 seers and 12 chitaks per rupee in Dacca, Faridpur and Hooghly to 7 seers in the Chittagong Hill Tracts.

IX. Condition of Agricultural People.—Distress continued to prevail in the Brahmanbaria subdivision of Tippera. Relief measures continued.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS.

For the week ending on the 11th September 1919.

Summary.—During the week the rainfall was generally heavy in the Chittagong Division and in Dinajpur, Jalpaiguri and Darjeeling. Elsewhere the fall was generally light to moderate. More rain is needed in places of Rajshahi, Rangpur and Tippera for the growth of winter paddy and for the steeping of jute. Transplanting of winter paddy is approaching completion; weeding continues. Cutting, steeping and washing of jute are proceeding, but the progress is slow in many places owing to lack of steeping water. Harvesting of autumn rice is still going on in the western districts. Damage to jute by insects continues to be reported from places in the 24-Parganas. The condition and prospects of standing crops are generally satisfactory. The average price of common rice for the province has risen by about 1·35 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week.

STARRED QUESTIONS.

The following questions which had been starred were put and answered :—

By the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur:—

I.

Alleged lack of medical attendance in the Victoria School, Kurseong.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state what provision there is in the Victoria School, Kurseong, for medical attendance for the pupils and staff, including the menials?

(b) Is it a fact that recently a death occurred among the pupils, and that the only medical attendance available was that of the Resident Surgeon of the station?

(c) Is it a fact that the Resident Surgeon has not only to attend to calls from the school, but has also to attend to the station people and the tea plantations round about, and that this has to be done without any telephonic communication which is absent in the station?

(d) Will the Government be pleased to state what provision they have in contemplation for providing for adequate medical attendance for the school in question?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Goode:—

"(a) A highly qualified and experienced nurse and a qualified compounder reside on the school premises. Medical attendance is given by the Civil Medical Officer and in his absence, the municipal Assistant Surgeon.

(b) One of the boys died in June last; he was attended by the Civil Medical Officer and the Assistant Surgeon.

(c) The reply is in the affirmative. Telephonic communication will shortly be installed between the residence of the Civil Medical Officer, the plantations and the school.

(d) Government are disposed to think that the present arrangements for medical attendance are adequate, but it is understood that the Director of Public Instruction is considering the desirability of improving these arrangements."

By the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur:—

II.

Pay of Assessors of income-tax.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state what is the pay of Assessors of income-tax employed in the Districts of the Bengal Presidency, outside Calcutta?

Questions and Answers.

(b) What is the pay and grade of Assessors employed in Calcutta?

(c) Is not the work of the Assessor in the mufassal similar to that of his colleague in Calcutta?

(d) Are the Government contemplating the revision of the scale of pay of mufassal Assessors?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Payne:—

" (a) Rs. 75—2—125.

(b) The pay of income-tax assessors in Calcutta is graded as follows:—

Two on Rs. 300—10—350.
Three on Rs. 250—10—300.
Five on Rs. 200—10—250.
Four on Rs. 200 each.

(c) The work is of a similar nature, but income-tax assessors in Calcutta have much more difficult and responsible duties to perform, as the incomes to be assessed are much higher and the variety of businesses is much greater than in the mufassal

(d) No."

By the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur:—

111.

Congestion of traffic in the northern sections of the town.

(a) Are the Government aware that repeated communications have been made by the District Engineer, District No I, of the Corporation of Calcutta, as to the difficulty of sweeping, watering, and otherwise properly conserving the roads in the Kumertooly and Jorabagan sections of the town on account of the numerous carts and animals which are more or less permanently located at all hours of the day on the public streets in the Burra Bazar, Jorabagan and Kumertooly sections of the town?

(b) Are the Government also aware that this congestion causes inconvenience both to wheeled and foot traffic?

(c) Are the Government also aware that the said District Engineer has been complaining for the last 2 years to the Deputy Commissioner of Police, Northern Division, on the subject?

(d) Are the Government also aware that although complaints have been made for the last 2 years, the state of affairs continues as before?

(e) What steps have been taken or are being taken in the matter?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Goode:—

" (a) and (b) The reply is in the affirmative.

(c) Government understand that several complaints have been made to the police in this connection.

(d) Government are aware that no adequate remedy has been provided for the state of affairs referred to by the Hon'ble Member. The Chairman of the Calcutta Corporation reports that there has been some improvement during the past two years and that carts and bullocks are not now left on the road for the whole 24 hours to the same extent as before.

(e) (i) During the past 18 months, there have been 9·421 prosecutions for obstruction and 5·457 cattle have been impounded in the Kumartoli and Jorabagan sections of the town.

Questions and Answers.

(ii) Government have referred to the Port Trust the question of the utilization of the river-side lands belonging to that body.

The question of providing khatals for the cartmen, who cause obstruction in the streets referred to by the Hon'ble Member, will no doubt be dealt with in any proposals made in connection with the river-side area ''

By the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur:—

IV.

Improvement in the pay and prospects of the extra copyists in the Calcutta Registry Office.

(a) Is it a fact that the extra copyists in the Calcutta Registry Office submitted a petition on the 8th July, 1919, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department, embodying their grievances and praying for improvement of their pay and prospects?

(b) What action has been taken by Government on the memorial?

(c) Is it a fact that old section rates have been abolished and that new contract rates have been introduced with the result that extra copyists are unable to earn more than the minimum pay of the ministerial officers?

(d) Was this the case before the introduction of the new system? If not, what was the necessity for the change?

(e) Is it a fact that these extra copyists do not get any grain compensation or war allowances usually given for the increased price of food-stuffs and other necessaries of life, although some of them have been working there continuously for 10 or 15 years?

(f) Is it a fact that the number of extra copyists employed is four times that of the permanent staff?

(g) Is it the intention to keep them on permanently, and, if so, is it intended for the present to make some of the more senior men permanent?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

" (a) Yes.

(b) As it was submitted direct it has been referred to the Inspector-General of Registration for disposal.

(c) In 1899 the section rates, which used to obtain previously and under which a copyist used to get Re. 1 for 1,600 English or 2,000 vernacular words copied, were abrogated. In their place a monthly rate of Rs. 20 for each temporary copyist, subject to an outturn of 3,000 words a day, was introduced in the Calcutta office. The minimum pay then admissible to a permanent copyist in that office was Rs. 20 a month. This was raised to Rs. 25 a month in 1907. The monthly rate of pay of a temporary copyist was at the same time raised to that level.

(d) No. The change was made because the employment of men on section rates was found in practice to be unnecessarily costly.

(e) Temporary copyists are not whole-time servants of Government and are not therefore entitled to grain compensation allowance; but a very few of them who, though technically in temporary employ are entertained continuously, are entitled to the war allowance.

(f) Yes, but the number of extra copyists employed varies from time to time with the pressure of registration work.

(g) No such proposal is under consideration."

Questions and Answers.

occupied by the Collector and the Superintendent of Police may have to be vacated The position was inspected by the Chief Engineer in the Irrigation Department on the 19th August; it is under the careful observation of the local officers of the Public Works Department, and a further inspection will be made by the Chief Engineer when the river level falls sufficiently. Any project for the permanent protection of the town and Government buildings is likely to cost a very large sum of money; a full report will, however, be submitted to Government with the recommendations of the Chief Engineers of the Public Works Department as soon as the river level falls sufficiently to enable a more thorough inspection to be made."

By the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri:—

VIII.

Revision of pay of the Khas Mahal staff of Maniaguri.

(a) Is it a fact that there were proposals for revising the pay of all ministerial establishments in executive and judicial offices under the Eastern Bengal and Assam Government (including Khas Mahal establishments) and that such proposals received the sanction of the Secretary of State as far back as 1910?

(b) If the answer to clause (a) be in the affirmative, will the Government be pleased to state whether the pay of the ministerial staff of the Khas Mahal was so revised in pursuance of the said proposals? If not, why not?

(c) Is it a fact that the Khas Mahal staff of Maniaguri, in the district of Jalpaiguri, made repeated representation about the revision of their pay to the Deputy Commissioner of Jalpaiguri in 1914, and to the Commissioner of the Rajshahi Division?

(e) Is it a fact that the settlement operations have been finished and the final record-of-rights published?

(b) Did the Government receive any representation from them in March or April last for the improvement of their pay?

(c) If so, will the Government be pleased to state what action they have taken or are taking in the matter?

Questions and Answers.

(c) The reply is in the affirmative.

(d) Garden Reach differs from other suburban municipalities in that it contains mills, dock-yards and Emigration Depots which give employment to about 30,000 people out of a population of 46,000. The Mills, Dock yards etc., pay taxes amounting to 75 per cent. of the total income. It is not a dominent mill interests and because it would be difficult to secure suitable residential quarter for middle-class families. Both on account of the preelective representatives, it has not been considered desirable to introduce elective system here.

(e) A petition purporting to emanate from certain ratepayers dated 7th April, 1919, was received by the Commissioner and sent to the District Magistrate for report. This was followed by another petition on the 30th May asking the Commissioner to receive a deputation, but it was decided to await the return of the Magistrate's report before granting this request. In August Mr. Lang, who had succeeded to the office of Commissioner in July, received a petition by name, dated the 18th July, asking him to receive a deputation and to this he consented, although the new Committee had already been appointed on the 27th July

(b) Is it also a fact that the matter was brought to the notice of His Excellency the Governor last year on the occasion of his visit to the town and that His Excellency was pleased to assure the people that necessary action would be taken to prevent further erosion?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state what protective steps have been taken, or are being taken, since the assurance given by His Excellency to prevent the rapid erosion of the river below the town?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Cowley:—

" (a) It is a fact that the outlying portions of the town known as Bajitpur, Sadhupara and Ramchandrapur are in imminent danger of being washed away by the Padma. The danger in regard to the Court compound and the Sitlai Lodge does not appear imminent.

(b) In his reply to the addresses presented at Pabna on the 29th August, 1918, His Excellency the Governor said: 'The Chief Engineer in the Irrigation Department has already inspected the scene of the erosion during the present year. He informs me that the river has gone back to the old channel which it occupied sixty years ago, and he does not expect that further serious erosion will take place. At the same time he proposes to keep the position under careful observation with a view to taking such measures as may be found possible should the necessity arise.'

(d) Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the comparative advantages and disadvantages of Kishorganj and Husainpur in this respect?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr:—

"(a) Yes.

(b) Yes. The Hon'ble Member is referred to the resolution on the subject of the partition of the Mymensingh district which was published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 2nd June, 1915.

(c) and (d) In response to that resolution representations were received from the Husainpur People's Association and others proposing that Husainpur should be selected as the district headquarters instead of Kishoreganj. Similar representations were received in favour of other small towns. The main objection brought against Kishorganj was that the water supply is insufficient, but special inquiries made on this point showed that an ample supply could be made available. Apart from this, Kishorganj has decided advantages over Husainpur in that it is centrally situated on the Bhairab Mymensingh Railway, whereas Husainpur is on the western boundary of the district about nine miles distant from the railway. Moreover, Kishorganj, being already a subdivisional headquarters, could be converted into a district headquarters at much less expense than would be incurred if the headquarters

(iii) the qualifications required from the members of the service who have joined during the past 25 years or more, have been steadily raised, without any compensating rise in salaries or allowances;

(iv) in 1913 the Secretary of State for India sanctioned certain schemes for the betterment of the service which had been submitted by the Local Government?

(b) What are the features of these schemes as sanctioned by the Secretary of State, and what steps have since been taken to give effect to them in Bengal?

(c) Have the Government received any memorial from the members of the service in Bengal?

(d) Is it a fact that several other provinces have already granted increased pay and allowances, with time scale, to the members of the Upper Subordinate Service in those provinces?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Cowley:—

"(a) (i) Yes.

(ii) Yes, except that sub-engineers, 1st grade, are now granted under certain conditions two periodic increments of Rs. 50.

(iii) No. The qualifications required have not been raised, but the standard of education of those seeking training in engineering and subsequently competing for appointments in the Upper Subordinate Service is higher now than it was 25 years ago.

(iv) No. The Hon'ble Member possibly refers to the fact that in that year the Secretary of State sanctioned the grant of certain enhanced financial powers to Local Governments; these enhanced powers enabled Local Governments themselves to deal with the memorials of members of the Upper Subordinate Service which had been submitted to the Government of India

(b) As stated above no scheme has been sanctioned by the Secretary of State. The present position is that in 1915 the Government of India suggested certain broad principles to be followed in revising the pay of the Upper Subordinate Service and the substituiton of a time-scale of pay. A time-scale was drawn up; but effect could not be given to it at the time owing to financial conditions brought about by the war. It has subsequently been re-examined and revised and it is hoped that it may be brought into force at an early date.

(b) The reasons are as follows:—

(i) District kanungos hold permanent and pensionable posts; the posts of settlement kanungos are temporary.

(ii) District kanungos draw travelling and halting allowances; settlement kanungos are not entitled to travelling allowance except by rail or steamer journeys and for journeys outside their jurisdiction.

This was done in accordance with the recommendation contained in paragraph 152 of the Report of the Bengal District Administration Committee that settlement kanungos would furnish a particularly favourable field for the recruitment of the additional sub-deputy collectors required for the circle system. The ordinary vacancies for 1919 have not yet been filled up.

(e) The Hon'ble Member probably refers to the following statement regarding district kanungos:—

By the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq:—

(a) Is it a fact that the office staff of the Director of Public Instruction have had a separate list since 1914 or thereabouts? If so, will the Government be pleased to state the reasons why officers of other clerical establishments, such as the Divisional Inspector's office, etc., have not been included in that special list? Education Department Service lists.

(b) Is it a fact that the names of the officers of the Director of Public Instruction's office have not since then been published in either of the subordinate educational service or lower subordinate educational service lists since 1914? If so, will the Government be pleased to state the reasons why the public were kept in ignorance of the appointments, promotions, etc., in the office of the Director of Public Instruction?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Goode:—

"(a) There has been a separate cadre for the office establishment of the Director of Public Instruction since December, 1915. There is a separate scale for the office of each of the other Heads of Departments in Bengal. Posts belonging to different establishments cannot conveniently be included in one common list.

(b) Yes, for the reason that these officers do not belong to these services any longer. It is contrary to the usual practice to notify the appointments and promotions of non-gazetted officers in the Secretariat offices and offices of other Heads of Departments."

Promotions in the office of the Director of Public Instruction.

Is it a fact that almost all the members of the staff of the office of the Director of Public Instruction have been favoured with promotions—some more than once, from the 1st April, 1913 to the 1st April, 1919? If so, will the Government be pleased to state the reasons why the cases of the officers in the graded services, Subordinate Educational Service and Lower Subordinate Educational Service, who are required to wait eight years before they can pass through a grade, have not been considered for promotions?

If so, will the Government be pleased to state why their cases have been overlooked?

Extensions of service to Rai Sahib Surendra Nath Singh.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state how many extensions have been granted to Rai Sahib Surendra Nath Singh, the present Personal Assistant to the Director of Public Instruction?

(b) Are the Government aware that the extensions granted to the officers occupying higher posts mean hardship to many? If so, why, having regard to the Imperial Government circular on the subject, has this gentleman been given extensions of service?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state why the pay of Rai Sahib Surendra Nath Singh, Personal Assistant to the Director of Public Instruction, has been raised from Rs. 250 (grade I, Subordinate Educational Service) to Rs. 350?

Questions and Answers.

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Goode:—

" (a) Three extensions.

(b) Extensions of service have been granted to this officer in accordance with clause (a) of Article 459, Civil Service Regulations, of which a copy is laid on the table.

(c) The Rai Sahib's present permanent pay is Rs. 280 outside the graded service, his permanent post being that of the assistant next in rank to the Personal Assistant. For over a year, he has been holding substantively pro tempore the post of Personal Assistant in consequence of the absence on deputation to military duty of the permanent incumbent and his salary in this capacity is Rs. 340."

Article 459 (a) of the Civil Service Regulations referred to in the answer by the Hon'ble MR. GOODE to question No. 14 (unstarred) asked by the Hon'ble MAULVI A K. FAZL-UL-HAQ at the Council Meeting of the 3rd September, 1919.

Promotion of Babu Adwait Rakshit.

(a) Is it a fact that Babu Adwait Rakshit has been promoted to grade V, superseding about 70 senior officers in grade VI?

(b) Is it a fact that he was also appointed Head Master of the Chittagong School, though there were many officers above him in the grade?

(c) Is it a fact that he was removed from this post and made an Assistant Head Master owing to the representations made by senior officers?

(d) Is it a fact that he has been again appointed as Head Master of the Khulna Zila School as a special case? If so, will the Government be pleased to state the reasons for this promotion?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Goode:—

" (a) In making Subordinate Educational Service promotions in September, 1916, Babu Adwaita Charan Rakshit, then Assistant Head Master, Chittagong Collegiate School, No. 70, in class VI, Subordinate Educational Service, was promoted substantively pro tempore to class V with effect from 16th April, 1916, superseding 68 officers above him. This special promotion was given him by Mr. Hornell after a personal inspection and in recognition of his excellent work.

(b) and (c) In June, 1916, during the absence on leave of Babu Rajendra Chandra Chakrabartti, late Head Master, Chittagong Collegiate School, local arrangements to fill the vacancy, were, as usual, preferred and hence the next in rank on the staff, viz., Babu Adwaita Charan Rakshit was appointed to act as Head Master as a temporary measure. When in the middle of 1917, the Head Mastership fell permanently vacant owing to the death of Rajendra Babu, it was considered expedient to fill up the vacancy by the appointment of an energetic officer who was a good teacher and a good disciplinarian. Accordingly, the inspectors of schools were asked to nominate an officer of these qualifications. As the result of the nominations received Babu Harpada Mukherji, then a senior officer in class V, was appointed as Head Master of the Chittagong Collegiate School.

Government are not aware whether any objection was taken to Adwaita Babu's appointment as Head Master by officers senior to him.

(d) In April, 1918 the Headmastership of the Khulna Zilla School fell permanently vacant by the retirement of its permanent incumbent, Babu Phatik Chandra Chakrabartti. Inspectors of schools were asked to nominate for the vacancy an energetic officer who was also a good teacher and disciplinarian. Of those nominated Babu Adwaita Charan Rakshit, though junior to some, was considered the best and he was accordingly appointed."

(a) Is it a fact that Babu Narendra Nath Ray, Head Clerk, Chittagong College, was originally in the graded service. and that he was then transferred to an outside grade on Rs. 60 when he was appointed to a post on Rs 100 within a few years? Promotion of Babu Narendra Nath Ray.

(b) Is it a fact that he has been only recently again put in a grade vacancy, in grade IV, over the heads of a large number of officers?

(c) Is it true that had he been in the graded service he would not have reached grade V at the present moment?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Goode:—

" (a) Babu Narendra Nath Roy was originally in class VII of the Subordinate Educational Service. He was not appointed on Rs 60 outside the graded service. From class VII, Subordinate Educational Service, he was appointed direct on Rs. 100 outside the graded service with effect from the 9th January, 1911, as Superintendent of the Office of the Inspectress of Schools, Dacca Circle, as he was considered to be well-qualified to hold that post.

(b) He has been promoted to Rs. 125 in class IV, Subordinate Educational Service with effect from 14th September, 1918, but not over the heads of a large number of officers. In fact no officer of class V, who might be considered to be deserving of promotion had put in longer service in that class than Narendra Babu had put in on Rs 100 outside the graded service. Further, of the officers on Rs. 100 outside the graded service Narendra Babu was senior to all the rest.

(c) If Babu Narendra Nath Roy had remained in the graded service he would have been in class V now; many officers who were junior to him when he was in class VII of the Subordinate Educational Service are now in class V."

(a) Is there any truth in the statement that Babu Kula Bandhu Chakravarty, a matriculate clerk, now Head Clerk in the office of the Inspector of Schools, Dacca Division, passed the 7th grade of the Subordinate Educational Service in about two years' time due to special favour? Case of Babu Kula Bandhu Chakravartti.

Questions and Answers.

(b) Is it a fact that this officer has recently been given special promotion from grade VI to grade V, within the course of about two years?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Goode:—

"(a) On the nomination of the Inspector of Schools, Dacca Division, Babu Kula Bandhu Chakrabartti, who has read up to the B.A. standard and who at that time was 2nd Clerk in the Inspector's office on Rs 50 outside the grades was appointed Head Clerk of that office and in class VIII of the Subordinate Educational Service in August, 1911. He was promoted from class VII to class VI in the ordinary course in July, 1916.

(b) He was given special promotion to class V with effect from October 2, 1918, over the heads of 59 officers. This special promotion he had thoroughly earned by the very efficient discharge of the particularly onerous duties he has to fulfil."

Suspension of promotion to higher grades.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state under what rules the Director of Public Instruction is empowered to suspend any graded officer's natural promotion to a higher grade when there is nothing agianst such officer?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state the service conditions set out by the Secretary of State for India at the time of sanctioning the Subordinate Educational Service and Lower Subordinate Educational Service cadres?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state under what rules the service conditions of meritorious officers in the Subordinate Educational Service cadre can be suspended by the Government or by the Director of Public Instruction in the way of stopping their promotions to higher grade vacancies?

(d) Will the Government be pleased to state how and under what rules an officer having served long in the Subordinate Educational grades can be put outside the grades and his promotion stopped, when there is absolutely nothing against his service?

(e) Is it a fact that Babu Joy Chandra Mahalanobis in grade III of the Subordinate Educational Service has been posted outside the grade without his consent?

(f) Is it a fact that in grade V there are still about 20 officers who have been there for more than eight years?

(g) Is it a fact that of all officers in the grades of the Subordinate Educational Service, the officers in grade V require a stay of more than eight years for promotion to a higher grade?

Questions and Answers.

(h) Is there any truth in the statement that this detention in grade V of experienced and meritorious officers is due to many indiscriminate postings of outsiders, outside grade officers and recipients of special promotions in the vacancies of the higher grades, especially in grade IV?

(i) Is it a fact that the congestion is mainly due to a disproportionate number of posts in the different grades and to new postings in grades without proper provision in the corresponding higher grades? If so, what steps are being taken for alleviating such congestion?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Goode:—

" (a) and (b) No service conditions were laid down by the Secretary of State for the Subordinate Educational Service. In the Government of Bengal resolution of the 30th March, 1897, constituting the service, of which a copy is laid on the library table, two principles were laid down:—

(i) promotion from class to class will not be determined by seniority alone. Seniority is only one of the conditions which render an officer eligible for promotion. Efficient service in the posts hitherto held, the nature of the appointments in which officers are serving, and capacity to fill posts of higher responsibility, are other determining factors of equal importance, which are to be considered as well as seniority;

(ii) promotion of an officer to a post of greater responsibility will not necessarily imply promotion to a higher class on higher pay. An officer's selection for a post of greater responsibility will be an indication of his fitness for promotion at some future time, and in this way he will indirectly be a gainer: and in accordance with these the Director of Public Instruction is competent to withhold the promotion of those officers whose work is not satisfactory or is of a less responsible character.

(c) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the reply to (a) and (b) above Promotions of meritorious officers are not stopped.

(d) There are no such rules but in some cases where it was felt that the officers had reached the maximum that their qualifications and responsibilities justified they have been put outside the grades so as to relieve the block in promotions.

(e) The reply is in the affirmative.

(f) No. There are only two such officers

(g) Officers in grade V of the Subordinate Educational Service have ordinarily to remain in that grade for about six years.

(h) and (i) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the reply given to question No. 20."

20.

(a) Is it a fact that under the rules sanctioned by the Secretary of State for India every officer in the Subordinate Educational Service with good service is bound to reach to the top grade before retirement? Promotions and prospects of officers in the Subordinate Educational Service.

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state how many years are required by an officer under the present conditions of service in the Subordinate Educational Service, to reach grade V and to reach grade I, if he is a graduate and enters service in grade VIII?

Questions and Answers.

(c) Are the Government aware that an officer requires about six years on an average in passing a grade in the Subordinate Educational Service?

(d) Is it a fact that the new posts in the grades of the Subordinate Educational Service sanctioned by the Government have got no corresponding proportionate posts sanctioned in the higher grades?

(e) If so, what steps are the Government taking against the stoppage of promotions by the younger men?

(f) Are the Government aware of the fact that the new appointments created and postings made in grades I, II, III, and IV of the Subordinate Educational Service (especially in the last) as foreman mechanic instructors, lady teachers, lecturers and demonstrators of colleges and upper subordinate teachers, have seriously prejudiced the promotions and the future prospects of graduate teachers who have been occupied in actual teaching work for the last ten or fifteen years in the Sibpur and Dacca Engineering Institutions?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Goode:—

"(a) There are no rules of the Secretary of State for India about the Subordinate Educational Service

(b) It cannot be said definitely how many years are required to reach grade V or I starting from VIII. Roughly speaking an officer starting from grade VIII should reach grade V in about 16 to 18 years and grade I in about 25 to 30 years.

(c) In the last four grades of the Subordinate Educational Service the average is about 5 or 6 years and in the 1st four grades about 4 years.

(d) It is a fact that the present grading is unsatisfactory.

(e) and (f) It is presumed that the Hon'ble Member refers to promotion being retarded by the appointment of young men outside the service direct to higher pay. Lecturers and Demonstrators of colleges, women B A., B.T 's and Foremen Instructors of Engineering Institutions, etc., have to be appointed on a higher rate of pay. This is unavoidable but for appointments of this kind new posts on higher pay are created and only in very few cases are actual grade vacancies utilised for making direct appointments from outside on higher pay. It is recognised that the present practice is prejudicial to the interests of those in lower grades but it is hoped to reorganise the service in the near future and the principles on which reorganisation should proceed are being worked out."

By the Hon'ble Babu Bhabendra Chandra Ray:—

21.

(a) Is it a fact that under orders of Government or the Director of Public Instruction, students of certain high schools are to be made ineligible for junior scholarships on the result of the Matriculation Examination of the Calcutta University?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state the names of all such schools explaining the reasons for such orders in each case?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Goode:—

"(a) Yes. These orders have since been withdrawn.

(b) A list is laid on the table."

Normal requirements of Bengal in food-grains for human consumption.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state the methods by which the estimate that one-fifth of a ton of food-grains is required per head of the population per annum has been arrived at, and when was this estimate first made?

(b) What are the reasons for believing that this is an over estimate, and since when, and by whom has this belief been entertained?

(c) Has any inquiry been held for the purpose of ascertaining the exact normal requirements of Bengal in food-grains for human consumption? If so, when, by whom, in what manner, and with what specific results?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"(a) The Government of Bengal are not aware how or when first the estimate that one-fifth of a ton of food-grains is required per head of the population in India, was arrived at.

(b) The reason for believing it to be an over-estimate was its failure when applied as a working formula for deciding the requirements of each province.

Questions and Answers.

It it understood that all provinces which attempted to utilize the formula share this belief: when it was arrived at is not known to this Government.

(c) No; but calculations have been made as to the average quantity of rice consumed per head in Bengal."

23.

Total production of food-grains for Bengal during the last five years.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to make a statement showing the total production of food-grains in Bengal during each of the last five years and the difference between the total export and import thereof in the corresponding periods?

(b) Has there been any excess of exports over imports of food-grains in Bengal during the last ten years? If so, when, and by how much?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

" (a) A statement is given below :—

	Total estimated production of food-grains, excluding pulses, during the last five years.	Net imports of food-grains during the last five years.
	Tons.	Tons.
1914-15	6,514,000	435,264
1915-16	8,421,000	761,062
1916-17	8,176,000	679,792
1917-18	8,770,000	283,999
1918-19	7,011,000	48,577

No estimate is made of the production of pulses.

No statistics are available for inter-provincial imports and exports by road and by steamer or country boat between Bengal outside Calcutta and (1) Bihar and Orissa and (2) the United Provinces.

(b) A statement is given below:—

	Net exports.†
	Tons.
1910-11*	213,079
1911-12*	543,291
1912-13	177,224

* For Bengal as then constituted, i.e., including Bihar and Orissa but excluding Eastern Bengal and Assam, except in the case of the sea-borne trade statistics which include Bihar and Orissa and also Eastern Bengal and Assam.

Surplus of food-grains in normal years.

With reference to the statement made by the Hon'ble Mr. Cumming on the 4th July last that in Bengal " there is a considerable, though not a very great, surplus (of food-grains) in normal years," will the Government be pleased to state in detail the grounds for this opinion?

Questions and Answers

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"The statement was made as regards rice, not as regards food-grains It is based on the nearest approach to an estimate of the daily consumption of rice per individual—man, woman and child—in Bengal which can be obtained, viz., one pound or eight chittaks a day."

25.

With regard to 1917-18, during which, as stated by the Hon'ble Mr. Cumming on the 4th July last, we had "one of the finest rice crops in Bengal on record", will the Government be pleased to state the total quantity of Bengal's export and import, respectively, of rice, during that year?

Total export and import of Bengal rice in 1917-18.

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"The figures, excluding those for inter-provincial imports and exports by road and by steamer or country-boat between Bengal outside Calcutta and (1) Bihar and Orissa and (2) the United Provinces, which are not available, are :—

	Tons.
Exports	361,074
Imports	407,749 "

By the Hon'ble Babu Bhabendra Chandra Ray:—

26.

(a) With regard to the "different degrees of accuracy attributable to the data upon which such estimates (of the quantities of food-grains available per head) have to be based," referred to in reply to an unstarred question at the meeting held on the 12th August last, will the Government be pleased to indicate the probable elements of inaccuracy, if any, in the matter of statistics relating to (i) the total yield of rice, and (ii) the export and import thereof, so far as Bengal is concerned, and the probable margin of such inaccuracy?

Accuracy of agricultural statistics.

(b) Is there any reason to suppose that the trade returns relating to export and import as published by Government are inaccurate? If so, to what extent, and when was such inaccuracy first suspected or detected in Bengal, and under what circumstances?

(c) To what extent can the agricultural statistics published by the Government of Bengal be depended upon?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"(a) There is an element of inaccuracy in the total reported yield of rice in Bengal because a cadastral survey, which would give the correct area under rice at the time of the survey, has not yet been completed for the whole Province.

Further, the reported figures for exports and imports do not include figures for inter-provincial imports and exports by road and by steamer or country boat between Bengal outside Calcutta and (1) Bihar and Orissa and (2) the United Provinces which are not available. Government are unable to say what the probable margin of inaccuracy is; but cadastral surveys show that the area under rice had been previously underestimated on the average in districts so surveyed by 7 per cent.

Questions and Answers.

(b) and (c) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the above answer. There is no reason to suppose that the trade returns relating to export and import as published by Government are inaccurate for the particular line of traffic for which the returns are compiled ''

27.

The decision to treat Bengal as a surplus province.

(a) With reference to the reply to my question at the last meeting regarding the decision to treat Bengal as a surplus province, will the Government be pleased to state the date or dates on which they '' submitted their views,'' though not formally consulted, and the purport of such views on each occasion?

(b) With regard to the census of rice stocks held in November last, referred to in the said reply, is it not a fact that the said census was pronounced by Sir Henry Wheeler on the 19th February last as incomplete, and by the Hon'ble Mr. Cumming on the 4th July last as patently incorrect?

(c) Beyond the said census, what were the other '' facts regarding the situation '' upon consideration of which Government were satisfied that Bengal could not be treated as a deficit Province ''?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

'' (a) Government are not prepared to give the information asked for.

(b) Yes.

(c) Comparative prices, estimate of the rice crops of previous years, forecast of the winter rice crop of 1918-19 and information as to the general economic situation in each district.''

By the Hon'ble Babu Bhabendra Chandra Ray:—

28.

The meaning of a "surplus province".

Will the Government be pleased to explain what is meant by a '' surplus province ''? Is the term applicable to Bengal, in so far as it '' could not be treated as a deficit province ''?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

'' A ' surplus province ' is a province possessing stocks of food-stuffs in excess of their requirements at the time. The term was so used as applicable to Bengal in respect of rice, in so far as ' it could not be treated as a deficit province ' in the answer to the question to which the Hon'ble Member alludes ''

Conferences held at Nagpur and Delhi on the question of food supplies

(a) Are the Government aware of a conference held at Nagpur in August, 1918, under the presidency of Sir Claude Hill, to consider the question of food supplies, and also of a similar conference held subsequently at Delhi?

(b) If so, were the Government of Bengal represented at the said two conferences, or were they asked to send any representative thereto?

(c) Have the Government any information regarding the decisions arrived at, or discussions held, in the said two conferences, and how the same affected Bengal? If so, will the Government be pleased to make a detailed statement about it?

Questions and Answers.

(d) Were any estimates or statements prepared for these conferences on behalf of the Government of Bengal, or was any expression of opinion made in any other form on their behalf at these conferences in regard to the rice position in Bengal? If so, will the Government be pleased to state the purport thereof?

(e) Is it a fact that the decision to treat Bengal as a "surplus province" was practically arrived at in these conferences after due regard being paid to representations made on behalf of the Government of Bengal?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"(a) Yes.

(b) The conferences were not conferences of Governments, but meetings of Directors of Civil Supplies intended to facilitate the working of the control system. The Director of Civil Supplies, Bengal, attended, with the permission of the Government of Bengal, but not as their representative.

(c) Yes. Government are unable to make a statement as to the proceedings of a conference held under the directions of the Government of India.

(d) A statement was prepared by the Director of Civil Supplies. The Hon'ble Member is referred to the reply to the last part of question (c)

(e) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the answer given to his question No. 18 asked at the Council meeting of the 12th August."

30.

Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a copy of the "representation made to the Government of India in May last," as a result of which the export of rice from Bengal is stated to have diminished? Export of rice from Bengal.

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"Government are not prepared to lay a copy of the representation on the table."

By the Hon'ble Babu Bhabendra Chandra Ray:—

31.

(a) With regard to the duties of the Director of Civil Supplies, on behalf of the Local Government will the Government be pleased to state what surpervision, if any, is exercised over him by the Local Government in the matter of his discharge of the said duties? Duties of Director of Civil Supplies.

(b) What are the methods employed by him in discharging his functions on behalf of the Local Government under clauses (a) and (b) of the reply to unstarred question No. 19 of the 12th August last? Will the Government be pleased to give typical instances of each case, and state how often these powers have been exercised by him?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"(a) Government supervise the work of the Director of Civil Supplies in the same way as they supervise that of any other officer directly responsible to them.

(b) The prevention of competitive purchases by certificate holders was arranged by requesting Directors of Civil Supplies, in other provinces, to refuse certificates to persons whose representatives in Bengal bought rashly and by arranging that purchases for a province should be made by a limited number of firms only. thus it was arranged that Sind should buy through three firms only

Questions and Answers.

The control over movements within the province is exercised by making arrangements with the railways for wagons to be supplied or refused at the various stations or by refusing certificates. A typical instance is the arrangement by which the Assam-Bengal Railway was to move uncontrolled Burma rice from Chittagong only if booked through to stations in those districts of Bengal or Assam where it was required.

To state how often steps were taken of this kind is impossible; much of the work was done by unofficial arrangements with the Railways concerned of which no record was kept."

By the Hon'ble Babu Bhabendra Chandra Ray:—

32.

Grant of priority certificates.

(a) With reference to the answer to unstarred question No. 22 of the 12th August last, will the Government be pleased to state the circumstances in which certificates have been altered at the instance of the local Director, and how often they have been so altered?

(b) Is the local Director permitted to make any such alteration in the priority certificates on his own initiative? Or, is agreement of the issuing Director an essential pre-requisite for this purpose?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"(a) Certificates sent by other Directors are never altered at the instance of the local Director.

(b) There are no formal rules on the subject. Alterations are made sometimes at the special request of the issuing Directors and sometimes on the basis of informal understandings previously arrived at with them."

By the Hon'ble Babu Bhabendra Chandra Ray:—

33.

Relations between the Director of Civil Supplies and the Collector of Customs.

What are the relations between the Director of Civil Supplies and the Collector of Customs, in the matter of export by sea?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"Licenses for export of rice by sea to Rangoon require the countersignature of the Director of Civil Supplies, Bengal. Otherwise he has no direct connection with the Collector of Customs, who, however, keeps him informed as to amounts exported."

By the Hon'ble Babu Bhabendra Chandra Ray:—

34.

Placing of a maximum limit on the total quantity of rice to be exported from Bengal.

Was any maximum limit placed at any time upon the total quantity of rice which could be exported from Bengal, by sea and otherwise? If so, when, and what was the said maximum?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"Not so far as the Government of Bengal are aware."

By the Hon'ble Babu Bhabendra Chandra Ray:—

35.

Census of rice stocks

With reference to the reply to unstarred question No. 26 of the 12th August last, will the Government be pleased to publish a detailed statistical statement showing the results of the recent census of rice stocks?

"Government are not prepared to publish such a statement."

36. Will the Government be pleased to state the various rates at which Burma rice can be sold at the headquarters of the different district towns in Bengal? Rates of Burma rice.

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"A statement is laid on the table. The apparent discrepancies between the rates in different districts are due not only to differences in local conditions but also to different varieties of rice having been imported or taken as a basis of calculation.

The notice published by the Director of Civil Supplies on the 30th July last, giving the maximum prices per maund fixed for sales of Burma rice by licensed importers, is also placed on the table."

By the Hon'ble Babu Bhabendra Chandra Ray:—

37.

Extension of medical relief in rural areas.

(a) Are the Government aware of the recent decision of the Government of Madras to extend medical relief in rural areas by making substantial grants to local bodies for three years?

(b) If so, are the Government considering the desirability of taking any similar action in Bengal?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Goode:—

"(a) The reply is in the affirmative. Itinerant dispensaries have been tried by the sanitary department in Bengal and have so far proved unsuccessful owing to difficulties of communication and of supervision.

(b) Government do not propose to take any action in this direction at the present moment."

By the Hon'ble Mr Phelps:—

38.

Use of the Kinematograph in diffusing elementary knowledge of hygiene, etc., in the mufassal.

(a) In regard to the suggestion put forward in my budget speech advocating the use of the Kinematograph in diffusing elementary knowledge of hygiene, etc., in the mufassal, will the Government be pleased to state whether the same has their approval?

(b) If the answer is in the affirmative, what steps are the Government taking in the matter?

(c) If the answer is in the negative, will the Government be pleased to state the reasons they have against taking up the suggestion?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Goode:—

"(a), (b) and (c) Government recognize the advantages of visual instruction by means of the cinematograph. The Sanitary Commissioner has already devoted considerable attention to the subject; he is unable to get suitable films prepared in India. In any case, the cost would be very heavy. Government have done a good deal to provide visual instruction in hygiene by means of magic lanterns.

Eighteen municipalities which (1) employ health officers or sanitary inspectors and (2) have guru-training schools located within their limits, have been supplied with lanterns and slides for a course of 12 lectures."

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps, by way of a supplementary question, said :—

"I hope that the Government will not lose sight of what I consider to be a very important method of teaching the ignorant people the elementary science necessary for their comfort and progress. My friends have asked me to press the matter."

The President said :—

"Order, order. If the Hon'ble Member is asking a supplementary question he is not entitled to argue the point."

Questions and Answers.

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said :—

I simply wish to ask whether the Government intend pursuing the subject at an early date."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan replied :—

"My Lord, it is not properly a question. Government will consider the matter when examining the whole question."

Supply to civil courts of price-lists of staple food-crops.

(a) Are the Government aware that in a suit for enhancement of rent, on the ground of a rise in prices of staple food-crops the Court is required, under section 32 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, to compare the average prices during two decennial periods and that for this purpose the Court has to refer to the price-lists published by the Government under section 39 of the said Act?

(b) Is it a fact that in civil courts in the mufassal copies of the officia. Gazette in which such price-lists are published, are not always regularly preserved and that the plaintiff is required to file a certified copy of such issues of the Gazette,at his own cost?

(c) Is it also a fact that for the convenience of Revenue Officers trying enhancement suits under section 105 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, a complete list of the average prices for 20 years is prepared by the authorities and duly supplied to such officers?

(d) If so, are the Government contemplating taking steps for the removal of this inconvenience to the litigants, either by supplying all civil courts with similar price-lists or making any other convenient arrangement?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Duval:—

"(a) Yes.

(b) Under the High Court rules District Judges are required to preserve in their record rooms a copy of the Calcutta Gazette bound in yearly volumes for a period of 12 years, and it is presumed that this rule is complied with.

With regard to the latter part of this question Government have no information on the point

(c) A list showing the average prices of staple food crops for twenty years was prepared in the office of the Director of Land Records, Bengal, and copies of it were supplied to Commissioners, Collectors and Settlement Officers.

(d) It is ordinarily the duty of litigants to file in Court certified copies of any documents which may be necessary to prove their case Under rule 111 in the Bengal Records Manual (pages 24—25 of the edition of 1915) District Officers are required to preserve one copy of the Gazette permanently, and, that being so, litigants should experience no difficulty in obtaining certified copies of the lists, or of such portions thereof as may be necessary to their purpose"

Location of the subdivisional headquarters of the proposed new district of Kishoreganj.

(a) Is it a fact that a memorial has been submitted to His Excellency the Governor of Bengal by the inhabitants of Bajitpur, Kaliarchar and other neighbouring villages of the district of Mymensingh praying for the location of the subdivisional headquarters of the proposed new district of Kishoreganj at Kaliarchar instead of Bajitpur?

Questions and Answers.

(b) Is it a fact that the merits and demerits of the two places are discussed at length in the said memorial?

(c) Have the Government considered or are they considering the arguments advanced in the said memorial in favour of Kaliarchar and against Bajitpur?

(d) Have the Government come to any final decision on the question?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr:—

"(a) and (b) Yes.

(c) and (d) The question has been very fully considered on several occasions during the last four years and Government have finally decided that the headquarters should be at Bajitpur."

Case of a Chaukidar.

With reference to the reply given to my unstarred question No. 39 asked at the meeting of Council on the 12th August last, will the Government be pleased to say whether it is a fact that the Chaukidar submitted a representation to the District Magistrate in which he adheres to his former statements that the man died of starvation and that he had actually been going without food for some days prior to his death?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"It has been ascertained that such a representation was made by way of appeal. The matter is pending with the District Magistrate."

By the Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta:—

Pay of sub-registrars.

(a) Is it a fact that the maximum pay of sub-registrars under the commission system before 1880 was Rs. 250 and that their maximum pay under the present system is Rs 150?

(b) Are the Government aware that there is a feeling of dissatisfaction amongst the sub-registrars on the following grounds, namely:—

(i) that their pay has not been raised although the pay of the provincial services, both executive and judicial, has been raised;

(ii) that the minimum pay of the district sub-registrars is lower than that of the sub-deputy collectors; and

(iii) that the practice formerly in vogue of recruiting some officers of the provincial service from amongst the sub-registrars has been abolished?

(c) Are the Government considering the desirability of raising the pay of the sub-registrars proportionately to the increments which have been allowed in the provincial services?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"(a) Prior to 1880 sub-registrars were remunerated by commission on certain percentages of the fees realised in each office without any maximum limit in practice. According to a list prepared in 1878, 171 sub-registrars drew under Rs. 100 a month, 21 sub-registrars drew between Rs. 100 and Rs. 150 and 2 drew over Rs. 150, viz., Rs. 152 and Rs. 153 respectively. The maximum pay of a sub-registrar is now Rs. 150.

(b) No. The grounds stated are not correct; for the following reasons:—

(i) only the pay of the lowest grade of the provincial services, both executive and judicial, has been raised from Rs. 200 to Rs. 250,

(ii) the minimum pay of a district sub-registrar is now Rs. 200 a month while that of a sub-deputy collector is Rs. 100; and

(iii) in view of the superior qualifications required for the provincial service, the Registration Department is not suitable as a normal recruiting ground for that service; but it is open to the Inspector-General to recommend qualified sub-registrars for the consideration of Government.

(c) A scheme for the revision of the cadre of sub-registrars which would improve their prospects was sanctioned in 1918 by His Majesty's Secretary of State on the understanding that effect would not be given to it until the financial situation improves. Proposals for introducing it are under consideration."

Minimum pay of ministerial officers in the Registration Department.

(a) Is it a fact that the minimum pay of ministerial officers in all departments is Rs 30 the only exception being in the Registration Department in which the minimum pay is Rs. 15?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to consider the desirability of enhancing the minimum pay of the ministerial officers of the Registration Department so as to bring it on a level with other departments?

Answer by the Hon'ble Mr. McAlpin:—

"(a) The minimum pay of ministerial officers in judicial and revenue offices is Rs. 30 a month in Eastern Bengal Districts and Rs. 25 a month in Western Bengal Districts, while the minimum pay of a clerk in the Registration Department is Rs 20 a month and that of a Muharrir Rs. 15.

(b) A revision of the pay of ministerial officers in the Registration Department has been sanctioned by His Majesty's Secretary of State; and it has been decided to give partial effect to the scheme with effect from the 1st March, 1919."

The Hon'ble Mr. Korr laid on the table a statement of the result of the inquiry into the case of the arrest of one Shaju Khatun promised in his reply to question No 16(2) (unstarred) asked at the Council meeting of the 3rd April, 1919.

meeting held on the 3rd April, 1919, the result of the inquiry is laid on the table.

One Kajim Mashalchi of Baburchar, husband of Shaju Khatun, the woman in question, was suspected of complicity in a cloth-looting case of Sadarpur police-station in the district of Faridpur. On the 8th February, the circle inspector, who was investigating the case, received information that the woman had left her home on the previous day for her father's house at Maheshwardi, taking with her some new clothes. In so doing she had, of her own accord walked a distance of ten miles, which is not without relevance to the facts detailed below. He caused the house at Meheshwardi to be searched on the morning of the 9th February. During the search, four new dhoties were found for which the woman was unable to account. She was then arrested with her children and sent by a sub-inspector to the police-station at Bhanga, some five miles off, in charge of an escort, while the sub-inspector proceeded to search another house. There were blood-stains on the woman's clothes at the time of her arrest, but the sub-inspector made no inquiries about them. On her way to the police-station, the woman began to bleed and was given a piece of cloth by the head constable in charge of the escort to hide the blood-stains. On arrival at the police-station, the head constable gave her soap, with which she washed her clothes. The woman was detained for the night with her children in the lock-up at the police-station. Next morning, the inspector offered to release the children on bail, but nobody was willing to stand surety for them. The inspector then gave orders that the woman and her children should be taken to Talma in a boat and from Talma to Faridpur in a carriage or a bullock cart. The party arrived at Talma about midnight, and as no carriage or bullock cart was available, they proceeded on foot to Faridpur, about ten miles off, reaching that place on the morning of the 11th. On her admission to the jail, the woman complained that she had been assaulted by the police, but the sub-assistant surgeon of the jail who examined her found no marks of violence on her person. That night at 11 P.M. she gave birth to a still-born child, the body being in a decomposed condition. From the state of the body, the sub-assistant surgeon was of opinion that the death must have taken place three or four days before the delivery.

The subdivisional officer, who made a careful inquiry into the matter, found that the woman's allegation that she had been assaulted by the police was unfounded, but that in her condition she was subjected to undue bodily exertion, though in view of the medical evidence, the death of the infant had probably taken place before her arrest. There is some corroboration for this view in the fact that blood-stains were found on the woman's clothes at the time of her arrest. It has also been found that the head constable in charge of the escort made every possible attempt to secure a means of conveyance for the woman from Talma to Faridpur. He also tried unsuccessfully to procure accommodation for her at Talma for the night.

The responsibility for this unfortunate occurrence must be laid on the inspector and sub-inspector. The former states that he did not notice the blood-stains on the woman's clothes, while the latter says that he attributed them to menstrual flow. Both of them, however, questioned the woman while she was in custody, and should have taken steps to satisfy themselves as to her real condition and her fitness to travel to Faridpur. There is no suggestion that they were actuated by any improper motive. Their callousness seems to have been due to sheer lack of care and want of thought. It is, however, this callous exercise of authority which brings the police force into disrepute, and in order to mark his sense of the gravity of their offence, the Governor in Council has directed that the sub-inspector should be removed from the charge of a police-station and degraded for eighteen months. The inspector, whose responsibility was less direct, has been degraded for a year.

THE CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN POLICE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1919.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1919, and moved that the said Report be taken into consideration.

He said :—

"On the occasion of the introduction of the Bill I dealt at some length with the considerations affecting it, and it is not surprising, in connection with a small measure of this kind, that there is little more to be said on this occasion. The Select Committee met and again went over the arguments which had been touched upon in Council, relevant to the Bill, and as will be seen from their report, they decided to recommend that the Bill be passed as introduced. One of our members, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, has annexed to the report what is described as a note of dissent, but which, I think the Council will agree, is rather in the nature of a few comments and suggestions which may be very briefly met.

After referring to certain provisions of other Acts, he says that he does not desire to raise any objection to clause 2, but only to suggest that any order which affects the public, and not the force only, should receive the sanction of Government. With reference to that I would again point out that the section of the Act which we are amending—as before, I refer to the principal Act, namely, the Calcutta Police Act—is section 9, which does not refer to orders affecting the public but only to orders affecting the force, and therefore the contingency which he apprehends will not arise.

His second comment is that he thinks it should be clearly provided that nothing should be done to restrict the free movement of a suspended officer in obtaining redress. I mentioned that point when the Bill was introduced, and stated that, compatibly with the general direction that they should stop at Lalbazar, facilities were already given to men under suspension to get into contact with any outside legal advisers whom they might wish to consult.

So much for the report of the Select Committee.

It may be remembered that we at one time thought of taking up this Bill at Dacca, but we agreed to keep it over for the present meeting in order to give full opportunity for public opinion, if it desired to do so, to express itself. As regards that we have only received one letter from the Indian Association, and again, I think, the Council will agree that if the objections contained in that letter are all that can be put up by way of criticism, then the Bill is not open to very grave exception.

Apart from that, to the best of my belief, there was only one newspaper which contained a series of some three articles dealing with the Bill, with which, I am given to understand, a gentleman interested in the recent litigation was not altogether unconnected. It may, therefore, fairly be said, as a general statement, that the inhabitants of Calcutta have decided after seeing the Bill, that they can sleep safely in their beds undisturbed by the fears and apprehensions which were voiced in some quarters when the Bill was introduced."

The motion was put and agreed to.

SUPPLEMENTARY LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 4A.

The Hon'ble Babu Akhil Chandra Datta was to have moved that in the last line of clause 2 of the Calcutta and Suburban Police (Amendment) Bill, 1919, for the word "control" the word "sanction," be substituted.

The Hon'ble Member being absent the amendment was not moved and was deemed to be withdrawn.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 5.

The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler also moved that the Bill, as settled in Council, be passed.

He said :—

"I will only say a word to further reassure Hon'ble Members as to the propriety of substituting the word 'control' for the word 'approbation'. I did not mention the fact on the first occasion, and had intended to do so in connection with the amendment of which notice was given. Since, however, that has not been moved it may interest Hon'ble Members to know that our amendment is merely following what already is to be found in the corresponding sections of the Madras and Bombay City Police Acts."

The motion was put and agreed to.

RESOLUTIONS

(Under the rules for the discussion of matters of general public interest).

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEMS Nos. 6 and 7.

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur moved the following resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that immediate arrangements be made by Government for opening additional sections of classes in all Government colleges in Bengal, for the accommodation of those successful students who have been refused admission into colleges for want of accommodation.

He said :—

"My Lord, there is a complaint all over Bengal for the non-admission of a very large number of qualified students into colleges who have successfully passed the Matriculation, the I. A. and I. Sc. examinations of the Calcutta University. They knock at the door of the colleges and they are told that the allotted seats are filled up. Disappointed students are unable to understand the real reason why they are deprived of the inestimable benefits of University education. Their guardians also feel the greatest difficulty. My Lord, in a province consisting of 45 millions of people, the percentage of literate people is very small, and I consider that it is the sacred duty of the enlightened Government to provide facilities for higher education. The schools in Bengal are sending every year thousands and thousands of successful students to the gates of the University. My Lord, if the colleges under existing arrangements cannot provide sufficient accommodation, some effective steps ought to be taken at once for the benefit of the students and thus relieve the anxiety of their guardians. My Lord, I sent notice long ago of a question which I intended to ask at the last sitting of the Council to get accurate statistics as to the number of successful students who have been refused admission into colleges for want of accommodation, but the reply to this has been postponed. On a previous occasion I moved Your Excellency's Council regarding the admission of students into the Medical College, Calcutta. I do not feel inclined to-day to dwell upon this important matter. It is not very expensive to open sections of classes in Government colleges for the further accommodation of students. The amount of profit to Government from the collegiate schools of the Presidency College, I mean the Hare and Hindu schools, is more than Rs. 60,000 during the last six years from 1912-13 to 1917-18, but it is a matter of great regret that a large number of successful students of these collegiate schools have been refused admission into the Presidency College. It will take a long time to give effect to the recommendations of the Calcutta University Commission. But the students must not sit idle and waste their valuable time. Financial consideration is a great question with Government, but at the same time, my Lord, let me be frank. I consider that it is the paramount duty of the civilized Government to educate the sons of those who live under their protective wings. With these remarks I commend this resolution for the acceptance by Your Excellency's Council."

The President said :—

"The next resolution on the agenda paper raises substantially the same point as is raised by the resolution now under consideration, and it will be convenient, therefore, if a single discussion takes place now. I shall then put the two resolutions separately from the Chair."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray then moved the following resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that a committee be appointed to inquire into the difficulties of students in securing admission to colleges and other educational institutions in Bengal, and to recommend suitable measures for providing adequate facilities for their studies.

He said :—

"My Lord, it was said by a great Judge, Sir Barnes Peacock, years ago that the difficulties of a decree-holder begin when he gets a decree. It may be said with equal truth that the difficulties of a student begin when he passes the Matriculation examination or the I. Sc. examination and tries to get himself admitted in one of the colleges, to continue his studies, either in Arts or medicine or engineering. In these days it is easier to pass an University examination than to get admission in a college. I know very well that there are difficulties in the way of admission on account of the large number of boys who pass the Matriculation or the I. Sc. or the I. A. examination, to make room for them all, but I am afraid there has not been any serious attempt to grapple with the situation either on the part of Government or on the part of the college authorities. Let us hope that when the Dacca University will become a reality before the beginning of the next official year, its authorities will endeavour to get over these difficulties in the colleges under their control, and that it will be for the benefit of students of Eastern Bengal desiring to continue their studies in colleges. But I have very great doubts as to whether the opening of a new University will be able to cope sufficiently with the present situation. At the present time there may be some difficulty in making arrangements in those colleges where the tuition leads to a degree in Arts or Law for admission to the I. Sc. or B. Sc. classes, as, besides college lectures, arrangements

Resolutions.

Babu S. N. Ray.

have to be made for laboratory-work. But as regards pure Arts classes, I mean the I.A. and B.A. classes, arrangements may be made by simply opening new classes and appointing new lecturers or Professors. The initiation in this direction may be taken by Government at once by opening new sections for Arts students as suggested in the resolution of my Hon'ble friend, Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur. I think, so far as Government colleges are concerned, students should be admitted to the maximum capacity of the classes as sanctioned by the University; besides, additional sections should be opened in the various classes, to make room for some of the boys who are now turned away. But the policy adopted is the very reverse of what it ought to be. I would cite only one instance: In answer to certain questions at the last Council meeting we were told that the maximum number of students admitted in the 1st-year class of the Dacca College during the time of Mr. Archbold was 233. This was in 1917, but in the years 1918 and 1919 the numbers admitted were 196 and 191, respectively. We are, however, told that 1917 was an exceptional year. Again, we find that the maximum number of students in the 1st-year class has been fixed at 180, 100 reading for the Intermediate examination in Arts and 80 reading for the Intermediate examination in Science. The reasons given for this reduction are, however, not at all convincing. One would have expected that in these days when the number of boys passing the Matriculation examination has been increasing year after year arrangements would be made to admit larger number of boys in the College Department, but what has been done? The number of students who will get admission has been reduced from 233 in 1917 to 180.

In this country, besides Law, Medicine and Engineering, there is no other useful career open to our young men as they have in Europe or America. The number of seats open in the two Medical colleges in Calcutta or the Sibpur Engineering College, are limited. The struggle for existence has been great. It is, therefore, necessary that something must be done at least to give our young men a proper training to qualify themselves for the different professions, whether it be Arts or Medicine or Engineering. Government might very well say that it does not look well that we should be dependant for everything upon Government help. But the fact is that our people without Governmental aid are helpless, and in my opinion when the Government finds that the parents of Indian boys desire that their sons should be adequately educated the Government ought to be proud of the fact and afford every encouragement and facility, both to the parents and to their aspiring sons.

We should like to know if there is any truth in the report that the Principal of the Presidency College issued a notice to the following effect the other day:—

'Applicants for admission who seek personal interviews do so at their own risk. Those who take up my time by unnecessary interviews will have the fact noted against them on their application.'

I am sure we are all anxious to understand the purport and meaning of such a notice, and why it should be noted against a young seeker of information from the Principal as if he had committed a serious offence. So much for the Arts students. Now I shall say a few words about the students who want to enter the Medical colleges: There was at the last Council meeting a resolution asking Your Lordship's Government for the appointment of a committee of officials and non-officials to inquire into the methods followed by the authorities in the matter of selection of candidates for admission into the Calcutta Medical College at the beginning of the current session. After hearing Sir Henry Wheeler on the resolution I thought I would not be justified in taking up unnecessarily the time of this Council in discussing about the admission of students to the Calcutta Medical College. But, unfortunately, we are bound to state, for the enlightenment of Government, that various are the rumours that we have been hearing for the last five or six years as regards the methods adopted by students and the ways, by the adoption of which alone, students could get themselves admitted in the Calcutta Medical College. It may be that the rumours are exaggerated, that they are even unfounded and quite incorrect. Boys, they say, have been driven not only from pillar to post and from post to pillar trying to obtain admission, but we all remember how a candidate for admission into the Calcutta Medical College died by knocking his head against a tram line post while getting down at Kidderpore to go to the house of a clerk of the Medical College in order to secure his good offices to get an admission. I was told the other day by a well-known medical man of Calcutta, himself a Professor in a Medical College, that the claims of boys who had taken up such subjects as Physiology, Chemistry and Botany in the Arts examination, with the main object of getting themselves admitted in the Calcutta Medical College, were passed over, with the result that their study of these subjects should be practically useless. We fully appreciate the views of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler that some discretion ought to be left to the Principal of the College in the matter of admission, but, I think, it is the duty of Government when complaints are openly and systematically made, at least to ascertain how far the complaints are justifiable by facts. I was told that of nearly 2,500 candidates for admission in the Medical colleges and the Medical School in Calcutta only about 400 could get admission, the rest were practically thrown on the streets. People naturally look up to Government for providing greater facilities to the students who wish to enter the Medical colleges and school.

Resolutions.

Babu Siv Narayan Mukharji.

With reference to the admission of boys to the Sibpur Engineering College, I think the rules as to age debar a large number of them from getting themselves admitted. It is for the Governing Body of the institution to modify the rules and admit as many boys as practicable.

That the Government can, if they so desire, do a great deal with reference to the admission of boys admits of no doubt. It is only the other day that the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan, after personal inspection of the Dacca School of Engineering, made arrangements for the admission of 20 more boys to that school and has ordered the appointment of two more teachers. A little sympathy with the needs and requirements of the student class would go a great way to solve the problem of admission of boys to the different colleges of Bengal. Whether there is scope for admission of more boys in the different colleges at the present time, and if not, what steps it will be necessary to take in order to admit more boys, is one, I think, which a committee will be able to formulate."

The Hon'ble Babu Siv Narayan Mukharji said :—

"My Lord, any one passing by the many colleges in Calcutta or in the mufassil during the first fortnight after the publication of the results of the Matriculation and the I.A. and I. Sc. examinations must have noticed the knots of anxious-looking students, who, like so many 'disconsolate angels at the gates of Paradise', have, during the last few years, unsuccessfully clamoured for admission. There would have been nothing to evoke our sympathy or excite our feeling if these flotsams of the University had, like so many jetsams, been washed ashore and, after being for a while the playthings of the winds and the waves, succeeded at last in reaching the goal. The alarming increase in the number of students in colleges and schools, the absence of even so much as elbow-room in the college classes, and, what is worst of all, the laying of an embargo, in Government colleges, on the admission of students other than those of transcendent merit are causes that have operated, in late years, to render the lot of ordinary students uncommonly hard. I am connected in some way or other with the management of a number of schools and a second class college, and I have personal experience of the difficulty encountered alike by the Matriculates and the Intermediates in securing admission, not only to the several Arts colleges, but to the Medical and the Engineering colleges, as well. I have been a witness to the lamentable way in which students, burning with a desire to continue their academical career, after being driven from pillar to post, had to give up their life's sole endeavour—their quest of the Holy Grail—and pass into the silent life of the humble scribe. Jealously upholding its prestige as the premier college in Bengal, the authorities of the Presidency College take especial care to admit only students whose names figure on the front page of the pass-list and who may exhibit potential qualities capable of taking them through the next ordeal with flying colours. The other colleges, aided and unaided, besides being few in number, are handicapped by the University Regulations in the matter of admissions.

Resolutions.

Babu Siv Narayan Mukharji.

Five hundred and eighty-six is the approximate number of high schools in Bengal. These schools sent forth over 10,000 matriculates last time to be accommodated in 34 Arts colleges, first and second grade, and 2 or 3 Medical and an equal number of Engineering schools. Deducting about 20 per cent. or one-fifth of the total number, on account of those that did not proceed further, and making allowance for the 500 or so who took up medicine or engineering, each of the Arts colleges was required to make provision for admitting on an average 237 matriculates in the 1st-year classes. Similarly, each of the 34 first-grade colleges was required to provide for over 200 I.A.'s and I.Sc.'s in the 3rd-year classes. It has, however, been computed that about 5,000 students have this year been left out in the cold quite unprovided for. Are we not, under the circumstances, justified in saying that in the matter of admissions the colleges have miserably failed to rise to the height of the occasion, and have rendered a miserable account of themselves as educational institutions? 'Many were called, few chosen'—these are the words that involuntarily start to our lips as we endeavour to find the cause of the present educational discontent. And yet, in the face of so much heart-burning caused by the names of nearly half the number of successful under-graduates being placed in the Index Expurgatorium for no other fault than that they failed to score exceptionally high marks in the lottery of University examinations, the University has laid another embargo on education by raising examination fees. Is this not a case, my Lord, in Lord Churchill's memorable language, of 'the forest lamenting that Mr. Gladstone may perspire'? And is it not, I ask, time the authorities should look the situation squarely in the face? Not the authorities alone, but the worthy citizens as well of this no mean city should contrive to open wide the portals of University education by founding more colleges and widening the avenues leading to the temple of learning. The University ought to remember that as hosts it has a duty to perform towards its guests, the young hopefuls, already bidden to its boards, and hungering and thirsting after intellectual food and drink. It ought also to remember that in shutting the doors of its banqueting halls on them it but transgresses the rules of hospitality and starves the minds of the rising generation. Ample provisions are being made at the expense of these unfortunate students for the post-graduate classes, and it was only the other day that this Council passed the Primary Education Bill. We are, therefore, going to provide for the foundation, on the one hand, and the topmost storey, on the other, while the main body of the structure is going to be allowed to take care of itself. Is it not time, my Lord, I again respectfully ask, that the long arm of Your Excellency's Government should intervene and afford relief to the many thousands of disconsolate young men who are every year denied admission to the many Arts colleges in this province? And I pause for an encouraging reply.

In common with every humble father of a family, I feel no hesitation in supporting a resolution which echoes the feelings of the entire province."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"My Lord, I fully share the anxiety and the concern felt by my educated countrymen as to the difficulties with which our students are confronted when they find their names in the list of successful candidates either at the Matriculation or I.A. examination. Some of them are fortunate and lucky to get themselves admitted in the colleges, but a large number, at any rate a very considerable number, of those boys find themselves in actual difficulties by not getting accommodation in the colleges. To prove this fact figures are not at all necessary. The number of successful candidates at one of these examinations and the number of seats available in all the colleges put together will show that the colleges cannot accommodate all these students. This is a serious difficulty and must be solved, and solved without any further delay. But I am afraid I cannot join my friends in asking either for the opening of additional classes or for the appointment of a committee to inquire into the matter. In the first place the opening of additional classes in our colleges will only postpone the difficulties to a later date. The boys will no doubt get admission in the colleges, but after they pass their B.A. or B.Sc. examination they will find themselves again in the same position as they found themselves when they passed their Matriculation. I do not think the appointment of a committee will serve any useful purpose, as past experience has shown that this will lead to considerable delay and will cause not a little expense to the State. The results of their deliberations are considered by Government and then Government decide on their report. In this case, I think the Government, with the expert opinion they have at their command, can very easily come to a conclusion without the formation of a committee.

I would, my Lord, suggest a solution for the consideration of Your Excellency's Government. Some time back in this Council a resolution was moved by my Hon'ble friend Mr. P. C. Mitter—in fact it was an amendment to my resolution which was accepted by Your Excellency's Government—for the opening of technical and industrial schools all over the province. If we can afford to have them, and we can do so with very little expense, the opening of additional classes will practically mean the opening of new colleges. If we can afford to have industrial and technical colleges all over the province, the congestion will certainly be relieved, and it will also serve a very useful purpose as it will materially improve the economic situation. There has also been another suggestion made for the opening of Medical schools, and if these two projects be taken in hand, I think much of the difficulty will be removed. We have been told that we have to look to Government for all our educational needs. Although we have to depend upon Government to a great extent it cannot be said that my countrymen have failed to lend their services and to exert themselves for the advancement of education. A large number of private colleges and endowed colleges have been established and are being run in this province. Government have to afford relief first and the people will follow suit, and if Government take up the work of starting Medical and Industrial schools, I am sure my countrymen will follow suit and supplement these institutions by private ones of their own, and this will greatly remove the difficulty which is felt by us at the present moment and at the same time open new avenues of employment for our boys and it will be better than leaving them as dissatisfied and unprovided graduates of the Calcutta University."

Resolutions.

Mr. P. C. Mitter.

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"My Lord, I desire to draw the attention of the Council to a very important aspect of the question—an aspect which although well known is often overlooked in practice though not in theory both by Government and the public. In theory, the public and Government agree that the policy of increasing mere literary education should not be pursued, but in practice this has always been otherwise. My Lord, in this connection a comparison with the state of collegiate education between Bengal and Great Britain seems to be very helpful. Our population is almost equal to that of Great Britain, but according to last year's figures we have about 26,000 collegiate students in Bengal. In Great Britain last year the number of such students was 16,000—and this decrease was perhaps due to the war—but in normal times the number was equal to the Bengal number. In Bengal we have mere literary education with hardly any opening for any scientific education, and the scientific education which we have is merely confined to the theoretical side of science; whereas in Great Britain we have two dozen technical institutions and more than 20 medical institutions, and with regard to agriculture, which is not very important for Great Britain, they have about eight agricultural colleges. Then as regards mere literary education, the avenues of employment open to the young graduates of Great Britain are immeasurably superior to those which are open to the graduates of Bengal. Now if Great Britain with all its wealth and all its opportunities is content with 26,000 undergraduates, it is really surprising that my countrymen should ask for more literary education. I am glad to find that in theory they do not demand it but in practice we find that it is constantly pressed before the Council that more literary colleges should be opened. During the last few years one literary college has been established at Rangpur and another at Faridpur, and I understand that attempts have been made to establish a literary college at Bakarganj, and my hon'ble friend Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur desires to press upon Your Excellency's Government to provide funds for the opening of another literary college. I sympathise with the desire for more education, but the object is to fit these young men for useful vocations of life. It will not do either for my countrymen or for Government to express a pious desire in not pursuing a policy of mere literary education, and for that reason principally I am sorry to say I have to oppose both the resolutions. But it will not do for Government merely to remain idle on this question. I am aware that there is the Report of the University Commission which has got to be considered. The University Commission raises large questions which require large sums of money, and in the meantime unless we take certain active steps which it is possible to take without spending large sums of money, matters will become very much worse when Government will be in a position—if it ever be in a position—to carry out actively all the recommendations of the University Commission. I say it will never be in a position because the recommendations involve such large questions that I am afraid Bengal will never be in a position to meet such large expenditure. My practical suggestion, therefore, my Lord, is that in the meantime and pending action taken on the University Commission's Report, we might make more openings, with fairly modest expenditure, by the establishment of more medical schools. In this connection I desire to state that Government last year agreed to open a new medical school at Burdwan, and we are all grateful for that, and it is possible to do more. It is also possible for Government to give more facilities for workshop training, and in that connection too the Government have already provided facilities for training 50 men in the workshop at Kanchrapara, and it is urgently necessary to do more. Then on the question of agricultural education, it is possible to do something on practical lines. I am sorry to say that in a province like Bengal we have no agricultural institutions, and at the same time I am conscious of the fact that agricultural education in provinces where such institutions exist have not been very successful in the sense that the graduates or students who pass out of agricultural institutions always find it difficult to get a vocation and they have to drift either to Government service or to other vocations of life. The principal reason is that these institutions have never taken note of the existing conditions of life in our country. Our country is a country containing a mass of illiterate cultivators. It is necessary to create a link between the agricultural experts of the Government Agricultural Department and the agricultural colleges, and this can only be effected by taking note of the existing conditions of life in Bengal The whole of Bengal is parcelled out into a number of zemindaries and within these zemindaries we have zemindars' agents who exercise considerable influence. If we have some sort of institution where we can give adequate training to these men and at the same time assimilate the results of the agricultural college, I think the Agricultural Department will be able to do a lot with a minimum of expense. What can the Agricultural Department possibly do with one inspector for a district of 2,000 or 3,000 square miles or for the matter of that half a dozen?"

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"May I rise to a point of order? We are now discussing the question of the admission of students into colleges and not the question of medical or agricultural education."

The President said :—

"On that point the Hon'ble Member is perfectly entitled to put forward alternative suggestions against this resolution which he thinks preferable, such as the increase of agricultural education and so on. But I would ask the Hon'ble Member not to travel too widely over that ground, though strictly speaking he is at present in order."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said :—

"My Lord, my object was to explain matter so as to make my position more clear. I bow to Your Excellency's ruling and I will not pursue it too widely, but if the Hon'ble Member afterwards criticises my scheme as not practicable, I hope he will also remember the ruling of the chair.

My position is simply this that it will not do to wait indefinitely, and that it is urgently necessary that some active steps should be taken at once to provide for useful vocationary education."

The Hon'ble Babu Kisori Mohan Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, I think there is unanimity of opinion that arrangements should be made for more educational institutions. A large number of students are coming out successful every year in the Matriculation examination, but adequate arrangements have not been made for their accommodation either in the colleges or elsewhere. There is no doubt that it is very desirable that additional arrangements should be made for agricultural, technical and industrial education, for literary education is not enough. When this is done, the younger generation will find outlets for their energy. But because we have to wait for that that is no reason why we should stop the progress of education in the general line. We are grateful to Your Excellency for your sympathetic pronouncement made the other day at Dacca that at an early date additional arrangements would be made for the spread of medical education. There are demands for such an education, and there is need for the employment of such educated persons. It is only for Government to make additional accommodation for that education, either in the higher or lower standard. That will afford a good opening for a large number of persons, but there is one thing to be remembered even also having that in view, which is this : It is now admitted that the Matriculation standard is not up to the mark and the recommendation of the University Commission is that the I.A. or I. Sc. should be the final stage of secondary education. It is for this reason, I think, that the opening of additional classes, wherever necessary, would go a great way in helping the cause of education—medical, industrial, or agricultural. Until proper arrangements are made for the opening of agricultural colleges or schools in different centres or for industrial education at least the ground-work should be made more suitable in the existing colleges for general education to the acquisition of such technical knowledge in the future. The opening of additional classes for the I. A. or I.Sc. is not a difficult question, and, I think, Government will not have to spend too much for the purpose. An additional class for 100 students can be managed by two professors. The uniform rate of fees now is Rs. 6 a month. If two additional classes are opened for the I.A. and I.Sc., I believe three or four professors will do, and in each class there will be an income of Rs. 600, which will not only go towards the pay of the additional professors, but will also pay for hiring houses for the accommodation of students and for other needs. There might be some difficulty about hostel accommodation, but that can be arranged by hired houses. So far however as additional classes are concerned additional building accommodation might be necessary, but for that also, I think, that if arrangements be made for the holding of these additional classes, either in the morning or in the evening, the difficulty may be obviated to a certain extent. At any rate it is urgently necessary that some arrangements should be made. My Hon'ble friend Maulvi Abul Kasem thinks that if we make additional accommodation and turn out more students, we will be faced with the difficulty of providing employment for them, but the progress of education is necessary, and if for that purpose additional necessities arise, the solution is there. Mere literary education is not enough and other arrangements should be made for technical instruction. Simply because we are not in a position to provide employment for the growing numbers, that cannot be any reason why the progress of education should be stopped. Whether a committee would be of any use or not, it is for the Government to consider, but at any rate, I beg to submit, additional arrangements should be made for the progress of education which ought not to be hindered or stopped for any reason whatsoever."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq said :—

"My Lord, I would not have ventured to take part in this debate, had it not been for the fact that two of my friends, the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem and the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter have thought it fit to oppose this resolution. My friend the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter opposed this resolution with considerable warmth and vehemence, but that is perhaps my friend's usual style, and I do not think that his opposition is as keen as it apparently appears to be. My Hon'ble friend Maulvi Abul Kasem in opposing this resolution has, for the moment, forgotten the special needs and requirements of the Muhammadan community. I rise to support this resolution not merely for the sake of emphasizing the fact that the difficulties in the way of students getting admission into schools and colleges constitute a real grievance, but that these difficulties are particularly acute in the case of Muhammadan students. This year, immediately after the Matriculation results were out, I circulated a notice to the various colleges in Calcutta asking such Muhammadans as failed to get admission into the colleges to communicate with me. My object was to find out by way of a rough estimate the number of Muhammadan students who failed to secure admission in the colleges. I found from the number of students who came to see me that no less than 162 or 172—I forget the exact number, but it was considerably over 150—who communicated to me the fact that in spite of their most earnest endeavours they had not been successful in getting admission into any of the colleges in Calcutta. One can guess from this the number of Muhammadan boy students who have failed to get admission, and from that an idea can be gained of the number of students who have to give up their studies for want of accommodation in existing colleges. The question, therefore, arises, and it is an admitted fact, that the present accommodation in colleges happens to be insufficient—whether the failure of the students in getting admission into colleges is to be considered a curse or a blessing.

Two of my Hon'ble friends who have opposed this resolution have in a manner indicated that they look upon this fact as a blessing to the country, and that for a country like India where the people refuse to take to technical education or to any kind of education other than mere literary education, it is something of a God-send that the doors of colleges are shut upon the students; that if not from inclination at least from necessity, our countrymen will be driven to qualify themselves not as mere B.A.'s or M.A.'s but as experts in craftsmanship if they take up careers other than those which are open to men who have received a mere literary education. I admit that there is some force in these arguments and something to be said for the view that has been put forward, but I ask my Hon'ble friends whether, before any student takes to technical education, it is not necessary that he should receive a certain amount of general literary education in order to enable him to take advantage of the education imparted in technical institutions in this country. My Lord, Mr. Mitter has told us that there are 26,000 under-graduates in England—about the same number that there are at the present moment in Bengal—and he asks us to consider whether it is proper that we should ask for more colleges when the people of the United Kingdom do not, in spite of the fact that the number of under-graduates there practically equals the number of under-graduates in this country. I am not prepared to discuss the statistics with my friend, Mr. Mitter, nor do I think I am called upon to consider whether in looking at the figures he has not made any mistake, but I take the figures as he has quoted them; but I would ask him to consider that although the number may be 26,000, or rather more, those of the students in that country who go to technical institutions are really equipped with a much larger amount of literary knowledge than most of the under-graduates in this country. What I mean, my Lord, is this: that although a man in the United Kingdom may not have been able to enter any of the colleges, still he possesses, for reasons I need not discuss, a fund of general knowledge which enables him to follow the education given in technical institutions better than any student in this country. We all know the scant education which matriculates in this country get, and unless a student has attained a standard which we call the I.A. standard he cannot be called fit to enter the medical profession or go to any of the technical institutions that at present exist in this country. The point I would like to emphasise is this: that before we can insist upon technical education, if technical institutions are started all over the country, some amount of literary education should also be given to the pupils and that the present system of shutting out a large number of students should be stopped. As regards the Muhammadan students I would remind the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem that he also joined me in my prayer to Your Excellency's Government for another Muhammadan Arts College in Calcutta; my friend corrects me by saying he has always supported my prayer for one more Muhammadan Arts College in Calcutta. Well, let it be one more

Mr. Dunn.

Muhammadan Arts College, that is to say, to find an outlet for about 300 or 400 students. If we were justified in asking Government to let us have a college for 300 or 400 students, how does my friend justify his attitude in opposing these two resolutions which are of a general character and which will bring relief not only to Hindu students but also to Muhammadan students. On behalf of the students of my community, as well as in the wider interest of the student community in general, I beg to accord my hearty support to this resolution."

The Hon'ble Mr. Dunn said :—

"My Lord, the first of these resolutions asks that additional sections should be opened in Government colleges in order to provide for those matriculates who have not been able to get admission into colleges in Bengal. The second resolution asks that a committee of inquiry should be appointed to examine the general question of the admission of successful matriculates into colleges. The first two speakers will not, I hope, expect me to deal with all the details which they have raised in their remarks. The other speakers have raised large and important issues which I cannot possibly deal with at this stage, but I would like now to refer the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter to the proceedings of the last Council meeting at Dacca in which the establishment of an agricultural institution was stated to be under the consideration of Government.

So far as the two resolutions are concerned there is the underlying assumption that there is no adequate provision in colleges in Bengal for the number of boys who leave high schools and are successful in the Matriculation examination. That is the underlying assumption, and the first resolution asks that we should proceed to open additional classes in Government colleges, in order to meet what is a general demand. Now, if the very sombre picture which the first two speakers have painted is an accurate one, it would be obviously impossible to meet the large general demand by opening additional sections in the classes in the comparatively small number of Government institutions. But what are the facts for the whole of Bengal? The specific question which has been raised by various speakers deals with certain areas and with certain localities. We must look at this problem as a whole and the facts are as follows :—

In the year 1918 the number of boys who passed the Matriculation examination successfully was 7,758. I find that at the end of the academic year 1918-19, that is, after a period during which successful matriculates are admitted into colleges, the number of 1st-year students in colleges, Government and private, was no less than 6,108, and the number reading in certain special institutions was no less than 830, giving a total of 6,938. It is a simple calculation, resulting in the astonishing fact that no less than 90 per cent. of our successful matriculates are accommodated in some form of a collegiate institution or other. If it is necessary to give these figures for the I.A. and I. Sc. students, I wish to state that the number of those boys who passed their Intermediate examination was 3,658 and the number of students who joined the 3rd-year class after that examination was 2,396, again giving a percentage of 90 per cent. of the boys who are actually accommodated in institutions. Now, these figures appear to be very convincing, and, I think, they are convincing. But what about Government institutions? I take it the first two speakers have this specially in their mind. The facts for these institutions are as follows : in Government colleges there were 1,814 applications for admission; of that number no less than 1,617 were admitted. I speak now of matriculates and I would like to point out to the gentlemen who have spoken in favour of these two resolutions that there are at present in the Krishnagar College no less than 48 vacancies in the 1st-year. Those rejected were 797. From the percentages which I have given it would appear that the majority of those boys have found accommodation in other colleges. I do not regard it as at all serious that not more than 10 per cent. among all these boys did not desire to prosecute their studies as many of them seek employment immediately after leaving school. It is perfectly obvious that there must be competition for places in the best colleges of Bengal. That competition exists in Europe, to which frequent references have been made by various speakers. Boys whose parents desire their admission in public schools have their names entered before they leave preparatory schools and the necessity of early application does not end there. It will be impossible for the Government of Bengal to provide such college accommodation as would meet all classes of application. But, as I have already pointed out, from the general figures, those boys who do not get admission into Government colleges are able to get admission elsewhere. If we are to proceed to open additional sections in classes in Government institutions to meet what is called an immediate demand it would involve the Education Department in large building operations and in the addition of an extra staff and the demand would be one increasing as a recurring series from year to year. I would like, however, to refer to what is perhaps at the root of these complaints. It is unquestionably the case that boys who wish to secure admission into colleges have to leave their homes and in many cases go to alien districts amongst alien people. That difficulty it is very hard to see how to overcome, but I would refer to the Calcutta University Commission's Report in which there is foreshadowed a system whereby intermediate instruction will be provided nearer the homes of boys in districts of Bengal. More than that I need not say at this stage.

Resolution.

In conclusion, Sir, I do not consider that it is practical or even necessary that we should attempt to open special classes in Government high schools at this time, nor do I think it is advisable to have a committee to inquire into this matter. The Calcutta University Commission's Report will give rise to as many committees as the energy of the Education Department will be able to undertake and it is certain that these questions will be further examined in the process of that inquiry. For these reasons I do not see my way to support either of these resolutions."

The Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said :—

"My Lord, after the Hon'ble Mr. Dunn's presentation of the figures very little will be necessary by way of opposition to the resolution, but as representing the University I feel I ought to claim, and I claim emphatically, that the University has never been unmindful of the necessities of the situation. In a manner it is as well that these resolutions have been moved and the complaints answered, but one fails to understand how a resolution like this, and in this Council, could sufficiently meet the situation, if there is anything to be done. It is not a question of Government colleges alone—a large number of our colleges are private institutions and, therefore, nothing that Your Excellency's Government might do by way of appointing a committee or otherwise would touch the situation. I am exceedingly glad that the figures for last year have been collected and placed before the Council. What the University had been uniformly doing, when I was in charge of it, and I think is doing still, is to prepare a weekly statement during the season of admission of students and to communicate with different colleges asking them for statements of vacancies in the different subjects in which they are affiliated. From these statements an abstract is prepared and placed on the notice board outside the Senate House indicating where vacancies and in what subjects were available. I agree with Mr. Dunn, and nobody can fail to agree with him. that we cannot expect to have a college for teaching every subject for which a student has a particular fancy. The difficulty will probably pass away when the new order of things comes into existence, but the difficulty so far has been that students do not always choose subjects according to their capability, but according to their fancy. That is one difficulty, and the other difficulty which is not generally known but which, I think, must frankly and definitely be stated, is that our students sometimes apply to as many as three colleges for admission at once, the Presidency College being, of course. the favourite. I can understand their trend of mind for entering the Presidency College as it was my own college. After the Presidency College they would apply to the Scottish Churches College as a second string and probably to the Ripon or Metropalitan or Bangabasi College as a third string. Well, that probably accounts for the residum which Mr. Dunn has not been able to account for. leaving alone the medical institutions which absorb a considerable proportion of our matriculates. The University does all it can to accommodate those who have matriculated, and from that point of view the arrangement described above was undertaken and we could always tell students where a vacancy was. But this is a matter which no one can control. That being made quite clear, I do not think that the University can be blamed in the way the Hon'ble Babu Siv Narayan Mukharji attempted to do, because it has never been unmindful of the situation. I will not speak of the fees and the post-graduate studies now. Calcutta is fairly full of them, but I may say that unless we have a good strong post-graduate class neither primary nor secondary education can be improved. for you require a large number of teachers who must be trained in the post-graduate and also in training colleges which Your Excellency's Government are providing. As regards the question of fees, there again the matter seems delicate and unnecessary to this Council at the present time. But I would ask Members carefully to consider. before altogether condemning the scheme, the other side of the question too. I do not wish, however, to be drawn into the discussion whether it is advisable to have 26,000 graduates here as in Great Britain as the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter has pointed out. The Hon'ble Mr. Fazl-ul-Haq has also pointed out that without some general education our boys cannot be given any particular technical education, agricultural, commercial, medical. etc., but I do net wish to enter into that controversy here. It is, of course, well known that English young men do not generally think of a University career in the way that our boys do here."

Resolutions.

Rai M. C. Mitra Bahadur.

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, when I put this resolution before the Council I was labouring under the impression that the resolution will meet with the approval of the Government. I find that my resolution has touched on points which are not relevant to the question at issue I have brought to the notice of the Council that in Government colleges a large number of successful students are not admitted and, therefore, some sort of accommodation ought to be given to them. I find that a discussion has been made as regards encouragement of education in industrial and agricultural schools. I have submitted already in my speech that these are large questions and if there would have been agricultural and industrial schools in existence at this time probably I would not have come to the Council with a resolution like this. We have got the recommendations of the Calcutta University Commissioners and we look to the day when their recommendations will be accepted by this Government and the Supreme Government, with modification but how is the difficulty to be solved at the present moment? If there had been agricultural institutions these students might have been admitted into them, so, with regard to industrial institutions, if they were in existence students would have been admitted into them. But granted that there are no industrial schools or agricultural schools, should not facilities be given to the students to get admission into Government colleges? That is a question which the Hon'ble Members would have to consider. As a matter of fact, it cannot be denied that these students do not get admission in Government colleges and my proposition before the Council is that they ought to get admission. Suppose there is a Government college in a distant station and suppose 80 boys are refused admission in that college, are we to be told by Government that they must find accommodation elsewhere, in Calcutta and in private colleges? It is for the Hon'ble Members of the Council to consider the difficulty in which students are placed. I do not like to discuss the question of the encouragement or discouragement of literary education or the encouragement or discouragement of industrial or agricultural education. I have nothing to do with that at present. I submit for the consideration of the Hon'ble Members that Government ought to give facilities to the students who have not been admitted into Government colleges and that it is the only point which I submit for discussion and consideration of the Members. My proposition is a very comprehensive one. I have taken into consideration the claims of the Muhammadan students, the claims of the Hindu students, and there is one united voice in the mufassal that these students ought to be accommodated in Government colleges. As I submitted to Your Excellency when moving the resolution that statistics have not been supplied to me when I put a question to the Council but whether the number is small or great, the question is whether the Government or the Educational authorities are in a position to incur expenditure for the benefit of these students? I am told by the Government Member in charge that no additional classes are to be opened in the Government colleges. What will these students do? Are they to run about in the street or are they to sit idle? That is a question which the Hon'ble Members will have to consider. The difficulties are very great: I speak on behalf of the mufassal students in this Council. I dwell upon the result of inquiries that great difficulties are felt by them. My Lord, I do not think it necessary further to discuss the question in the Council. I know very well that the Hon'ble Members—both official and non-official—will consider the practical difficulties in which these students are placed. My Lord, I have nothing more to say. I hope that the Hon'ble Members will kindly consider the resolution which I have put forward before them deliberately and advisedly.

Resolutions.

Babu S. N. Ray.

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray said:—

"My Lord, after hearing Mr. Dunn that about 90 per cent. of the matriculates get admission in the 1st-year class of the colleges, whether private or Government, and that about 90 per cent. of the boys who pass the Intermediate examination in Arts get admission in the B.A. classes, I do not think it proper to take up unnecessarily Your Excellency's time. But there is one fact which I ought to mention and which has been represented to me by my Hon'ble friend Maulvi Aman Ali, and it is known to Your Excellency personally, and it is this: He collected certain figures when Your Lordship had been to Chittagong and he represented to Your Lordship that about 20 Hindu boys and about 60 Muhammadan boys could not get admission in the Chittagong College. That shows the necessity of opening additional sections in the Chittagong College, because, so far as I am aware, boys from other districts will not go to Chittagong for their education, and it is the Chittagong boys who have not got sufficient accommodation in the college of their own division. If proper inquiry be made it will be found that this is the case in all the divisions, that there is need for giving greater facilities to students to get admission in Colleges. But after hearing Mr. Dunn I do not think it proper to press my resolution.

Motion No. 6 was then put and lost.

Motion No. 7 was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 8.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved the following resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that out of the educational grants provided in the current year's Budget, a sum of Rs. 50,000 be granted to the promoters of the proposed Howrah College for the purpose of building the college.

He said :—

"I am grateful to Your Excellency for permitting me to move this resolution.

We have had a long and very interesting debate on the question of accommodation in Government colleges and its extension in different colleges. This resolution, I am sure, whatever has been the fate of the other resolutions, stands on a different footing. Here, a number of gentlemen have started the idea of establishing an intermediate college which may fitly be described as a high school, according to the standard laid down in the University Commission's report, in the district of Howrah. My Lord, they have collected a certain sum of money, and they have also got the approbation of the University of Calcutta. What they want is a decent house. I believe Government are helping them in the matter by asking the educational officers to assist them in finding a suitable house. I do not know whether they have been able to find one yet, but all that is required is money, and the modest request I make is that Rs. 50,000 be granted to them to supplement their resources for a college building. My Lord, I do not think that my Hon'ble friend, Mr. P. C. Mitter, who casually referred to my resolution, will think that my resolution in any way affects the general question whether education should be diverted in other directions, namely, agricultural and industrial. But unfortunately no practical step has yet been taken in that direction, although I am glad to hear from the Hon'ble Mr. Dunn that the matter is now under the consideration of Government so far as the establishment of an agricultural institution is concerned. My Lord, this college will teach up to the I. A. standard of the Calcutta University, and I believe it is admitted by everyone present that for the purpose of giving a fair general education, the I. A. standard is possibly the minimum standard that can be insisted upon. The student who seeks admission in the Calcutta Medical College or in the Sibpur Engineering College must pass the I. A. standard or the I. Sc. standard of the Calcutta University, and therefore, I think, it will be admitted that it is not an institution intended merely to manufacture B. A's and M. A's of the Calcutta University. It is an institution which is intended to impart a general education to the boys of the district of Howrah. Howrah is a very big area, it is a very big place, and is a matter of surprise that it has not got a single college of its own. The people are trying to get a college and what they want is a little help from Government. I hope that this help will not be denied to them.

As regards the sum of Rs. 50,000, I find in the Budget no less than Rs. 97 lakhs is budgetted for expenditure under "Education". My Lord, I am sure

Resolutions.

Mr. P. C. Mitter; Mr. Goode.

if Your Excellency's Government be pleased to make this grant, this money can be found from the savings of the items which are included in the Budget. In fact, I find that there is an item of Rs. 12 lakhs, and I am sure the whole of the money will not be spent this year. There will be considerable savings and Rs. 50,000 is such an insignificant amount compared with Rs. 97 lakhs, that I feel sure Your Excellency's Government will be able to spare that sum. I do not wish to take up the time of the Council by making further observations on the subject. It is merely an appeal for a little dole on behalf of the people of Howrah, and I hope Your Excellency will see your way to accept this resolution."

The Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter said:—

"My Lord, the general aspect of the question has been fully discussed, but my hon'ble friend Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur feels that his resolution does not touch so much the general aspect of the question of literary education as against non-literary education. There is one point which apparently he has overlooked. If you take away a certain sum of money and apply the same to the promotion of literary education then to that extent the promotion of non-literary education will be made difficult. Bengal can afford a certain sum of money for education generally. Well, if you commit yourself to a policy of extension of literary education, it means that at present if Government make a grant of Rs. 50,000 and the people subscribe a further sum of money, then between Government and the people more money will be spent for years to come, and to that extent if the Government and the people should combine in the future for the extension of non-literary education that money will not be available. I would ask my hon'ble friend Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur to consider this aspect of the question, and may I just throw out a suggestion for whatever it is worth to my hon'ble friend and the people of Howrah? I understand that they have raised a certain amount of money. Last year the objection to having a medical school at Howrah was the congestion of student population there. Well, if you are going to have another literary college there it will mean more congestion. Can they not now divert the money to a more useful purpose?

One word more, my Lord, and I am done. It seems, as the general aspect of the question has some bearing on the point, that I have been considerably misunderstood. My plea was never a plea for retarding education. I would want education to advance, but you cannot advance education in spite of what the Hon'ble Sir Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari has said, if you confine the activities to one individual aspect of the educational problem, and the reason why I quoted figures for Great Britain was this: that in Great Britain where there are so many openings, the total figure was only 26,000, and here in Bengal we have the same figure with only one opening, namely, the literary line. I also agree with Sir Deba Prasad that the day is not very distant when we will be able to provide these 26,000 students with suitable vocations of life, but that end can never be achieved unless we make our educational activities more elastic."

The Hon'ble Mr. Goode said:—

"My Lord, in replying to the motion of the Hon'ble Member I do not propose to criticize his resolution upon its merits, but I wish to suggest that it is not practicable to deal with his proposal in this Council. It will be desirable very briefly to recapitulate the history of the proceedings which led to this resolution.

The Rai Bahadur has stated that a committee of Howrah gentlemen recently moved the University of Calcutta for permission to found a second grade college in Howrah. The University after having enquiries made by two members of the Syndicate approved affiliation and forwarded the proposal to Your Excellency in your capacity as Rector of the University. On a study of the papers Your Excellency was of opinion that the proposal which was made for the accommodation of the college and the financial arrangements were unsatisfactory, and you therefore suggested to the Government of India that further assurances in regard to these two matters should be required. The Government of India thereupon in exercise of their powers under the Universities Act requested that Your Excellency as Rector should appoint some educationalist to make an enquiry into the question of the accommodation and the financial merits of the proposal. Mr. Barrow, Principal of the Presidency College, was deputed to make that enquiry, and he did so in company with some of the members of the original committee. He reported that the house in which it was proposed to accommodate this college was quite inadequate and also that the financial stability of the new institution was by no means assured. The Government of India upon receiving his report decided that the affiliation recommended by the University should not be granted.

Now, the Hon'ble Rai Bahadur has taken upon himself to make in this Council an application which I suggest would much more properly come from the Governing Body of the proposed college. It is for that Governing Body which has been provisionally formed either to move the University or the Local Government for some contribution towards the establishment of the college they desire. I may state for the information of the Hon'ble Rai Bahadur that Government has every sympathy with this proposal on its merits. We recognize that in the near future we may be obliged in putting into execution the University Commission's report, to found many intermediate colleges throughout Bengal, and we recognize that the foundation of an endowed college at the Howrah district headquarters will be a most sound and desirable undertaking. I need not inform the Hon'ble Member that by intermediate college, I mean the same thing as he means by second grade colleges. I think, therefore, that the Hon'ble Member would be well advised to withdraw his resolution and to desire the Governing Body to approach Government for a grant which they require to establish this college. If Government is satisfied that their financial position will be sound, I think I can assure the Hon'ble Member that Government will deal with any proposal emanating from the Governing Body in a most sympathetic manner. We know from his resolution that the Governing Body of the proposed college now propose to make a new building. I understand that Rs. 40,000 has already been deposited in securities with the District Magistrate of Howrah, and that there is some hope of obtaining another Rs. 40,000 as a private benefaction. If that is so, the Governing Body have Rs. 80,000 in their hands with which to start their new venture. Now, if they approach the Government of Bengal with a sound and businesslike statement and show clearly that they are able to house in an adequate and satisfactory manner the new institution they propose to found, provided that the Government of Bengal will supplement their Rs. 80,000 by half a lakh, then, I think, on behalf of Government, without committing Government by any definite promise, I can at least assure the Hon'ble Member that any such proposal will receive very sympathetic consideration from Government. In this view of the case I hope that the Hon'ble Member will be prepared to withdraw his resolution."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I have listened with great interest to the speech of Mr. Goode and I may say that I am very grateful to Mr. Goode and the Government for the very sympathetic reply that has been given to me. After what has fallen from him, I do not think it necessary to press my resolution, in fact

Resolutions.

Rai R. C. Pal Bahadur.

I think I will do a distinct service to the people of Howrah by withdrawing the resolution at this stage. But I think it necessary to offer a few observations or rather explanations. I quite appreciate the fact that an application should come from the Governing Body, but my Lord, this resolution was not an inspiration that has come to me from the Most High, but an inspiration from some persons who are interested in it. And without explaining in further detail, I believe the Governing Body is also glad that I should put this matter before Your Excellency's Government. My Lord, I hope the Government will also kindly take into consideration this fact, that the people of Howrah have proceeded in a true business like way and in a spirit of self-help. They have raised Rs. 40,000 and further expect to raise another Rs. 40,000, and as far as I am able to follow Government will consider their case very sympathetically.

Now, my Lord, before I sit down I would like to make one or two observations with reference to the remarks of my Hon'ble friend, Mr. P. C. Mitter, who has been very active to-day in some of his speeches. He has said in this particular instance that a certain sum of money will be diverted from its proper channel, that is, for the promotion of what he calls 'literary education' I might explain here, my Lord that the establishment of second grade colleges is not intended for the manufacture of B.A.'s and M.A.'s or lawyers like my friend Mr. P. C. Mitter. The other day on behalf of a brilliant student of the Calcutta University, who has passed the Matriculation examination in the first division, I approached a distinguished member of this Council, and a great friend of ours, who is interested in the development of industrial education. This boy wished to take up the industrial line. and he was told by the Principal of the Sibpur Engineering College that he would not get anything higher than the post of an Overseer in his College unless he got a degree from the University of either B.A. or the I.Sc. Here is a boy—a very brilliant boy—who has stood very high in the examination of the Calcutta University cannot get admission into the higher classes of engineering because he has not passed the I.A. Does my friend mean to say that boys like this should simply be content with the posts of Overseers to look after the steam-rollers of the city and earn Rs. 30 to Rs. 40. a month. I do not think that the 10,000 matriculates will be content with such a situation, with merely looking after the steam-rollers of the mufassal or the city.

Then, my Lord, my friend has so eloquently spoken about the diversion of money to literary education. May I draw my friend's attention to what he has done in his own district at Bhowanipore. About two years ago how could my friend conveniently forget the importance of industrial education and promote the foundation of another college for literary education. I know that the people who come from Bhowanipur are rich people—they get the bulk of the loot from the High Court and they have not to come up to Government for doles ; they establish colleges out of their own money. Why did they not then establish an agricultural or industrial institution? Perhaps the thought of retaining the reputation of Bhowanipore for producing the best lawyers was uppermost in their minds at the time."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 9.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur moved the following resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that an expert in town-planning be appointed as the Chairman of the Calcutta Improvement

Trust when that office becomes vacant in consequence of the grant of any leave to, or on the retirement of, the present incumbent.

He said :—

" My Lord, I am again grateful to Your Excellency for allowing me to move this motion ; it was to have been moved at the last meeting of the Council. It is well known to Your Excellency as well as to the Hon'ble Members of this Council that the Improvement Trust has been in existence for the last 7 years. When the Improvement Trust was started a non-technical man in the person of Mr. Bompas was appointed at the head of the Trust. I think it was necessary at the beginning for the proper organization of the administration of the Trust, to put it on a working basis, and to give it a good start, that an able and efficient officer should be placed at the head of it, and Mr. Bompas, it must be said, was very fitly selected as the proper man for the post. He has organized the administration and it is now in working order. At the same time, my Lord, I think, from my own personal knowledge of the affairs of the Trust for some 7 years, that the time has now come when we should have a technical man at the head of the Trust. My Lord, from my very close association with the affairs of the Trust, and with due deference to the views which may be expressed by others who may say that there is not much work for a non-technical man as the head of the Trust, at present there is more work for a technical man as the head of the Trust than for a non-technical man. I believe, my Lord, that at the present time it would be a great advantage to the city if a technical man with expert knowledge is appointed as the head of the Trust. My Lord, for the last 18 months or more, the Trust has not got their Chief Valuer, their Chief Engineer, and practically the work is being carried out by the Chairman of the Trust, who has combined in himself the functions of the Chief Surveyor, Chief Valuer and Chief Engineer. There are no doubt capable assistants under him who have been trained so far as the valuation of the Survey Department is concerned.

My Lord, I might have my quarrels with Mr. Shrosbree, but I think it is bare justice to mention that a more capable man had not come to the Trust. He has left the department thoroughly organized and thoroughly equipped with a trained body of men—all of them Indians—who have been trained under him and are doing the work very well and efficiently under the guidance of the present Chairman. Then again, the Chief Engineer has also retired from the Trust and in his place we have got a Deputy Engineer who is doing the work fairly well. My Lord, I think that the time has come, now that the Chairman is going to retire, to consider whether an expert town-planner should not be appointed in his place. I may say at once that I am not asking for an Indian to be appointed for such a man could not be at present found amongst Indians. Far from it, I think an expert town-planner, if appointed, should be an Englishman and I am sure we can get such a man from England. I do not think, however, that such a man could be got in this country. Objections may be raised that such a man may lack administrative capacity. My Lord, I pay most heartily my tribute of respectful admiration to the members of the Indian Civil Service for the many eminent works that they have done in different capacities in India. But, my Lord, I think I may say without any disrespect to the members of that eminently glorious service that administrative efficiency is not the monopoly of that Service alone. I remember when the question of the Governorship of this Presidency was mooted, the members of this Service claimed that a Governor could not do so well coming from a foreign land unacquainted with the highways and byeways of the province as a senior member of their Service who would do much better than a Governor imported from home. But, my Lord, what has really happened ? The Governors who have come out belong to a noble race and they have since adapted themselves to the new situation with great credit to themselves. My Lord, I hope there will be no such feeling with regard to this matter. In the Trust itself we had Mr. Finnimore, an Engineer, as a Chairman for about 8 months and no one will dispute that he performed the administrative part of the work quite efficiently and to the satisfaction of both the Government and the Trust. Let us take the railways. This important department is administered by officers who are not members of the Civil Service. The Education Department also is administered by a member of the Educational Service. In the Police even, although there have been civilian heads in the past, the department is now run by a member of the Police Service. The Commissioner of Police who is at the head of a vast organization is not a member of the Civil Service. So I think that the capacity to administer affairs efficiently is not confined to the members of the Civil Service alone. In England, in Canada, and even in Bombay, they have got an expert town-planner at the head of such affairs and they do not belong to the Civil Service. I am only trying to show by citing these facts that it is not essential for the proper administration of the Trust that a member of the Civil Service should be appointed. I am not against the members of the Civil Service at all; they might have been necessary at the beginning, but the time has now come when an expert should be appointed at the head of the Trust.

Resolutions.

Raja Hrishikesh Laha.

There is another advantage in appointing an expert. He may come more into touch with the members of the Board and his views may go to the Local Government direct and in an undiluted form. If such a man is appointed there will be economy also in the establishment. We are now paying Rs. 4,000 a month to the Chairman, Rs. 3,500 to the Chief Valuer and Rs. 2,500 to the Chief Engineer, but if at least two of these posts are amalgamated there will be a considerable saving in the expenditure. In the Port Trust, although we have an honorary Chairman, the whole administration is conducted by a technical officer who is called the Vice-Chairman. So, if there is a nominal official Chairman and an expert town-planner as his deputy I shall be quite content, but I cannot urge it having regard to the existing provisions of the law. I have just mentioned the Port Trust system only to strenghthen my argument and to show that a big organization can be run by a man who is not a member of the Civil Service. My Lord, I do not want to say anything further on the subject, but I earnestly hope that this will be considered, and even if a member of the Civil Service is to be appointed in Mr. Bompas's place I pray that he may not be a Land Acquisition Collector of the Trust as is rumoured. Public confidence will at once be shaken in that case and I hope that such an arrangement will not be made."

The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha said :—

"My Lord, I am sorry I cannot support the resolution moved by my Hon'ble friend, Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur. His proposal is to appoint an expert in town-planning to fill up the Chair of the Calcutta Improvement Trust to be rendered vacant by the retirement of the present Chairman. In my opinion he has taken a very narrow view of the duties which the Chairman is called upon to perform. His duties are multifarious, and above all he must possess administrative capacity of a high order with financial experience in order to guide, direct and instruct his subordinates, so that the work may go on smoothly without any waste of public money. He has also to see that no money is squandered away in useless or unnecessary schemes, and that there is no lack of check or discipline among his subordinate officers. An expert in town-planning may have some of the above qualifications, but he will be, as a rule, very deficient in finance. and in these troublesome times it would be dangerous to appoint a man who is devoid of experience, both in administrative and financial works. If what is stated by Raymond Unwins in his 'Town Planning in Practice' be correct that 'for the roads in a town to satisfy their primary function of highways, they must be so designed as to provide generally for easy access from any point in the town to any other', the present Chairman, though not a town-planner, has, with the advice of his expert subordinates, done remarkably well, and though he has favoured the southern quarter of the city more than the northern, nobody can deny that Bhowanipore has been greatly improved, and the roads that have been opened are real works of public utility. If the Chairman has a difficult problem to solve in regard to any scheme, he can very well engage the services of a town-planner for a time just as the Calcutta Corporation did in the case of the Burrabazar scheme.

From the Annual Report of the Calcutta Improvement Trust for the year 1917-18, it will be seen that there are schemes for thirty proposed public streets awaiting execution, which will probably take about 10 years to complete, so that the present Chairman, by his foresight and prudence, has anticipated the requirements of the town and left very little for a town-planner to do. In fact, his occupation is gone. If my friend says that Burrabazar is not yet improved, I should say that a Sub-Committee is considering the matter and they have the opinion of Mr. Geddes for their guidance. Of course, there are the further reclamation of slums and the building of houses for the poor Bhadralog and working classes, which could very well be done by the Chief Engineer of the Trust in consultation with the City Architect of the Calcutta Corporation, and I have no doubt that the housing problem which is inseparably connected with good roads and means of locomotion, would be solved by them without much difficulty and without the help of any other expert. We must remember that the Chairman's responsibility is very great, and that responsibility cannot be satisfactorily discharged by his simply being an expert in town-plaining. For these reasons, I oppose this resolution."

The Hon'ble Sir Rajendra Nath Mookerjee said :—

"My Lord, I beg to oppose the motion. I will only say a few words giving my reasons why I am doing so. Only a few days ago my Hon'ble friend moved a resolution of a similar nature at a meeting of the Improvement Trust ; he failed to get a supporter there and in the opinion of the full Board of the Trust a town-planning expert was not thought to be a proper person to be appointed as the head of the Trust. The resolution is very clearly worded, but I am sorry to say that after his vehement speech against the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter, the Hon'ble Mover got confused and forgot the main issue. He first said that the Port Trust Vice-Chairman was a technical man. That is not so. He was a member of the Port Trust and he should have known it. Then he said that the post of the Chief Engineer and the Chairman of the Trust may be combined. Generally a town-planner is not an engineer. The work of an Engineer in the Trust is of a very difficult nature which cannot be done by a town-planner with his elementary knowledge of engineering. Again, he said that Mr. Shrosbree trained a number of Indians and he expressed his admiration for him for doing so. If the work can be done by the men trained by Mr. Shrosbree then it is obvious that a town-planner is not now necessary. He also said that a town-planner is now more necessary than at the commencement of the work as at the beginning of the work the department had to be organized and, therefore, a civilian was necessary. But I think that if a town-planner was at all necessary it was necessary at the earlier stage. Your Excellency's Government are aware that almost all the important schemes were framed and Government sanction obtained, but the work could not be fully carried on owing to the difficulty of getting materials

Resolutions.

Rai D. C. Ghose Bahadur.

during war time. The work has now progressed far, and in connection with the few remaining important roads the Collector is busily engaged in the acquisition of lands. Therefore, it is evident that it is not at this stage we want a town-planner.

The work of the Chairman of the Trust, as the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha has pointed out is of a multifarious nature. He has not only to preside over meetings, attend sub-committee meetings, land committee meetings in which co-opted members are often taken and where conflicting interests are decided, but he has to see that the money of the Trust is not kept idle and that the work of the Trust does not suffer for want of funds. He has also to keep a vigilant eye on the work of Revenue collection and he has to supervise the outdoor work and inspect in the morning three times a week. All this shows that the Chairman of the Improvement Trust should be a man of great tact and of wide Indian administrative experience. I admit that at the earlier stages of the work a town-planner would have been a most valuable adjunct but at this stage he is not necessary. The Hon'ble mover has said that he has considerable experience of the Trust as he has been associated with it from the very beginning. But there are others too who can claim the same experience, and in their opinion this is not the proper time to appoint a town planner at the head of the Trust. I am also constrained to say that experts generally lack business and administrative qualifications. They are more or less faddists but they can do their part of the work very well. All these facts will not justify us to ask Government to appoint a town-planner. Long before the Hon'ble mover sent notice of his resolution there was a rumour that Government was going to get a town-planner from England for the Trust and I believe my Hon'ble friend got his inspiration from that rumour for moving this resolution. I venture to think, however, that Government would be making a mistake if at this stage they bring out a town-planner to carry on the onerous duties of the Chairman of the Trust. If an elderly man from England has to do the outdoor inspection work three times a week during hot summer months he will break down completely in a very short time, and the efficient machinery of the Trust will also suffer in consequence. I, therefore, oppose the motion."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, after what has fallen from the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha and Sir Rajendra Nath Mookerjee, for me to say something on this matter would be slaying the slain. I am opposed to the motion of the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur. Three gentlemen out of the eleven who play the game of the Trust have had their say I am only an outsider who only watches the game and for that reason I am entitled to say something in this matter. I quite understand that this appointment of the Chairman of the Trust is not to be reserved for the Civil Service under the statute and that because a member of the Civil Service has filled that office for some 6 or 7 years, therefore, his successor should not be one of that Service; not necessarily so. In addition to the reasons given by two preceding speakers I should say that I have felt that in discharging the duties of the office of the Chairman of the Improvement Trust that gentleman has to do certain judicial duties, not that he has to pass judgment under the Civil Procedure Code or the Criminal Procedure Code, but he has to apply a judicial mind and decide matters in which, of course, he can express his opinion this way or that way. If he makes any mistake it becomes a grievous wrong to the party affected. Therefore, I am of opinion that a person who is trained as a town-planner is not always the best person to fill such a post. A town-planner might have had his use in the early part of the operations of the Trust or before the actual work of the Trust commenced, and as it has been said a town-planner may be requisitioned occasionally as it was done in the matter of the Barabazar scheme. Therefore, there are many things in which a gentleman who is not trained in administrative business and who is not familiar with the lives and conditions of the people would be unsuited for such an office. I do not mean to say that the Civil Service is a perfect service, they also have their limitations; they also have to learn, but they know how to learn and always generally with a view to singleness of purpose and that is for the good of the people. If you get out a town-planner as has been suggested by my friend the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal from Europe, it is just possible that he might be an adventurer, and I would not trust the affairs of this city as regards its improvement in his hands. Then, Sir, a suggestion has been made that whoever may be appointed, let it not be one of the Land Acquisition Collectors. I am sorry that my friend the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal permitted himself to make an observation of this kind. If it is to be understood that the only member of the Civil Service who is a Land Acquisition Collector,—the other being a member of the Subordinate Service,—is not a desirable person for such an office, I think I ought to say that I have heard from all accounts that that gentleman has a universally good reputation for his work and service from the time that he was at Faridpur, latterly when he was in the 24-Parganas and now that he is in the town of Calcutta, he has an eminently judicial mind, is anxious to do justice and is just the man for work of this kind. Something has been said as regards the professional engineering aspect of the Trust. I am sorry that I cannot speak very highly of the result of the engineering work of the Improvement Trust. I am entitled to say that because there has been lately a discussion on the way in which the drainage work of scheme No. 5, which covered part of Bhowanipore, and part of Ballygunge, has been done. There was an admission on the part of the Chairman of the Trust, a very tardy admission, that the work has been defective; they are sewage works, they have been defective in as much as they do not fit in with the scheme of drainage work of the Corporation of Calcutta, and not only are they not in accordance with that scheme, but it would require hand flushing for the purpose of removing the dirt and filth of that part of the town. Well, if this is the work of the engineers of the Improvement Trust, if they did not know their business, they might have asked for assistance from the Calcutta Corporation to help them in the matter of drainage works. And the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas must certainly share in the responsibility for this defective engineering work; after all, there might be some failures in certain proceedings. But, taken as a whole, I think he has shown sufficient energy, sufficient intelligent attention to the work to justify his appointment—at least it will not serve as a bar for any other member of the Civil Service to fill the post as his successor."

Resolutions.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

The Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord. I must candidly confess that the discussion on this resolution has been most instructive to the Government for two reasons. In the first place it has brought out very clearly that the Hon'ble Mover of this resolution has met with the same fate here as he did when he moved a similar resolution in the Calcutta Improvement Trust, viz., that he has not had a single supporter to his idea. Secondly, it has been brought to the notice of Government that gentlemen who are on the Body of the Trust as well as outside it, like Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur do not consider that an expert or a man with technical knowledge, to use the Rai Bahadur Radha Charan Pal's phraseology, is essential for the post of the President of the Trust. I do not, of course, propose to argue or follow the arguments that have been brought forward by the Rai Bahadur about appointing to the Trust, men from other services than the Indian Civil Service. All that it is my business to say to-day is that in the first place, Government did very carefully consider when it was brought to the notice of the Government that Mr. Bompas was about to leave, as to whether or not the services of a town-planning expert with some administrative experience and knowledge of India could be procured, and I may inform the Council that it is true that this Government, with the assistance of the Secretary of State for India, had been trying to negotiate to get such a man to succeed Mr. Bompas. I regret, however, that the result of these negotiations has been to show that the services of such a person as the Government also had in view, could not at present be secured. but I must say that the views of the Government must, after the discussion in Council to-day, naturally undergo some considerable change, although I am not prepared to agree with Sir R. N. Mookherjee or Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur as to the futility of bringing in a man as Chairman of the Improvement Trust at the present stage, with a knowledge of town-planning. I quite admit that if we are unable to get such an expert with knowledge of India, and Calcutta particularly, and as things exist in the Calcutta Improvement Trust, we should certainly not make a plunge. I, therefore, am unable to accept the resolution on behalf of Government which has been moved by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur. As the matter is urgent, and as the Rai Bahadur has been trying to fish and find out who is going to succeed Mr. Bompas as to whether it would be some wretched Land Acquisition Collector an individual on whom the Rai Bahadur seems to be particularly down upon, I am to say Your Excellency has approved the appointment of the Hon'ble Mr. French to take up the appointment when Mr. Bompas goes on leave. I am sorry I am not able to accept the resolution."

Resolutions.

Mr. Phelps; Rai R. C. Pal Bahadur.

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said :—

"My Lord, I am not connected with the Improvement Trust directly, but I am indirectly as a member of the Corporation, who has had a good deal to do with the various schemes. I do not wish to say much or advance more than one argument, but I would like to appeal to my friend the Hon'ble Mover to withdraw his motion because his constant complaint for years with regard to the Improvement Trust has been that it is a one-man show, alluding to Mr. Bompas, I suppose. Well, if he finds an administrator with a judicial mind brings about a one-man show in a Committee like that, what will be the result if they get the professional town-planner, an expert, who will thrust his opinions down everybody's throats. I appeal to my Hon'ble friend while there is time, to withdraw his motion else his position might be somewhat like that of Sinbad the Sailor. I think I remember the story, when I was a boy, of Sinbad the Sailor who got the old man of the sea on his back and could not get him off."

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I have listened to the speech of my friend the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha. His opposition to my motion is this, that large financial questions are involved and, therefore, a professional town-planner is not so necessary as one who is an expert in finance. My reply to that is this, my Lord, that in matters of finance, all questions are first of all considered by the Finance Committee and are generally settled by the Board on the materials that are placed before them, i.e., various schemes are prepared and the total cost estimated on the cost of each scheme. It is the Board that prepares the Budget according to the resources at their disposal every year, and I do not think that it can be said with any fairness that none but a member of the Indian Civil Service is capable of controlling the finance. In other places, large financial questions are involved, and I believe it is admitted that in these cases the work has been successfully carried on by men who do not belong to that Service. I allude to the Railways, the Port Trust and other places.

Then, my Lord, Sir Rajendra Nath Mookerjee has said that in the Corporation I moved the same motion, and I was not supported there. He further said perhaps that is merely his guess, that I got inspiration from some one outside, that Government was taking certain steps to get a town-planning expert, and, therefore, that was just the time to rush this resolution in the Council. My Lord this is not a fact, and I most emphatically say so. Several of my Hon'ble friends will remember that some time ago when the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas was going on leave on a previous occasion and Mr. Woodhead was appointed I suggested that some expert should be appointed. This is a question which I expressly raised in the Board, but as there was not a permanent vacancy, I did not pursue the subject further. Further, we were told that there are meetings of the Lands Committee and of the Objection Committee, and, therefore, a man with a judicial frame of mind ought to preside. My Lord, I am not aware that because a member of the Civil Service has not got the Presidentship of the Committee or Sub-Committee, therefore the Committee will not exercise a judicial control. On the contrary, all the members of the Board are men who are chosen not from any particular service, whether from Provincial or Civil Service. but because they are men with some practical knowledge of the local needs and conditions and they decide according to their judgment. It has been said that at an early stage this was necessary, but at this stage this is not necessary, because lots of inspection work was required and a man coming from England would not be able to stand the climate and strain of inspection and all that. I do not know whether this is applicable to the office establishment which Sir Rajendra Nath Mookerjee has got under him. I have yet to learn that there is an institute to temper the metal, as it were, before Europeans are sent out to actual service in this country. On the contrary, the records of Government show that capable men who have come out from England have been able to stand the strain of inspection and outdoor work without any loss of efficiency, and I do not know why it should be thought that if the town-planner is imported, he would not be able to withstand the strain of the work. Then, it is stated, the town-planner would be a faddist. Anything can be said against the town-planner. I am not advocating any particular individual. If Sir Rajendra Nath Mookerjee terms that band of excellent men who are called town-planners and who are specially trained in that work in England, faddists, and says that they have no administrative capacity, that will materially change our opinion of English capacity and capability for work.

Then, as regards the opinion of the Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur, I may say this that he is quite entitled to say that he would much prefer that the affairs of the Trust should be administered by a member of the Civil Service than by any expert trained in that line. My Lord, everyone has his own opinion on this subject, but I am sure that if an opinion is taken of the public, it will be found that members would all much rather prefer an expert with thorough knowledge to have a direct hand in the Trust than to be served through a non-technical man. Grave difficulties have arisen. It is a fact, my Lord, that expert men are not in close touch with the Board. It is said that they can consult expert opinion whenever necessary as the Corporation have done in the matter of Burrabazar, taking the opinion of Professor Geddes. Well, my Lord, the Corporation is not a town-planning body, not a body specially created for the purpose of the improvement of the town. When a scheme was prepared by the Trust, the Corporation consulted Professor Geddes, but here every day, every 24 hours of their existence I may say, they would be working 23 hours on these schemes and, therefore, I think that my resolution is not quite unworthy of the consideration of Government. Government themselves realised the necessity of having an expert at the head of affairs of the Trust and it is a pity that a suitable man could not be found at present. In these circumstances I find it useless to press my motion, but I hope that Government will kindly bear this in mind and when an opportunity offers they will consider this question and appoint an expert to the post. I am sure the official and non-official Europeans will admit that if a suitable expert is found he should be placed at the head of the Trust. It will lead to economy and greater efficiency, and at the same time it would be a great advantage to have an expert man in direct touch with the Board and the public."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 10.

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps moved the following resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that a Commission be appointed to inquire into the causes of the excessive land values and high rents in Calcutta and, if possible, to suggest remedies in connection with this matter, and to report with the least possible delay.

He said :—

" My Lord. there has been a great outcry in Calcutta for some years. past against the excessive value and rapid advance in land values and house rents, and many attempts have been made to find a remedy. The Corporation has not been remiss in trying to find a remedy, but they have not been successful. About a year ago I myself moved for a Committee of inquiry, but confined my attention to house rents only. There had been some attempts before to consider land values and house rents, but my reason for confining my attention and the attention of the Corporation on that occasion was to simplify matters, because it was recognized that for the Corporation to embark on a campaign of consideration of land values, they would get beyond their depth. I therefore confined my attention to house rents only. I cited several instances out of many which had come to my notice where landlords have arbitrarily and at a month's notice raised the rents of their houses from 25, 50, 75 and 100 per cent. and even more, alleging that the property had been reassessed, and that the price of building materials has risen. That the prices of building materials and labour had risen no one can deny, but it remains a matter for consideration to what extent the rise of building materials would justify the doubling of the rent of houses which were erected before the war disturbed current prices.

Regarding the other contention, the Corporation had re-assessed the property, I took the trouble to ascertain the truth of this statement in the first five cases which came to my notice and I found that although it was perfectly true that re-assessment had taken place no enhancement in either of these cases had occurred. I reminded the Commissioners that the Municipal Act authorizes a re-assessment in different wards once in six years and that it had been the practice among unscrupulous landlords—I do not mean landlords in general simply unscrupulous landlords—to take advantage of the fact that a new assessment had taken place and then to squeeze the tenant for more rent knowing full well that until the next re-assessment came round, the Corporation were powerless to re-assess, even, although the assessor might be quite well aware that the tenant was being charged 25 per cent. or 100 per cent. more than the assessment. In Bombay the Corporation may re-assess after 12 months according to their Act, but it is not so in Calcutta, unless there has been some reconstruction. I pointed out that in this way not only was the tenant being unmercifully squeezed but the Corporation were being deprived of their revenue in a shameless manner, and thus the general rate-payers were defrauded. My efforts met with no success. I was reminded by the cynical that I was addressing an assembly of landlords and that even if the Committee of Enquiry was appointed, we could do nothing but make an appeal to Government; but it seemed to me that it was the business of the Corporation to consider these arguments and appeal to Government for powers of re-assessment in certain cases and perhaps to establish a Court of Appeal. These were the two points which I wished particularly to draw attention to as suitable for action by the Corporation and within their limits. But the most astonishing objection was, in my opinion, that the matter of rents was entirely and very properly subject to the law of supply and demand. The Commissioners professed their inability to see the difference in principle between the purchase of a pair of boots and the renting of a house. The law of supply and demand became a fetish, a law which might sometimes act cruelly but must nevertheless be grovelled to with helpless adoration. But the same people voted for the control of the 'common necessities of life' such as coal, oil, ghee, rice and cotton piece-goods. These were the common necessities of life, and action was taken to prevent certain traders from profiteering. I ask, my Lord, is not a house, a flat, a dwelling place of some sort, a common necessity of life? My attention, my Lord, was first directed to this subject by complaints received from people whose rents had been raised from something like Rs. 200 to Rs. 300; I mean middle class people, but since it became known that I was going to move this resolution in this Council, I have had numerous touching appeals from poor people.

One of these I received this morning from numerous persons who occupy single rooms which they pay a rent of Rs. 8 per month. It was rumoured that the landlord was going to charge Rs. 12 per month, but last Sunday the landlord's agent came round and gave them formal notice that the rent in future would be Rs. 16. Some of these poor people are actually in receipt of relief from the District Charitable Society.

I am advised that in England the 'Rent Act of 1915', the 'Courts Emergency Powers Act of 1917', and the 'Increase of Rent (Amendment) Act of 1918' are all designed to protect tenants from unscrupulous landlords. In India, the Bombay Government at the request of the Corporation did something also by way of standardizing rents, and even, following the English example, afforded retrospective relief.

My own efforts on this occasion were confined to the matter of abnormally high rents and the epidemic of unreasonableness developed by a few landlords. I am sorry to say that this epidemic has since spread very rapidly and become very virulent. Others have, however, taken a wider view and criticisms have been levelled at Government for keeping the city so long in suspense with the delay in starting the Grand Trunk Canal Scheme and for the retention of splendid building sites even now lying vacant; also at the Calcutta Improvement Trust for its so-called 'grasping policy' and defective method of rehousing the people displaced by its improvements. The Corporation has been blamed for its zeal in making new assessments, and speculators for the spirit of unholy speculation in land and house property. It is even hinted that His Majesty's Mint stands in the way of improvement as regards utilization of building sites and the Calcutta Port Trust is criticized for a misuse of the Strand Bank lands.

All these criticitms point to the urgent necessity for a commission of enquiry in order that the work of public bodies may be co-ordinated. The Port Facilities Committees did good work, but its mandate was circumscribed and new circumstances have since arisen. It is not for me to suggest remedies at this stage but acknowledging my defeat in the Corporation it was my intention to pursue the subject by moving amendments to the new Municipal Bill in this Council had it not been withdrawn. As an alternative I feel now constrained to move for a Commission of Enquiry in the interests of the general public. The matter is so serious that it seems to me that independent or separate action by the Improvement Trust, the Corporation and the Government is likely to end in disappointment.

I fully recognize that rents and land values must of necessity be high in a prosperous city. Any mismanagement of either the Port Trust or the Corporation or the Improvement Trust which resulted in an unhealthy and disorganized city would soon bring down land values and house rents with a run, but I submit that if the work of these public bodies were co-ordinated, fuller and more economical use might be made of the land in Calcutta and its environs and do away with some-of the congestion and over-lapping of energy and perhaps diminish wild speculation. I have been very moderate in my statements and I have not only not exaggerated but I know that everything that I have said is true. I hope that this moderate request of mine will commend itself to Your Lordship's Government."

The Hon'ble Rai Debender Chunder Ghose Bahadur said :—

"My Lord, I join with the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps in the prayer that a commission be appointed to inquire into the condition of house rents in Calcutta, and if possible, to suggest remedies in connection with this matter. I find, Sir, that of late there has been a large increase in the value of land and house property and consequently in these days of high prices people feel this very acutely, and if we may judge of the state of affairs, amongst the poorer classes of the Anglo-Indian community, as reflected in the Calcutta newspapers, there is a sincere demand for an inquiry of the sort which the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps has asked for. If it be a fact, and we are assured by the Hon'ble Mover that it is, that in London there have been legislative measures since 1915 to regulate the relations of landlord and tenant in the matter of rent, and if Bombay and Rangoon have taken some steps in that direction, then I think it would be a proper policy to make an inquiry as suggested by the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps. True, it goes in the direction of asking for a legislative measure which will meddle with the contractual relations of landlords with their tenants. In this country, before the introduction of British rule, rents used to be regulated by custom, and contract only found a place after the introduction of Western ideas in this land. So that, if you find that things are really very hard and landlords are extortionate you should certainly make an effort to improve the relations now existing between a certain class of landlords and a certain class of tenants. With these words I beg to support the resolution."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem said :—

"My Lord, in the Council to-day there has been a good deal of difference of opinion on the resolutions that have been moved this morning, but I hope and trust that with reference to this resolution there will be a unanimity of opinion on this side of the House. The rise in rents of houses in Calcutta is very acutely felt by all sections of the community. If our European fellow citizens find it a matter of complaint and find difficulties in paying these high rents, how much more must the members of my community—I mean the Indian middle class community—be feeling it. The Europeans can live two or three families in one house, but Indian families have to live separately and therefore they find it more difficult to secure houses in Calcutta, and as a consequence a large number of middle class people have either to give up their vocation or employment or have to pay a very high rent which leave them very little margin from their income for other necessaries of life

Resolutions.

Babu S. N. Ray.

The situation has indeed become very grave. It may be said that the question is one of supply and demand So is the question of labour. But the state has interfered in disputes between capital and labour. We have also recently urged on Government to prevent the rise in the price of the necessaries of life If that can be prevented, why not the rise in the rents of houses. Accommodation is as much a necessity as rice and cloth. The resolution will, I trust, receive the support of the non-official members of the Council and I hope will also receive sympathetic consideation at the hands of Your Excellency's Government."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray said:—

"My Lord, I have much pleasure to support this resolution. The landlords of Calcutta have been maligned in season and out of season and that probably without any rhyme or reason for a long time past. This Committee, if appointed, will give an opportunity to the landlords to show that they are not as bad a lot as they are represented to be, and that most of them even with Government loans yielding about 6 per cent., would be content with 5 per cent. dividend and that they seldom get more than 6 per cent.

I do not want to anticipate the conclusions of the proposed committee. But I think the operations of the Calcutta Improvement Trust are largely responsible for displacing a large number of residents from the Indian quarter of the town. These people do not know where to go and they are obliged to remain crammed within the city and pay high rent. With reference to the European quarter of the town I think rent has increased because there has been a large influx of Europeans in the town of late and that there is not proper and suitable accommodation for them all. To this must be added a large number of Japanese who have come to Calcutta within the last 3 or 4 years and have occupied a large number of houses in Loudon Street and Ballygunge at an exorbitant rent. We must also take note of the ever-increasing development of Calcutta as a commercial and industrial centre and that Calcutta proper has not great scope for expansion. Again, people who come from the mufassal to earn a living gradually make Calcutta their permanent place of residence, because there are not such facilities to come from the mufassal to Calcutta, such as cheap trams or railways as they have in Bombay. There is also another fact to be taken into consideration. Calcutta, in spite of its epidemic diseases and its congestion, is a sanitarium and mufassal people do not like to go back to their native home to become the victims of malaria there. In fact those who become accustomed to live in Calcutta are unwilling to remain outside Calcutta.

I should mention another important fact in this connection. It is well known within the last 5 years the prices of building materials have gone up 50 per cent. Who is to pay for this? It is those for whom houses will be built or houses have been built. The occupiers of houses are therefore obliged to pay 50 per cent. more rent over the rent of houses in normal times. It is also a well known fact that the price of land has gone up very high. People have now more money than they had before. Competition for purchasing lands has been very great, and people have been purchasing lands specially from the Improvement Trust at extraordinarily high prices. And these purchasers want proper return for the money they lay out. The result is that eventually the actual occupiers of houses have to pay in the shape of high rent. For these reasons, as much in the interest of the much maligned landlords as in the interest of the tenants, I welcome this resolution."

Resolutions.

Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.

The Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, in replying to the Hon'ble Mr. Phelps' I desire to invite the attention of the Council to certain factors in the housing problem in Calcutta to which he has not, I think, given sufficient prominence and which has to a certain extent been brought out by subsequent speakers. No one will question the great difficulties of the present situation in Calcutta. We all know that rents have risen to an unprecedented height and, though I myself belong to the property-owning class, to the unreasonable demands of some of whom these excessive rents are attributed, I can assure the Hon'ble Mover that I sympathize with him in his concern for the tenants. The causes, however, which have produced the present scarcity of house accommodation and consequently what he describes as an excessive enhancement of rent, are deep-seated and to some extent world-wide, and I am not sure that the commission which he desires can be expected to provide for any immediate remedy for the evil. I do not think the Hon'ble Member in his interesting speech attached sufficient importance to the economic factors which underlie the whole problem. Certain of these factors undoubtedly lie in their very origin, but mainly as I have suggested, they are general and universal in their nature. I need make no more than a passing reference to the remarks the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray has made to the enormous rise in the cost of building material and labour. The Hon'ble Mover is well aware that the present price of building material is higher than what it was 3 or 4 years ago ; it is even prohibitive, and that even now the landlord who is faced with a big bill for repairs finds it difficult to contemplate it with philosophic resignation. But it is not only material and labour which cost more but we are in the midst of the biggest land boom Calcutta has ever seen and prices are being raised every day which before the war would have seemed impossibly extravagant. I need not point out to this Council that to some class in India and not less in Bengal war has brought unexampled prosperity. The Marwaris who used to prefer more fluid investments have invaded the land market and every week one hears of big transactions in house property. I could cite instances, but I shall refrain from doing so. The future may show that these prices were excessive. Some reaction, therefore, there must be to this extravagant speculation in land, but even if the boom is followed by a depression it is obvious that the new owners of house properties must attempt to obtain some fair interest on their outlay and the rise in rents can be explained by economic factors which I am afraid no commission can control. There are other factors to which I may make some brief reference. In the northern part of Calcutta the operations of the Improvement Trust have to some extent aggravated the housing problem. No sufficient provision has been made as yet for rehousing Bhadrologs who have been dispossessed. The remedy lies in the speedy extension of the operations of the Trust to the suburban areas. I am told that to some extent the Trust have had to wait for the provision of the main system of drainage for certain suburban areas which is a function of the Corporation. However that may be, Government is convinced that the immediate need is for the Trust to develop the insanitary suburban areas and provide accommodation in advance for those whom the street schemes may affect. In the southern part of Calcutta—the European quarter—I may remind the Hon'ble Member that building operations have been checked during the war while the new industrial movement in India is responsible for some growth in the European population. I have referred to this side of the problem because, I think, it has not received sufficient attention from the Hon'ble Member in his speech. I do not think he has established the existence of profiteering, but in cases such as this, it is, I conceive, where profiteering becomes a general and flagrant abuse, that State control in the economic sphere can be most easily justified. Mr. Phelps has cited English legislation

Resolution.

as a precedent, but in doing so he has omitted to mention that it was designed to protect the working classes and the lower middle classes. It applies to London only and to houses rented at £35 before the war and in Scotland to houses rented at £30. I understand that when the legislation was before the House of Commons Mr. Bonar Law in meeting the opposition to this measure lay special stress on the limited operations of the Act, but as the Hon'ble Member desires also to protect what may be termed the well-to-do class, the Bombay Act has, of course, some value as a precedent. I have not yet received any detailed information as to its operation and I cannot say how far the conditions in Bombay are parallel with those in Calcutta, but I have just had a telegram from the Bombay Government which states that their Rent Restrictions Act has worked well for small premises and has appreciably restricted though not stopped the rise in rent of larger premises. If control has been of value in Bombay I admit that there is a good case for investigation into the conditions in Calcutta with a view to determine whether control is likely to help matters and to remove the evils which we all deplore. In the remarks I have made I have referred to certain factors which lead me to doubt whether a commission, however strong, can offer a solution to the admitted evil on which the Hon'ble Mover has dilated, but at the same time Government recognize that a carefully selected Commission may be expected to throw light on the whole economic question. Their investigation will show if profiteering is rife and the Commissioners may be able to suggest remedies which Government can adopt. I may therefore without any further delay inform the Council that the Government have decided to accept the Hon'ble Member's resolution.

The Hon'ble Mr. Phelps said:—

"I thank the Hon'ble Member in charge for his sympathetic speech, but I may also emphatically assure him that I have not overlooked the fact that he has brought to my notice. I studied the subject very carefully and I am quite aware of the difficulties he has raised, though I was afraid that the Hon'ble Member was going to say that the difficulties might be explained away. I am very glad he did not do so because I think it is extremely important to co-ordinate the work of the different authorities. The Corporation is not in full accord with the Improvement Trust, who in their turn are not in full accord with the Port Trust and sometimes with Government. But I think a strong committee which will take expert evidence on this subject would be able to formulate some general proposal which would eventually lead to a better state of things. I cannot sit down without uttering a warning. There was a few years ago a big land boom in Australia and I learnt from my Hon'ble friend Mr. Lang that it was followed by a most distressing slump. And I beg to warn all those whom it may concern, specially the landlords of Calcutta, that there will be a slump and that there is no doubt about it, and that within a very few years."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Council was then then adjourned sine die.

(2) On the date fixed for the hearing of the petition or on any subsequent date to which the hearing may be adjourned, the District Judge shall, after hearing the petitioner, and the trustee, if he appears, and any other person who has appeared in consequence of the notice or who he considers ought to be heard, and after making such further inquiries as he thinks fit, pass such orders on the petition as he may deem expedient in the circumstances of the case :

(3) On any date fixed under sub-section (2) or on any subsequent date to which the hearing may be adjourned, the District Judge, before giving any opinion, advice or direction, shall afford a reasonable opportunity of being heard to all persons appearing in connection with the petition.

(4) A trustee stating in good faith the facts of any matter relating to the trust in a petition under sub-section (1), and acting upon the opinion, advice or direction of the District Judge given thereon, shall be deemed, as far as his own responsibility is concerned, to have discharged his duty as such trustee in the matter in respect of which the petition was made.

7. The costs, charges and expenses of and incidental to any petition, and all proceedings in connection therewith, under the foregoing provisions of this Act shall be in the discretion of the District Judge, who may direct the whole or any part of any such costs, charges and expenses to be met from the property or income of the trust in respect of which the petition is made, or to be borne and paid in such manner and by such persons as he thinks fit :

Provided that no such order shall be made against any person (other than the petitioner) who has not received notice of the petition and had a reasonable opportunity of being heard thereon.

XX of 1863. V of 1908.

(2) When any money has been deposited in accordance with an order made under sub-section (1), the Court may make over to the plaintiff the whole or any part of such sum for the conduct of the suit. Barring of appeals.

11. No appeal shall lie from any order passed or against any opinion, advice or direction given, under this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Religious Endowments Act, 1863 (XX of 1863), was the result of the decision of the Government to divest its officers of all direct superintendence and control of religious and charitable endowments in India, transferring their functions to managers or managing committees, and merely making provision for intervention by the civil Courts on application made by any person interested in a particular institution. This policy, however, did not long remain unchallenged, and since 1866 there have been constant complaints, especially in the Madras Presidency, as to the inefficacy of the Act to prevent the squandering or misappropriation of the funds of such endowments, and suggestions for its amendment have from time to time been made to the Government of India. Mr. Ananda Charlu in 1897, Mr. Srinivasa Rao in 1903 and Dr. (now Sir) Rash Behari Ghose in 1908, for example, promoted amending Bills, but none of them became law. More recently in 1911 a private Bill was introduced in the Bombay Legislative Council by the Hon'ble Sir Ibrahim Rahimtoola, to provide for the registration of all charitable trusts exceeding a certain value and for the annual audit of the accounts of such trusts by auditors approved by Government. Endowments of a purely religious nature were not included, but the contents of the Bill made it clear that the ultimate object was to press for legislation for religious as well as secular trusts. About the same time a private Bill was promoted by two non-official members of the Madras Legislative Council to provide for the regular publication of the accounts of all religious endowments above a certain value and for their audit by an officer to be appointed by the District Judge. These proposals led the Government of India to reconsider the policy in force since 1863. In March 1914, the whole subject was discussed at a mixed conference of official and non-official gentlemen representing the Hindu, Muhammadan, Sikh and Buddhist communities. The present Bill, which is the outcome of the deliberations of that conference, has as its object the simplification and cheapening of the legal processes by which persons interested can obtain information regarding the working of both religious and charitable trusts, and the exercise of a more efficient control over the action of trustees. The Bill provides that any person interested in a trust may apply by petition to the District Judge for an order directing the trustee to furnish him with information as to the nature and objects of the trust and of the value, condition, management and application of the subject-matter of the trust, and of the income belonging thereto, or as to any of these matters, and also directing that the accounts of the trust shall be examined and audited. Failure to comply with such an order of the Court would be deemed a breach of trust. In order, however, that such applications should not lead to protracted and contentious litigation, the Court is debarred from trying any question of title between the petitioner and any person claiming title to the trust, or any question as to the existence or extent of any trust. Under the Bill it will be left to those interested to move in the matter: the initiative will not rest with Government, nor will anything be done where no one is sufficiently interested to take action. When the Court is moved the proceedings will be simple and expeditious; they will be held in the presence of all parties, and the order passed will be a judicial order of the Court. Further, in order to meet the objection that recourse to section 14 of the Act of 1863 or section 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, involves expensive litigation, the Court is authorised, on the application of the plaintiff and after the defendant is heard, to direct the defendant either to furnish security for the expenditure incurred or likely to be incurred in bringing and maintaining the suit, or to deposit in Court an amount sufficient to meet such expenditure.

It will be observed that the draft Bill only embodies general principles. It is intended that such details as the institution of some public record of the facts regarding these trusts, the publication of audited accounts, and the relaxation of some of the conditions governing committees constituted under the Act of 1863, e.g., the tenure of the membership of such committees, should be left to Provincial Legislatures.

REPORT ON FAMINE IN THE DISTRICT OF BANKURA FOR THE WEEK ENDING 13TH SEPTEMBER 1919.

THE rainfall during the week was general and sufficient. The agricultural prospects are favourable. Seventy-seven relief works were open during the week. The number of persons relieved on works was 11,355. The number of persons in receipt of gratuitous relief was 13,870, viz., 8,722 on cash doles in 122 unions, 3,683 on paddy-husking advances, 885 weavers and 580 better class poor. The grand total of persons relieved was 25,225. The increase in the number of persons on relief works was due to the completion of field operations, and the decrease in the numbers in receipt of cash doles was due to improvement in the situation. The number of persons relieved on private works was 680. The charitable societies also relieved 805 persons by weekly doles and 900 persons by daily doles and cooked food. During the week three cases of theft of food-grain were reported. Public health is generally good. The outbreak of malaria and cholera is reported from certain localities. The relief measures are adequate The price of common rice varies from 4⅛ to 5¼ seers in the rupee. Burma rice is being sold.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Final Forecast of the Jute Crop of Bengal for 1919.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1917-18 the area under jute to which this forecast relates represents 87·8 per cent. of the total area under jute in British India.)

Season.—As stated in the preliminary forecast, the weather was, on account of drought in March, unfavourable for the sowing of the low land crop, in late February and early March. Only about 30 per cent. of the low land crop was sown at the normal time, and even this was so severely affected by the drought, that premature flowering took place on a wide scale In East and North Bengal a very large area was sown, in low lands as well as high lands, in the favourable weather in the latter part of April; and the late sown low land crop, in particular, was benefited, by the comparatively scanty rainfall and the slow rise of the rivers in East Bengal in May In West Bengal a good deal of jute was sown on somewhat heavy rain at the beginning of May; but insufficient rain afterwards hindered further sowings until the end of May and, in some places, till the beginning of June. Subsequently, with the exception of parts of West Bengal, where the rainfall has been rather too heavy, the season has been generally excellent for the jute crop, which made great progress in consequence. There has been a certain amount of damage by insects; but nothing serious anywhere

Condition of the crop.—In the early part of the season, the jute crop was curiously uneven in appearance; but latterly the unusually favourable weather has, as already remarked, produced about an average crop out of what might easily, under other circumstances, have been a failure. These same conditions are, now however, adversely influencing the harvesting of the crop. A larger proportion than usual is, on account of low rivers and insufficient rain, still standing in some tracts, and it may even prove difficult to extract the fibre from a part of this.

Acreage.—The area under jute is returned at 2,498,145 acres, an increase of 249,119 acres on last year's final figures The increase is ascribed chiefly to the high prices realized for last year's crop

Outturn.—As in previous years the percentage figures are calculated on the basis of Divisional normals, which remain as follows :—Dacca and Chittagong 3·7 each, Rajshahi 3·5, Presidency and Burdwan 3·2 bales per acre

The total outturn of the Bengal crop is returned at 7,637,630 bales of 400 lbs. against 6,392,137* bales in last year's forecast, an increase of 1,245,493 bales

Final Forecast of the Jute Crop of Bengal, 1919.

24-Parganas ..	44,425	63,809	73	83	103,777	167,512	Middle of August. Normal.	The increase in area is due to expectation of a good jute market. The increase in the percentage as well as the total outturn is due to a very good crop in the Basirhat subdivision, the largest jute-growing area of the district.
Nadia ...	50,273	67,106	61	71	98,132	154,834	End of July. Normal	Increase of area as compared with last year's estimate is due to high price of jute obtained last year.
Murshidabad ...	12,189	20,826	57	94	22,233	62,468	Middle of August. Normal.	The weather conditions have been fairly favourable. The increase in area as compared with last year's estimate is due to expectation of a good jute market.
Jessore ...	52,034	84,637	73	88	121,551	239,644	August. Normal ...	The increase in the estimated area as compared with the preliminary forecast is due to Bungaon figures having been revised after the submission of the preliminary forecast.
Khulna ...	22,805	21,668	96	90	70,057	62,659	August. Normal.	Decrease in area is due to unfavourable weather at sowing time.
Burdwan ...	5,605	6,630	80·6	89	14,456	18,904	End of August. Normal.	Favourable weather conditions during the sowing time and anticipated good market account for the increase in area this year. The outturn falls below the normal on account of excessive rainfall from the end of July to end of August and insect pest in the Kalna subdivision.
Midnapore ...	10,555	11,948	80·93	81·25	27,335	31,074	End of August. Normal.	Favourable weather conditions at sowing time account for the increased area. Subsequent heavy rains badly affected the crop and lowered the outturn.
Hooghly ...	27,285	30,862	87·8	93·73	76,520	92,508	Last week of August. Normal.	The favourable weather conditions and the anticipated high price of jute account for the increase of area.
Howrah ...	7,266	9,880	84·99	86·81	19,761	27 384	Last week of August. Normal.	Slight decrease in area as compared with the area shown in the preliminary forecast is due to failure of some late sown crops. Favourable weather at sowing time accounts for the increase in area as compared with last year. Subsequent drought followed by heavy rains adversely affected the crop and lowered the outturn.
Rajshahi ...	74,300	73,597	80	98	208,040	227,033	Middle of July. Normal.
Dinajpur ...	60,000	60,978	85·7	91·7	179,070	195,925	Beginning of August. Normal.	Increase in area is due to good market and favourable weather during sowing time. Inadequate rainfall after sowing caused the outturn to fall below the normal.
Jalpaiguri ...	45,890	49,306	80	101	128,492	174,296	Middle of August. Normal.	The crop is very good this year.
Darjeeling ...	2,000	2,215	75	103	5,250	8,000	First week of August. Normal.	The weather condition has been on the whole favourable. The crop is better than last year.
Rangpur ...	200,175	207,664	73	103	546,472	754,076	August. Normal ...	Up to the end of July the season was generally favourable. The rainfall in August was seriously below the normal and sowing was retarded for want of water. There has been a certain amount of rain in September which has improved the situation.

Bogra ...	66,438	69,945	75	80	174,400	195,846	Middle of July. Normal	The weather was unfavourable at sowing time and for some time after, which affected the growth of the crop. The weather, however, subsequently became favourable.
Pabna ...	105,102	103,010	81·4	88	299,435	317,270	Middle of July. Normal	Some damage was done by insects in the early stages, but weather being favourable a better crop than last year is expected.
Malda ...	29 000	26,600	80	86	81,200	61,180	Middle of August. Late.	The area has been increased by 200 acres over the preliminary forecast after checking. The decrease, as compared with last year, is due to unfavourable weather at sowing time.
Dacca ...	292,452	283,517	79·7	85	862,734	879,677	End of June. Early	The weather was unfavourable at the beginning, but subsequently it became favourable and helped the growth of the crop.
Mymensingh ...	577,922	628,944	81	87	1,733,766	2,021,450	End of July. Normal	The crop was good, but the cultivators have been experiencing much difficulty in steeping jute for want of sufficient water.
Faridpur ...	218,100	258,400	81	84	656,620	801,040	End of July. A little late.	The outturn falling below the normal is due to late sowing and subsequent drought.
Bakarganj ...	50,227	56,633	88	77	164,320	161,476	July. Early	The reasons for the fall in outturn are :— (1) Late sowing for want of timely rainfall. (2) A long spell of dry weather in May retarding growth of the crop. (3) Early harvesting of the crop due to a good market.
Chittagong ...	200	200	81	81	600	600	First week of September.
Tipperа ...	237,521	266,641	77·8	80	656,208	782,126	Normal at Chandpur, late in Sadar and Brahmanbaria.	The increase in area is attributed to high price of jute prevailing last year. The weather was unfavourable at the time of sowing. Lack of rainfall at the outset also impeded the growth of the crop. The showers of June, however, improved its condition. The weather since then has been satisfactory.
Noakhali ...	37,500	51,500	70	65	97,500	130,800	Beginning of July. Early.	The increase in area sown is based upon enquiries made since the submission of the preliminary forecast. There was deficient rainfall in April and May and excessive rainfall in June and July. Much immature jute was cut on account of high prices obtained by ryots in July and August. This also caused a falling off in the outturn.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BIHAR AND ORISSA.

Final Forecast of the Jute Crop of Bihar and Orissa, 1919.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1918-19, the area under jute to which the Bihar and Orissa forecast relates, represents about 5·1 per cent. of the total area under jute in British India.)

Acreage.—The final district returns of the seven jute-growing districts of the province show an area under jute of 203,430 acres or in round numbers 203,400 acres, as compared with 202,800 acres reported in the preliminary forecast, 1919, and 149,300 acres, the revised figure for last year. The increase in area is due to better prices obtained last year as also to prospect of better prices this year.

Weather conditions.—In March and April the rainfall was below the normal in all jute districts except Cuttack and Balasore, where it was above the normal in the latter month. In May the rainfall was below the normal everywhere except Balasore, where it was above the normal. In June the rainfall was above the normal in all jute districts except Champaran and Muzaffarpur, where it was slightly below the normal. In July, the rainfall was above the normal in Muzaffarpur, Bhagalpur, Purnea and the Santal Parganas and below the normal in the remaining three districts. In August it was above the normal in the Santal-Parganas, Cuttack and Balasore, but below the normal in Purnea, Bhagalpur and especially in Champaran and Muzaffarpur. Difficulty is experienced in parts of Purnea for steeping the crop for want of sufficient rainfall. Damage has been done by recent floods in Cuttack.

Outturn.—In the important districts of Purnea and Cuttack the outturn of the crop has been reported at 83 and 59 per cent. of the normal, respectively. Champaran, Muzaffarpur and Balasore report an yield of 95, 92 and 90 per cent., respectively The Santal Parganas anticipates a normal crop, while Bhagalpur reports 77 per cent. only.

On the basis of the area and percentage outturn reported by the District Officers and taking three bales as the normal outturn per acre, the total gross outturn of the crop for the province this year comes to 495,859 bales or in round numbers 495,900 bales against 335.300 bales. the revised figure for last year

The average import of raw jute into this province from Nepal during the last three years was equivalent to 58,211 bales. This figure added to the figure for the province arrived at gives a total for Bihar and Orissa of 554,070 bales or in round numbers 554,100 bales.

The present condition of the crop is fair. This year's outturn is expected to be a little less than that of last year for want of sufficient rains. The date of harvesting was normal.

This figure included 107 acres under "Kudrum," which has now been deducted. The figure, 1,150 acres, shown in column 7, represents area under jute proper.
	Purnea ...	3,196,153	1,694,400	219,000	122,000	175,000	75	83	274,500	435,750	July. Normal ...	Deficient rain in May caused the crop on some lands to dry up. During June and July the rainfall was good, but very deficient in August. Hence though the crop is good difficulty is experienced in some areas over obtaining sufficient water for "retting," which may affect the total outturn. Prospect of the crop is good at present. Increase in area is due to small stock remaining in the district and prospect of good prices.
	Santal Parganas	3,466,100	1,698,200	3,000	1,300	1,700	100	100	3,900	5,100	.....

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, ASSAM.

Final Forecast of the Jute Crop of Assam, 1919.

(Note.—On the average of the five years ending 1917, the area under jute in Assam represents some 3·3 per cent. of the total area under jute in British India.)

1. Season.—The weather was not favourable for sowing, but the rain in June favoured growth as indicated in the preliminary forecast; since its issue the rain of July, though a little short, continued the good prospects of June, but there was a considerable deficiency in August, which adversely affected retting operations rather than outturn.

2. Area.—As in previous years the figures for the permanently settled areas of Sylhet and Goalpara have been compiled by the village panchayats and for other districts by the Land Records staff.

The area under jute as reported by the Deputy Commissioners is 120,000 acres against the revised figure of 102,100 acres of last year and 115,300 acres shown in the preliminary forecast of this year The increase is mainly due to the better price obtained for the crop in last year; in Sylhet the want of early spring rain at the time for sowing broadcast rice was also responsible for the increase, as the rain in April was not too late for sowing jute; in the Brahmaputra Valley further immigration from Mymensingh helped to increase the area sown. Five districts have revised the areas reported in the preliminary forecast.

3. Outturn.—The outturn of jute per acre according to the Deputy Commissioners' estimates comes to 72 per cent. of the normal against 68 (revised) of the preceding year. Taking 3·3 bales (of 400 lbs.) as the normal yield per acre for the province, the total outturn comes to 294,500 bales against 228,200 bales (revised) of last year or an increase of 27 per cent.; but retting has been retarded by shortage of water.

Cachar ...	300	100	400	57	90	254	1,110	August. Normal ...	The increase in area is due to the high price of jute last year and that in outturn to more favourable weather.
Sylhet ...	16,000	13,600	26,100	56	68	95,157	58,412	July. Normal ...	The increase in area is due partly to better price and partly to inability to broadcast winter rice on account of drought in the early spring. The crops suffered to some extent from drought at the beginning.
Goalpara ...	42,400	50,300	55,200	53	61	89,015	110,548	1st July. Early ...	The increase in area is due to the high price in last year. Weather at the beginning was unfavourably dry. The crop suffered to some extent in Goalpara subdivision from insect pests. On the whole, the outturn is expected to be better than last year.
Kamrup ...	8,100	13,100	12,900	85	93	38,731	40,441	25th July. Early ...	The small decrease in area is due to alteration in the district boundary. The weather has been dry, but the prospects of the crop are fair. Some damage has been done by insects. The outturn is expected to be better than last year.
Darrang ...	7,000	8,300	9,000	90	80	24,722	33,881	1st August. Early ...	The increase in area as compared with last year is due partly to immigration of jute cultivators and partly to high prices. The weather was not favourable owing to shortage of rain.
Nowgong ...	5,700	10,900	11,700	100	90	35,934	34,749	1st July. Early ...	The increase in area is due to the influx of Mymensingh settlers and good prices in last year. The outturn is below normal owing to want of rain. Some damage is reported to have been done by insects.
Sibsagar ...	300	400	400	80	95	1,106	1,373	2nd week of August. Normal.	The weather was not favourable at the beginning of the season, but improved subsequently.
Lakhimpur ...	200	200	100	92	95	465	360	15th September. Normal.	The decrease in area is due to unfavourable weather at sowing time: it improved afterwards and the outturn is expected to be better than last year.
Garo Hills ...	4,100	4,600	4,200	98	100	14,825	13,860	1st August. Normal	The decrease in area is due partly to the fact that some jute remained unsold last year. The weather has been favourable on the whole.
